SALE MUSICAL

THA PAL. OR CONCERTS. -Miss Jackson announces the fourth of her series of Parlor Concerts for Saturday evening, the 12th inst., at Natatorium Hall. The most prominent feature of these concerts is the very fine String Quartette Club, which is now, by the high point of excellence it has reached. the high point of excellence it has reached, fully satisfying all who have been interested in its establishment in our city. It now re-maths for Philadelphia to prove whether, when it is supplied with a good thing, in the way of art, it will so appre-ciate it as to keep it. There is nothing finer in music than a highly-finished performance of a good, string quartett, for it demands the greatest excellence in intonation, execution, musical conception and culture; and there is, perhaps, no better means by and there is, perhaps, no better means by which to judge of the real musical worth of a city than that of being able to say that it amply and fully encourages such a quartet in its good work of cultivating and elevating the public taste. Becthoven's great quartett public taste. Beethoven's great quartett. dedicated to Count Rasoremoffsky, which was so superbly performed at the third concert, will, by general request, be repeated on Saturday.

"MOSES IN EGYPT."

_There is good reason for believing that the performance of Rossini's great oratorio, Mosca in Egupt, by the Handel and Haydu Sostoses in Loypt, by the Handel and Haydn So-ciety, this evening, at the Academy of Music, will be all respects satisfactory. Since the last production by the Society of this work in public, the members have had constant prac-tice protection that the space defined public, the members have had constant plac-tice upon the choruses, under the careful di-rection of Mr. Engelke, and they have now attained to a high degree of proficiency. The solo parts for this evening are entrusted to solo parts for this evening, are entrusted to skilful singers, who are quite competent to in-terpret them in a praiseworthy manner. A full orchestra will be in attendance. It is to be höped that the Academy will be crowded this evening. This Society has labored faith-fully in the cause of music in this city for many years past, and it behooves the public to give it generous and hearty encouragement. Those who attend the performance to night 'will not only have the satisfaction of knowing that they have done their duty in this respect. that they have done their duty in this respect, but they will probably enjoy an unusually pleasant entertainment.

THE PAREPA-ROSA OPERA COMPANY. THE PAREFA-ROSA OPERA-COMPANY. The sale of seats for the season of English Opera at the Academy began at Trumpler's music store tills morning. The first perform-ance will be given on Friday night, when The Marriage of Figaro will be presented with a cast including all the members of the company. On Saturday atternoon. Madamet Rosa, will On Saturday afternoon. Madame' Rosa' will make her first appearance in this city as "Arline " in The Bohemian Girl.

"MR. WOLFSOHN'S MATINEE.

-Mr. Carl Wolfsohn will give his next clas sical matinée-the Chovin matinée-in the foyer of the Academy of Music, on Friday next, at four o'clock." The programme is one of the most promising yet presented.

"FANCHON THE CRICKET."

-A musical arrangement by Mrs. Galton, of Fanchon the Cricket, was produced at the Chest-nut Street Theatre, last night, by the Galton comic opera company, to a large audience. Mrs. Galton has displayed a great deal of taste and skill in selecting music with which to adorn and illustrate this most charming and pathetic of pastoral dramas; and she has convad to make a mosaic which is even more artistic and beautiful than many complete works composed by a single author. Miss Susan Galton sustained the character of "Fan-Susan Gatton sustained the enaracter of "Pah-chon, 'last ovening, and gave a very delightful personation. She is singularly fitted for the part of the wild, impulsive girl, and she plays it with remarkable power. She was supported in an entirely satisfactory manner by the meinbers of the company. The performance will be repeated this evening.

AMUSEMENTS.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS ROMAN MATTERS. Papal Infailibility.

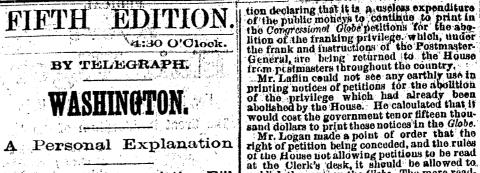

The eminent Catholic scholar, Dr. Döllin-ger, has writen an "open letter" in answer to the Bishops' Petition for the Deolaration of Papal Infallibility, which we published, both in the criginal and in English, last week. The following is an abstract of Dr. Döllinger's manifesto :

