STORY ABOUT THE PINE ALLEY KNUCKS .-

STORY ABOUT THE PINE ALLEY KNUCKS.— Upon a certain occasion, when an important election was pending in New York, a large crowd of "roughs" proceeded from Phila-delphia to that place for the purpose of voting, as was thought, at that time. Among this crowd were all, or nearly all the Pine alley knucks, who, in addition to voting, intended to ply their professional vocation, that of picking pockets. Owing to the vigilance of the police of New York city the thieves were battled to some extent. Two or three days after the election four of the "knucks" went down to Castle Garden and seated themselves near the river. The tide was tolerably low. These disconsolate thievs wanted to return to Philadelphia, but they had no money. Therefore they resorted to expediency. After considerable talk among themselves, one of them agreed to fall over-board. This would cause excitement; the people, of whom there were many in the vicinity, would gather around, and thus an excellent opportunity would be offered to commit robberies. The leader of the "knucks" being an expert swimmer, was to fall over-board. Arrangements were thus completed. Into the river he tunibled and floundered around, grasping at imaginary objects, then einking and coming up to thesurface,struggling Into the river he tumbled and floundered around, grasping at imaginary objects, then sinking and coming up to the surface, struggling violently. "Man overboard" was shouted; the people ran from every direction. Another of the "knucks," in his attempt to save his fellow-creature from drowning, fell into the water, and came very near losing his life in the effort. The excitement increased, and finally both were rescued from a watery grave. Some of the more kind-hearted in the erowd brought stimulants to the apparently suffering men, and in a short time they fully recovered and were able to walk. On the same afternoon the same thieves appeared on the fine steamer were able to walk. On the same afternoon the same thisves appeared on the fine steamer John Potter, and finding themselves safe from observation, summed up the proceeds of the adventure to the following effect: One "spark" (diamond pin), worth $250; seven "dummies" (pocket-books)—five "fat" and two "lean"; one love-letter, and a loose $10 bank-note. The proceeds of the robberies amounted to nearly seven hundred dollars. This was considered a pretty good job, and a portion of the funds was expended in a sup-per at the "Bugle" and to fee a lawyer, who was counsel for another "knuck" at that time in prison awaiting trial. AN OLD RELIC.—Mr. Jabez Gates, of Ger-maniown, has in his possession an auvil upon which were forged the moulds in which the first types made in this country were cast. Of this ancient relic the Germantown Chronicle says: "The anvil, previous to coming into Mr. G.'s possession, belonged to Mr. Frederick Fleckenstein, who, upon giving it to the present owner, received from him a present of a new English anvil, faced with steel. Mr. Fleckenstein had used the anvil in his doith builters that the mitting a new face steel. Mr. Fleckenstein had used the anvii in his daily business up to within a very few years back. The types cast from the moulds forged upon this anvil were used by Christo-pher Sauer, or Sower, grandfather of the se-nior partner of the present firm of Sower & Barnes, book publishers. Several Bibles printed by Mr. Sower are now in the posses-sion of Mr. Joseph J. Mickley, 924 Market street. They were taken possession of by the British troops at the battle of Germantown, sion of Mr. Joseph J. Mickley, 924 Market street. They were taken possession of by the British troops at the battle of Germantown, and cast into a stable, and the leaves still bear evidence of having been stained thereby. One of them contains on the fly-leaf a family re-cord of an old Germantown family, but the handwriting is German and very illegible. Sower's printing-office stood on the site of Dr. Owen Wister's mansion, Main street, op-posite Queen. The anvil above mentioned descended into Mr. Fleckenstein's possession from his grandfather." from his grandfather."

CORONER'S INQUEST.—The Coroner's in-quest upon the body of Robert Pollard, aged 60 years, who died last week in the Nunth District Police Staton-house, was concluded to day. Mr. Pollard was found by a police-man lying upon the sidewalk on Coates street, at 11 o'clock at night. He was in an insensible condition, and, supposing that he was drunk, the officer got a wheelbarrow and conveyed him to the Station House. There he was searched and a few things of slight value were found.

