THE MORMON QUESTION.
Opposition to the Efforts in Congress for the Suppression of Polygamy.

Extraordinary Sentiments Expressed by Mormon Women.

SALT LAKE CITY, Saturday, January 29th.
In this city and throughout the Territory of Utah for the past two weeks have been more than ordinarily interesting. The fact that Congress has before it two bills for the suppression of polygamy—one introduced into the Senate by Mr. Cullum, and one into the House by Mr. Cullum—has called forth a most unusual expression of opinion on this special subject.

A Remarkable Meeting.
On Thursday the 13th, a mass "indignation" meeting of women was held in the tabernacle in Salt Lake City, at which about 400 ladies assembled to give vent to their wrath against the bills referred to, and their authors. Gentlemen were excluded, reporters excepted, and the proceedings were conducted in a manner that was novel, to say the least, opening and closing with prayer, and presenting the strange spectacle of Anglo-Saxon women contending for the divinity, purity and propriety of plural marriages. One of the speakers declared that she had not met to agitate for "woman's rights," but for "men's rights," while another said that she had not met to complain of wrongs and abuses inflicted on them by husbands, fathers and sons, and drew a variegated picture of the love and affection that existed between her and her husband, and the liberty and freedom they enjoyed. Still another speaker announced that they protested against the proposed attempt at preventing the marriage of a man to several women, and that they desired to see the laws enforced, and that they would not be separated from their husbands, and that they would not be separated from their husbands, and that they would not be separated from their husbands.

THE MORMON QUESTION.
Opposition to the Efforts in Congress for the Suppression of Polygamy.

Extraordinary Sentiments Expressed by Mormon Women.

SALT LAKE CITY, Saturday, January 29th.
In this city and throughout the Territory of Utah for the past two weeks have been more than ordinarily interesting. The fact that Congress has before it two bills for the suppression of polygamy—one introduced into the Senate by Mr. Cullum, and one into the House by Mr. Cullum—has called forth a most unusual expression of opinion on this special subject.

A Remarkable Meeting.
On Thursday the 13th, a mass "indignation" meeting of women was held in the tabernacle in Salt Lake City, at which about 400 ladies assembled to give vent to their wrath against the bills referred to, and their authors. Gentlemen were excluded, reporters excepted, and the proceedings were conducted in a manner that was novel, to say the least, opening and closing with prayer, and presenting the strange spectacle of Anglo-Saxon women contending for the divinity, purity and propriety of plural marriages. One of the speakers declared that she had not met to agitate for "woman's rights," but for "men's rights," while another said that she had not met to complain of wrongs and abuses inflicted on them by husbands, fathers and sons, and drew a variegated picture of the love and affection that existed between her and her husband, and the liberty and freedom they enjoyed. Still another speaker announced that they protested against the proposed attempt at preventing the marriage of a man to several women, and that they desired to see the laws enforced, and that they would not be separated from their husbands, and that they would not be separated from their husbands.

Extraordinary Resolutions.
Resolved, that by a Committee of seven members of the meeting and unanimously adopted. These resolutions were read, and the ladies, in one voice, declared their adherence to the same. The resolutions, which were adopted by the ladies, expressed their opposition to the bills, and their determination to support the same, and their determination to see the laws enforced, and their determination to see the laws enforced.

Other Similar Meetings.
This meeting was like a key-note, and has been followed by others in different parts of the Territory, in all of which the women proclaimed themselves the adherents of polygamy as a divine institution and a part of their religion, and announced the Anti-Polygamy bills as an attempt to legislate against the free exercise of their religion.

The Danger of War in Utah.
The New York Herald, in the following article, sustains the views expressed by the Bulletin upon several recent occasions: "The excitement in Utah over Mr. Cullum's bill for the suppression of polygamy has greatly intensified when the Mormons discover the actual provisions of the bill, as it has been amended by the Committee on Territories. After describing and declaring polygamy to be a crime, the amended bill provides that, for the enforcement of this law, the President shall send a sufficient body of troops to Utah; and to this end, he is authorized to employ the regular army, and also to raise 25,000 militia in the territory. It further provides that the property of any Mormon who may leave Utah on account of this law, or who may be imprisoned for resistance thereto shall be taken and used for the benefit of the families of such Mormons.