The Bishops, he says, are signing an address in which the Pope is besought, on the part of the Council, to declare himself infallible. That is to say, "180,000,000 of human beings are henceforth to be forced, by pain of excomeventsion, refuel of the sacraments, and everlasting damnation, to believe and to pre-fess that which the Church hitherto has not believed, not taught." For it cannot besaid that even those who have hitherto held the Papal nfallioility to be a fact have believed in it. Infall to lity to be a fact have delivered in it. A Catholic can only believe that which he is told, and taught by the Church as divinely revealed things, as a thing appertaining to the sub-stance of the doctrine of salvation, as a thing beyond all and every doubt and the refusal to accept which implies disobedience to be punished by exclusion from the community. But in reality there is not a single human oreature who ever believed in it in this way, creature who ever believed in it in this way, even as one would believe in God or the Trinity. The proclamation of this dogma, therefore, which at the very best, has been agreed to by some, fide humana, as a thing of probability, would mean nothing less than an alteration in the faith and deatring of the Church such as hear been doctrine of the Church such as has never been heard of ever since Christianity was first founded. The whole foundation of the Church, in fact, would thereby be affected. Instead of, as has hitherto been the case, a Catholie being able to say, I believe a certain thing, because the Church of all times bears witness to it—that Church, unto which bewithess to it—that Church, and when be-longs the promise that it shall ever re-main in the possession of, truth—he will henceforth have to put, instead of that Church which compasses all time and all space, a single individual: the Pope, to with a will have to say I believe this or that he-He will have to say, I believe this or that, be-cause the infallible Pope teachesit." And why is he infallible'. Because he says so himself. That several hundred bishops-whatever their number-have decreed in Rome in 1870 that the Pope is infallible matters very little, inamuch as all bishops and every Council are subject to error without the help of the Pope. Their testi-mony has only as much value as he who is alone exempt from error pleases to place upon it; and only inasmuch as he approves this their resolution is there any validity in it. And, thus moving in a vicious circle, the whole matter resolves itself into the Pope's own tes-timony of himself. True, some 1,840 years ago, some one higher has said. "If I testify to myself, my testimony is not to be believed. Late Speeches by the Pope. At a recent audience at the Vatican, the Pope said to some Knights of Malta from Prússia : The period of conflict between your Order and the Mussulmans is past. The Turks now act better toward the Church than some Christian Governments. The task of Order now is to light for the Church against the modern State."

At a late reception the Pope related in a familiar style how Christ, when only twelve years of age, had left his parents to render service to God in the Temple, and added that he, too, as the representative of Christ on earth, could only think of divine things. He had, therefore, called the Council. Some said its inhabitants; but, though the views and thoughts of men might change, the Council could not change. * * * * Some said,too,that the Council ought to place itself in agreement with the views of men. This, also, the Council could not do, for, God's thoughts are not men's thoughts, nor were God's ways, men's ways. The Council should look, only to the ideas and the will of God! His Holiness con-

False Allegations.

[Special Despatch to the Philada, Evening Bulletin WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 .- Donnis McCarthy made a personal explanation in the House this afternoon, regarding an attack upon him in the New York Evening Post, in which it was alleged that a certain salt company in his district had contributed to his election, and that he was in the employ of certain corporations to keep up a large tariff on salt. Mr M cCarthy denied all allegations, and said that instead of the salt company in his district contributing money to elect him, they had used their power to defeat him, as all the officers of he company were strong Democrats.

CITY BULLETIN.

"A SNOW STORM .- Philadelphia is in winter garb to day. Snow commenced falling before daylight and continued to fall unceasingly until nearly eleven o'clock this morning. The snow was of a varied character. Sometimes it took the form of crystals, heavy and wot, and at others of little hard and dry pellets, which were driven about by a strong north east wind, and almost blinded those who were walking along the streets. The high wind made the atmosphere sharp and cutting, and drifted the snow in some places until it reached a pretty good height. As the reached a preity good height. As the ground was warm and moist and the snow did not lie compactly, therefore the owners of sleigh bells and cutters who expected to have a chance of using their property were sadly disappointed About 10 o'clock the snow died away, the atmosphere became warmer, and a thaw began, converting the streets into a mass of slush and mud, and making pedestrianism anything but agreeable. The Passenger Railway com-panies suffered but little inconvenience from the computer the summary conclusion the the storm, their arrangements for clearing the tracks being so complete. All of the mails due at the Post-office up to the present writing have arrived on time.

FUNERAL OF MR. WHARTON.-The funeral of Geo. M. Wharton took place this morning from his late residence, No. 218 South Fourth street. The religious services on the occasion were conducted by Rev. H. J. Morton, D. D., and Rev. T. S. Davies. The funeral proceeded to the Church of St. James the Less, where the interment took place.