a wheelbarrow and conveyed nim to the Station House. There he was searched and a few things of slight value were found. Being entirely helpless, three or four police-men shouldered himland carrief him to a cell, where he was locked up. No further attention was paid to him, and in the morning, when the turnkey opened the cell, the prisoner was found dead. The relatives of Mr. Pollard declared that he had not been in the habit of drinking, and that when he left home, at 9 o'clock, he had a watch and some money. As the watch and money were missing, there were suspicions of foul play. Dr. E. B. Shapleigh, the Coroner's Surgeon, made a post moritom examination of the body, and found that death had resulted from disease of the heart. The jury brought in a verdict to that effect. The missing watch, and money have not yet been found, and nothing was developed to show whether or not the deceased had been robbed previous to being found by the policeman. AN EXCITING AND DANGEROUS CHASE. —Frank De Moulan, who is charged with having been concerned in a violent assault upon Policemen Conalin and O'Mealy, ou Locust street, above Ninth, about a week ago, was discovered this morning about 8 o'clock, at Eighth and Chestnut streets, by Policeman Carrigan. He ran into a building, and was pursued by the officer. Up to the roof for some distance, and was pursued by Carrigan. The former then got down on to a shutter and then into a third-story window. The officer retraced his steps to the front door. Lieut. Campbell, in the meantime, had stationed himself at the rear of the premises. De Mou-lan was captured by Carrigan as he was pass-ing down the entry. He will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon. SAILORS ON A SPREE.—Two sailors belonging to the ship Abysinnia, lying in the Delaware to the ship Abysinnia, lying in the Delaware at a wharf above Arch street, got on a spree on Saturday night, and after they got beastly drunk they were found by the Harbor Police. They were taken to the vessel, but being en-tirely helpless, the police were puzzled as to how to get them aboard. The other seamen had probably seen such customers before. They brought the block and tackle into requi-sition. The rope was securely fastened around the bodies of the drunken men and they were hoisted on board. hoisted on board.

DRUNKEN MAN DROWNED .- Last evening DRUNKEN MAN DROWNED.—Last evening about eight o'clock a man dressed in light clothes passed through a shed at Vine street wharf, fell into the Delaware and was drowned, notwithstanding the efforts of some of the Harbor Police to rescue him. Lieut. Smith found the same man very drunk, and took him away from Delaware avenue, a short time before he was drowned.

A SNEAK THIEF SHOOTS AT A POLICEMAN. A SNEAK THIEF SHOOTS AT A POLICEMAN. —On Saturday evening, about half-past seven o'clock, Policeman Hoopes discovered a fel-low sneaking out of the house of Mr. Fields, No. 3416 Baring' street, West Philadelphia, with two coats in his possession. The police-man gave chase, and after running some dis-tance, the thief dropped the coats, turned, and fired two shots at the officer. He succeeded in escaping, but the coats were recovered. EXIT SLAWSON BOX .-- The Spruce and Pine EXIT SLAWSON BOX.—The Spruce and Pine Streets Passenger Railway Company, as has already been stated, determined to abolish the Slawson box arrangement. This morning two platform cars of the old style were placed on the road, and the company expect to be able to alter back and put in use one additional platform car per day until the whole number of cars on the line are of that kind.

THE CAMDEN JAIL-BREAKERS .- Three men, supposed to be some of the Camden jal-breakers, came to Shippen street wharf, in an old boat, about twelve o'clock on Saturday night. Officer Lex, of the Delaware Harbor Police, came up, but did not succeed in cap-turing any of the men. He took possession of the boat however. ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—On Saturday eve-ning, about 9 o'clock, an attempt was made to enter the house of Mr. Bigley, No. 1342 South street. A ladder was placed against the wall they were frightened off by Policeman Conaty, before they had effected an entrance.

DISORDERLY HOUSES.-The Fifth District Police made a descent on the house of Hetty Denby, colored, Seventh and St. Mary streets. Denby, colored, seventh and St. Mary streets, on Saturday night. Eight persons, blacks and whites, males and females, were captured, and were taken before Ald. Morrow. Hetty was held in $600 bail for keeping a disorderly house and the others were held, for breach of the page. Last night a raid was made on the house of Amy James, colored, in Poplar court, in the neighborhood of Teuth and Locust streets. Any and ten others (males and females, among whom were two whites) were taken into custody. The prisoners were all com-mitted by Ald. Morrow.

SHOF-LIFTERS.—A man and woman en-tered the clothing store of Benjamin Eiseman, No. 1602 Market street, about seven o'clock this morning. A little girl was in charge of the store. The man looked at some coats. Another man then came in and engaged the attention of the child for a few minutes. The party then left, and two first-class overcoats were missed. Policeman John McCullough was notified, and at Seventeenth and Chestnut streets captured the woman and one of the men. The other man escaped. The prisoners gave their names as Henry Miller and Kate Stanley. They will be arraigned before Justice Kerr this afternoon Kerr this afternoon.

PRINCE ARTHUR.—There was a stir and a buzz in the large and fashionable congregation at St. Mark's Church, lyesterday morning, when Her Britaunic Majesty's Consul entered with a strange young gentleman. "Prince Arthur" was whispered all over the church, and the young man excited as much interest as the rector or the surpliced choir. After church everybody had something to say about "the Prince." Imagine their chagrin when they saw in the morning papers that Prince Arthur passed through Philadelphia on Saturday without stopping, and attended morning ser-vice yesterday at Trinity Church, New York.