A Cuban Key.
The Albany at Key West.
[From the Jacksonville Union, Fla.]
Key West, Feb. 1.—Gonzalo Castanon, editor of the Havana da Cuba, the Volunteer organ of Havana, accompanied by a surgeon and two attendants, arrived here on the 28th ult. for the purpose of fighting a duel with Juan Maria Keyes, editor of the Key West Republic, in accordance with a challenge sent by the latter. The excitement among the Cubans was intense, and a violent altercation took place at the hotel between Castanon and Keyes, the former slapping the face of the latter. Troops from the barracks were stationed about town to preserve order, threats of vengeance being made by the Cubans.

BURGLARY AT DOVER, DEL.
A Safe Broken Open and Robbed.—Loss $1000.
In Dover, on the night of the 4th inst., the store of Messrs. Burton & Wallace was forcibly entered by a window shutter being pried off. All the black goods, such as cloth, cassimere, and a number of other articles, all being of such a nature as are most difficult to identify, The safe (Baily & Butler's) was broken through, and the fire-proof filling removed, so that the lock was accessible. The drawers were taken out, and a safe was opened and emptied. Sixty dollars were taken, and sixteen were left; why any was left is a mystery; it was all together. Notes, and a number of other articles, were found on the floor. No one sleeps in the store. No one was aroused by the noise, notwithstanding the fact that the store is on two sides of the street, and the Associated Press cable agent in London was once an inmate of the New York Times, we feel more than rejoiced in having this opportunity to display an instance of our extraordinary literary talents.

CRIME.
MOB VIOLENCE IN TENNESSEE.
The Governor Asks for Special Legislation.—Organized Villainy.

Governor Senter has submitted a message to the General Assembly, in which he asks for special legislation to suppress the crimes of violence so common in that State. He says: "As with profound regret I realize the necessity of directing your attention to the alarmingly frequent violence to the peace and dignity of the State, in the maltreatment and the persecution of helpless citizens, which are generally reported in disguise or unknown. Many of the State's citizens have been outraged in their privileges and persons by the lawless and violent acts of a mob, without charge of having in anywise offended the law; while others under criminal charges have been forcibly wrested from their homes, and their blood shed by bodies of men without the least shadow of authority. That these enormities can be in our midst, and that they are perpetrated with impunity, is a disgrace to the State, and an outrage to the public indignity, but, more than all, it is a danger to the public safety."

ISRAELITES IN RUSSIA.
Successful Efforts of Gov. Curtin in Their Behalf.
Some months ago the prominent Israelites of this State, General Grant to instruct our Minister at St. Petersburg, His Excellency Andrew G. Curtin, to make all efforts in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the Jews in Russia, as it was reported that this people were subjected to peculiar hardships by a recent imperial edict. The committee had an interview at the home of Secretary Fish, who issued instructions to Minister Curtin to make the proper representations to the Emperor, and the Minister promptly reported that his efforts have proved successful, and that the Emperor has desired of showing his good will to the United States, had made many reforms in the treatment of the Hebrews throughout his Empire. That the prejudices of his people were being gradually exterminated, and that the progress of education and other reformatory measures. Gratuitous concessions of land to agriculturists, subsidies in expenses of colonization and settlement, and exemption from taxation and military duty, for a certain time. They are also entitled to domicile and the right to reside in any part of the Empire, and are treated as other subjects in regard to appointments in the medical staff of the army and navy, the vexed question of which appears to have disturbed St. Petersburg as well as Washington. Israelites who are known are admitted on the same equality into the class of "notables," or honorable citizens. The banking of St. Petersburg is largely done by Jews, and the Russian loan, now so popular throughout Europe, has been largely promoted by the Rothschilds and other Hebrews in Paris, Amsterdam, London and other monetary circles. The conduct of Governor Curtin meets with much approval here, and the thanks of the Jews throughout the United States will soon be tendered him in official manner. Russia shows by this generous conduct, her desire to take her place in the army of social reform.