PLAYING POLICEMAN.—This morning about one o'clock a young man, named. William Kane, was arrested at Seventhi and Carpenter streets for drunkenness land disorderly con-duct. He pretended to be a policeman and had taken into custody Annie Penrose. When arrested, a blackjack was found on his person. William had a hearing before Ald. Bonsall, and was sent to prison.

that this well is in the range of the Hasson & Cornwall wells, but a short time now will prove whether, it is or not. From the Pleasantville Gaslight we glean the following: The Althoff well in Erie is said to be producing about five barrels of first-class oil per week. We are informed that a good well was struck at Rad Hot, in the third sand, at a depth of 350 feet, last weak week. The Marietta (Ohio) Register says: The School House Well, which had gradually diminished to about twenty barrels per day, was suddenly increased to over ninety barrels per day, by application of the drill. Perkins No. 2 has been increased under similar treatment, to over forty barrels per day. Grecian Bend still holds up to about eighty barrels. Pros-pects on the Run are brighter than over be-cluded with a few heartfelt and paternal words addressed to his "dear sons and daughters from Germany, England and France," and then gave them his blessing.

TROPPMANN'S BODY.

The Doctors Fight Over It. There has, it would seem, been a somewhat undignified fight over the body of Troppmann netween different professors at the Ecole de Médecine: For several years the Prefect of Madecne. For several years the Prefect of Police has been in the habit of granting the bodies of criminals to M. Robin, who is well-known for his experiments on "tissues" of the human body. Formerly he was allowed to enjoy his privileges undisputed, but it seems that there was a general desire to dissect so notorious a criminal as Jean Baptiste Troppmann. Three different professors have, ever since the Pantin murderer was sentenced to death, literally besieged the unfortunate M. Pietri with requests to have the body made over to them. The Prefect, like many a wiser man before him, seeing that he could not please everybody, has settled to give no cause of jealousy-has de-clined to assign Troppmann's body to anybody, and hence the assassin's family will have the satisfaction of knowing that, thanks to the over-eagerness of the faculty, their relative has escaped the dissecting room. We quite expect to see the "irreconcilable" papers hint that the Emperor is at the bottom of this not wishing his relative, Pierre Bonaparte, to be dissected should he be sentenced to death (as they declare he must be) for the crime d'Autcuil. Indeed the Marseillaise concludes its account of the execution of Troppmann by the words C'est fini. Et l'autre !!?

FRENCH EXECUTIONS.

The Guillotine.

All the accounts of Troppmann's execution agree about the struggle which took place on the scafiold after he had been strapped down on the fatal plank, and the idea is that he at-tempted to force himself into the lunette, receive the blow on his shoulder, and be maimed. not killed. However, Monsteur de Paris is a powerful and expert individual, and soon nusstered his yicfim. There is an anecdote told here of a powerful fellow called Monicharmont who was condemned to death at Macon, for having killed five gen-darmes; on the scaffold he solved hold of the executioner, pushed his head into the lunette, and touched the spring; the executioner was hadly placed, and only received a gash on the crown of the head, but he went mad. Montharmont was taken back to prison, tried for charmont was taken back to prison, tried for this new offence, and again sentenced to death. This time he was strapped, but he made a vio-leht effort to escape the knife, and was only wounded. It was only on the third attempt that Montcharmont, explated his crimes.

Tobacco Failure, M. Says the Herald 126 pictures were sold. The highest price HARTFORD, Feb. 8 .- The liabilities of D.W. 126 pictures were sold. The highest price realized was for an exquisite landscape by Geory, "The Valley of the Peinigewassett." It is a superb work of art—a landscape of liv-ing and rarely surpassed beauty. Next on the list was "The Watering Place," by Varney— a singularly excellent painting, in which the cattle are drawn with the life-like animation of Rosa Bonheur and the toliage portrayed with rare fidelity. This brought $270, as also a portrait of Captain Dune, by J. Opie. "Mary Queen of Seets Accussing John Knox of Treason," by Bronaly, brought $200. "The King, commission tobacco mechant, who made an assignment recently, will, it is thought, reach nearly $100,000. It is said one of his creditors will bring suit against him soon on a charge of false pretences.

A number of pames were stricted from the bill and many more added to it. Mr. Stewart moved to amend the bill by providing that all persons now disqualified by the third section of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, except members of Con-gress, Judges of the United States Courts, and officers of the army and navy, who partici-pated in the rebellion, shall be relieved from their disabilities by filing application in any circuit court, and after due proclamation thereof by the said geourt. Objection was and could be the provided by the part of the Made by several Senators. Mr. Davis thanked Mr. Stewart for his liberality in the matter, but thought it would jeopardize the bill if attempted to be added thereto, and suggested that it be brought in as-separate measure. Mr. Stewart explained what would be the application of the proposed amendment. He thought this special legislation wrong, and it ought to be discontinued by Congress. But bill if it would endanger its passage. The time ought speedily to come when all disabili-ties would be removed and Congress rid of this unfair mode of legislation. He then withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Sumner desired to resume the floor on the Census Vill.
