Omnibus Filled with Passengers [From the Kansas City (Mo.) Journal, Jan, 19.] esterday morning, as an omnibus was being driven from the depot of the Missouri Valley Railroad, and had commenced crossing the bridge, the horses attached to the vehicle became frightened at a train which was moving above them on the bridge, and attempted to dash off. In this, however, they were frustrated by the driver, who grasped the reins tightly, when the affrighted animals began backing, and did not cease until the 'bus was backed over the precipice and landed on the earth below. The 'bus was full of passengers, who of course were much full of passengers, who of course were much brnised and shaken, and yet, strange to say, they all escaped without very serious injuries. The driver suffered severe contusions, he having fallen from the top of the 'bus to the ing fallen from the top of the 'bus to the ground, a distance over twenty feet. The horses escaped injury, having broken loose from the bridge to the ground. The distance from the bridge to the ground. nearly twelve feet.

THE COURTS.

SUPREME COURT—Chief Justice Thompson and Justices Read, Sharswood and Williams.
—The following judgments were entered this morning:

Angier vs. Augier. Error to the Common Pleas. In the Court below this was a libel for divorce prosecuted by a husband against the wife, alleging desertion. The defence set up that the husband himself so arranged his domestic affairs as to compel his wife to separate from her husband, inasmuch as he provided no suitable place for her residence. The Court below was asked in provided the place for her residence. The Court below was asked in provided the place for her residence.
