EVENING BULLETIN. Thursday, January 13, 1870. THE STATE TREASURERSHIP.

Testerday the two houses of the Pennsylvania Legislature met in joint convention for the convention f the purpose of electing a State Treasurer. Robert W. Mackey, the present incumbent, bridge, at or near Vine street, the West Jersey, was the Republican caucus nominee; D. O. | Camden and Amboy and Camden and Atlantic

The publican Representatives voted for General labors of the venerable Prison Society of Lowry, of the Eric district. The Representa tives were Messrs. Ames, of Crawford; Craig, Leslie, McCracken and Wheeler, of the Mercer, Lawrence and Butler district; Reinoehl, Godschalk, Herr and Wiley, of Lancaster; Bowman and McCreary, of Erie; Coray, of Luzerne, and Buffington, of Washington. While we regret exceedingly that want of harmony among the Republican members is shown thus early in the session, it is a great satisfaction to know that the Treasurer-elect, General Irwin, is a staunch Republican, an mended by Mr. Dickinson as models of conveable and honest man, and a well tried and nience, safety, comfort and architectural beauty. capable officer; for he was Commissary Gene-The new prisons at Allentown, Hollidaysburg, ral of the State under Governor Curtin all Ebensburg Mauch Chunk, Easton, Coudersthrough the war, and was State Treasurer port and Clearfield are all referred This is not the first time, by long odds, when caucus nominations have been defeated in the United States Senators affords instances of the architects employed. The report reflects Legislature. At of Eric county, and it is a matter of congratuterning all the influences which, it is alleged, have been brought to bear in favor of both the leading candidates; for it is declared that railroad corporations and banks have taken a very active part in the late contest. If there has been any bargaining by which the Metropolitan Police bill and other important Republican measures are to be sacrificed, the people have a right to know it, and the Legislature ought to be able to find it out. One good result, we hope, may come out of the dissatisfaction among Republicans at the defeat of Mr. Mackey. It may lead to a change in the Constitution making the State Treasurer elective by the people for a term of years. Every year there is a scandalous wrangle over the Treasurership in the Legislature, although the salary is only seventeen hundred dollars a year. Governor Geary, in his late message, presented this business in its true light, and the angry contest just terminated is a new illustration to sustain his arguments. A change in the constitution requires

During the last year, the New York company has established a connection with the Germantown and Norristown road, at the intersection of the Connecting Road with the latter road, a short distance beyond the Broad street crossing. A commodious station-house has been erected, and the convenience afforded by this new connection has already required the code, and the dirty work that he does now, he are office-holder's or office seeker's "man," is to be his dog, his slave, his man-of-all-dirty-work. We are not surprised at Mr. Dickinson's conclusion that "the projectors never intended to regard the laws of the State made for the government of our jails, and that there had been a studied attempt so to construct the cells that the laws should not be enforced in them." The Legislature should give its special attention to this case.