A NOVEL RACE.
A Drive of Elk Try to Run Away from an Elk.
[From the Sioux City (Iowa) Times of Jan. 31.]
The passengers on the morning train leaving this city for Oakes on the Iowa and Sioux City Railroad, were not only excited by the fact that they were to have a race, but participants in one of the most exciting experiences that has come within the range of our experience.
On Saturday morning, when between Lenora and Cherokee, the train, rounding a curve, thundered down on a drive of fourteen-car, full-grown elk, which were quietly grazing on the open prairie about fifty yards west of the track. Startled thus, suddenly from their quietude, they immediately started off on a full run, no doubt expecting to distance the freight and heavy monster that had so suddenly broken in upon them while they were eating their morning meal. Forward dashed the elk, while closely following in their wake, the freight and heavy monster that had so suddenly broken in upon them while they were eating their morning meal. Forward dashed the elk, while closely following in their wake, the freight and heavy monster that had so suddenly broken in upon them while they were eating their morning meal.

CRIME.
A Man Killed on the Conellsville Railroad.—Eul Phis Suspected.—An Investigation to be Instituted.
The Pittsburgh Post of yesterday says: "Friday night, about eleven o'clock, the McKeesport night accommodation train on the Conellsville Railroad struck a man who was lying on the track near Port Perry. It is supposed that the victim was an hour after the collision occurred. The following particulars of the affair have been received from a reliable source: The man, whose name is Michael Dougherty, was a native of Ireland, and was employed as a laborer on the Conellsville Railroad. He was accompanied by two other men. At eleven o'clock the accommodation train came up, and the engineer, Mr. Thomas, discovered the body of the man lying on the right hand rail, a few yards in advance of the engine. The train had just left the station at Port Perry, and had not yet under headway. The engine struck the man, and he was killed. The body was recovered, and was found to be that of a man who had been on the track for some time. The investigation is being conducted by the local authorities, and it is supposed that the man was killed by the train.

ISRAELITES IN RUSSIA.
Successful Efforts of Gov. Curtin in Their Behalf.
Some months ago the prominent Israelites of this State, General Grant to instruct our Minister at St. Petersburg, His Excellency Andrew G. They are also entitled to domicile and the right to reside in any part of the Empire, and are treated as other subjects in regard to appointments in the medical staff of the army and navy, the vexed question of which appears to have disturbed St. Petersburg as well as Washington. Israelites who are known are admitted on the same equality into the class of "notables," or honorable citizens. The banking of St. Petersburg is largely done by Jews, and the Russian loan, now so popular throughout Europe, has been largely promoted by the Rothschilds and other Hebrews in Paris, Amsterdam, London and other monetary circles. The conduct of Governor Curtin meets with much approval here, and the thanks of the Jews throughout the United States will soon be tendered him in official manner. Russia shows by this generous conduct, her desire to take her place in the army of social reform.

A NOVEL RACE.
A Drive of Elk Try to Run Away from an Elk.
[From the Sioux City (Iowa) Times of Jan. 31.]
The passengers on the morning train leaving this city for Oakes on the Iowa and Sioux City Railroad, were not only excited by the fact that they were to have a race, but participants in one of the most exciting experiences that has come within the range of our experience.
On Saturday morning, when between Lenora and Cherokee, the train, rounding a curve, thundered down on a drive of fourteen-car, full-grown elk, which were quietly grazing on the open prairie about fifty yards west of the track. Startled thus, suddenly from their quietude, they immediately started off on a full run, no doubt expecting to distance the freight and heavy monster that had so suddenly broken in upon them while they were eating their morning meal. Forward dashed the elk, while closely following in their wake, the freight and heavy monster that had so suddenly broken in upon them while they were eating their morning meal.
