PANIC AT SEA.

Terrible Scene on Board a British Steamer A Courageons American Engineer.

Kingston, Jamaica, December.—A sad accident has happened to the British steamer Twinkling Star, late American steamer Estrella, which left this port on the 20th ultimo for Cape Haiti, with a valuable cargo on board. At about 9 o'clock on Saturday, the board. At about 9 o'clock on Saturday, the 27th ultimo, when about fifty miles from St. Niebolas Mole, and about 9 o'clock at night, board. At about 9 o'clock on Saturday, the 27th ultimo, when about fifty miles from St. Nicholas Mole, and about 19 o'clock at night, the engineers discovered that the iron plates about midships and in front of the paddle wheels had been strained from the heavy seas about midships and in front the hold of the vessel, through which she was passing, and that large volumes of water were coming into the hold of the vessel, through cracks on either side, below the water mark. Some of the passengers on board were advised of this, and gradually the passengers and crew were overtaken by a panic, when there was a rush to the hife-boat, which was speedily lowered, and into it escaped the United States Coursel' of this port, Mr. Aaron Gregg, and so disentangled that the passenger and was so badly managed, in the effect of every one to save himself, that the bow of the boat was elevated out of the water, while the stern was anomerged in the foam while left the paddle-wheels, but they managed at last to cut the rope, and so disentangled them from the steamer. No sounce had the life-boat parted from the ship han a panic overtook the firemen and others who wereleft on board, and the scene when the firemen forsook the furnaces, the olimen the engines, the stewards the kitchens, and the captain took leave of his senses, was perfectly hellish. The panic stricken crew seeing that the life-boat had left them believed that the ship was about ready to part and ready to founder, and just at this critical moment Mr. Thomas Lewis, the second engineer, and the only American citizen on board, seeing every post deserted and the life-boat flying in the jaws of death, rushed upon the deck, and with a voice of thunder and thilling earnestness, addressed himself to them in the same the same of the formal and ready to founder, and the captain took leave of his wents.
