About one-quarter of the news thus given by us to our readers was delivered to us by the agent of a combination of New York morning papers, called the "New York Associated Press." The other three-fourths came from special correspondents of the BULLETIN at Washington, Harrisburg, and other places, and from the recently organized combination called the "American Press Association." This bids fair to be a successful rival to the New York Associated Press. The BULLETIN takes and pays for the news of each, besides keeping special correspondents under pay in many places, to com-Associated Press, and when its arrangements quated and monopolizing rival superfluous. THUESDAY, Feb. 3.—The streat this afternoon was informed by private despatches from Washington that the prospects of a passage of the Sherman-Summer bill in the lower House are much mere favorable than at first appeared. The news produced a decline in gold and check the bullish feeling in stocks.

The gold market at the opening was heavy on small transactions, and in the afternoon became actively weak the weak of the control of the cont nocent, and saying he "had urged him to the deed."

The clergy now read the final prayer in the Office for the Visitation of Prisoners, followed by the Commendatory Prayer at the point of departure, and closing with the benediction, and then left, leaving on the scaffold heriff Jacob Richardson, ex-Sheriff W. Herbert and Prison-keepers Wise and Vining. The two latter adjusted the ropes and the Sheriffs fixed the caps and bade the prisoners good by.

The Sheriff then cut the rope holding the traps, which dropped at fifteen minutes after twelve.

Jones died almost instantly. Carpenter struggled for some time, his limbs contracting yiolently for five or seven minutes.

Just before the fall, Jones szid: "Things is serious now." Both showed great fortitude.

The decline in gold was directly operative upon the Government market, where prices fell about one-half per cent. The heaviness was assisted by the general delease in bonds, which seem of late to have lost speculative attraction, while the foreign quotations for five-twenties came barely steady.
