Messrs. Fields, Osgood & Co., of Boston, announce for January 9 a new book by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, wherein the author, as we learn from the extract below, taken from the introductory chapter, proposes to answer the criticisms upon her Allantic Byron story, and present certain facts in support of her position not hitherte made pub-hc. Mrs. Stowe says: The interval since my publication of "The True Story of Lady Byron's Life" has been one of stormy discussion and of much invec-tive. I have not thought it necessary to disturb my spirit and confuse my sense of right by even an attempt at reading the many abusive articles that both here and in England have followed that disclosure. Friends have under-taken the task for me giving me form the aken the task for me, giving me from time to time the substance of anything really worthy of attention which came to view in he tumult. Now, when all would seem to have spoken who can speak, and, it is to be hoped, have said the utmost they can say, there seems a propriety in listening calmly, if that be possible, to what I have to say in reply. And, first, why have I made this disclosure To this I answer briefly, because I considered it my duty to make it. I made it in defence of a beloved, revered friend, whose memory stood forth in the eyes of the civilized world charged with most re-pulsive crimes, of which I certainly knew her nocent. I claim, and shall prove, that Lady Byron's reputation has been the victum of a concerted ttack, begun by her husband during her lifetime, and coming to its climax over her grave. I claim, and shall prove, that it was not I who stirred up this controversy in this year 1869. I shall show who did do it, and who is respon-sible for bringing on me that hard duty of making these disclosures, which it appears to me ought to have been made by others. claim that these facts were given to me un-
