"The old tar always had a leaning toward agriculture. He never returned from a cruit fifteened in the disposition of his cadet appointments by peruniary considerations. What difference did it make what he had done with the money he had received. If there were an an important bill before the House, and if a member were approached and asked to vote for it for a consideration of $1,000, would it be any less a case of bribery and corruption if he was to say be would apply the money to the relief of the poor of his district? He was willing to do away with every particle of testimony taken in the case. He was willing to wipe out all the case. He was willing to wipe out all the ordicate and to take Mr. Whittemore's own statement, and on that he would convict him of having received money for his appointments. He appealed to member a optotic between the law of member and mitted the fact that he had received money for making appointments, they would give him time to work what he had with the morey to rought $20.00 and $20.00 and
