Theadore Parker in the Boston Music Hall. BY GEORGE WM. CURTIS

I From Harner's Magazine .1

The most impressive hall in the country is still the Boston Music Half, where great height and two galleries, one above the other, with the organ and the imposing statue of Beetho-ven, give a fine feeling of dignity. But the usic Hall lacks one of the chief characteristics of a noble room for the purposes to which it is levoted; and that is, brilliancy. It is too dark. There is no smiling splendor of effect, which is always so enlivening. The darkness of the hall may be agreeable to weak eyes, it may even be described as "very much better than a glare of light ;" but brilliancy remains an inispensable quality of a great hall devoted to Popular enjoyment. Yet, whether dark or light, how much has enjoyed in that stately, roomd What memorable figures have passed across that latform ! What exquisite strains of music, ung, played, or spoken, have died along those i No one who is familiar with our his-

Forty-first Congress-Second Semion. The United States Senate, after the close of ur report yesterday, considered the bill to provide a national currency of coin, notes, and to equalize the distribution of circulating notes. Mr. Sherman, Chairman of the Kurlator, Coinmittee, said he did not propose to enter into an elaborate financial argument in opening the debate on the bill, but would confine himself o the two main propositions it presented. . The partial equalization "or distribution of the bunking currency among the States. Second. Free banking on a coin basis. The present distribution of bank circulation was grossly and palpably unfab. Three States, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, containing a population of less than two mil-lions, have over hinely-six million. dollars of circulation. One-fifteenth of our population have thus one-third of all, the bank circulation. The rapidly-growing west-ern States, where credit is most needed, have scarcely three dollars to an inhabitant, while all the late; rebel States are practically without any banking birchlation heeded, have scarcely three dollars to an in-habitant, while all the late redd States are practically without any banking clicculation. This unfair distribution, he said, grew out of a palpable violation of the law by the then Comptroller of the Garrency and the Secretary of the Treasury. The first banking act, st February 25, 1863, provided a rule of distribu-tion by which the whole amount of circulation was not to exceed. $100,000,000,000, of which $150,000,000 was to be apportioned among the States zoonding to their banking capital and resources.
