Enterprises During the Past Year

The construction of a number of important bridges was andertaken or completed in this country during the past year. After the East River bridge, which is to have a clear stretch of 1,600 feet, the work next in importance is the arched road bridge over the Mississippl, at St. Louis, with a central span of 515 feet, and two side arches of 487 feet each. Then comes the Quincy bridge, which spans the Mississippl at its widest point, and the railroad bridge at Omaha, which is 2,800 feet in length, both of these works being completed. Action has also been taken for the construction of the Cornwall bridge, to cross the Hudson river about forty miles above this city. An exchange jocosely remarks : John Bright's sickness is at last accounted for—the cause, it is asserted, being the shock sustained in reading the Queen's speech after that document had passed through the hands of the other members of the ministry. The speech contained eighteen paragraphs, one being written by each of the ministers, and three by a nameless individual—at least there is a story to this effect. When the whole was complete the entire ministry carefully oblitais a story to this effect. When the whole was complete the entire ministry carefully obliterated from it any sense and meaning that chanced to get into it, and then it was ready for Parliament. But it was too much for Bright. When he heard it read he turned pale, complained of feeling sick, and took the first train for the country. Mr. Bright is slowly recovering, but considering the cause of his covering, but considering the cause of his malady—a speech which contained neither ood grammar nor good sense—this good new Sunday, Feb. 27.—The absorbing feature of interduring the week, was the course of the gold marks and it is evident that the gold question will continue attract unusual attention in the immediate inture of the markets. The decline to 1122 on Saturday was t the markets. In coccine to the source of saturally was the result of a beavy propure of sales beginning when gold made its first dip under 120. The very contrast between the latter figure and that at which gold had been ruling in the previous year was the stimulus to heavy purchase on all sides in the expectation among speculators that reaction would ensue, and among the importers and the nublic that gold at such a nice was chean. But the cold at such a nice was chean. the great entrepot between Europe and the whole American Continent, the litem of such shipments is constantly filled with the interchange of specie between England and her colonies, France and Mexico and Spain and South America. The speculative hope of reaction has also been steadily disappointed. During the decline of the week the market was so inclusive that the few bulls? who had the courage to step in to buy for a reverse movement were either cheated entirely or rewarded with light profits. The two houses of Congress plaved shuttleseck with a resolution about inflation, but the results were very mesgre in staying the downward tendency. Surprising as it may be to the most conservative of us, the fact is only more and more evident that the day of specie payments is not far distant. The most

the day of specie payments is not far distant. The most the day of specie payments is not far distant. The most healthy feature in the decline has been the absence of speculative causes. Had gold dropped under a pressure of sales from the "bears" who sell gold which they have not, but hope to buy back at a lower price, resulting from their intimidation of holders, little importance could be stached to the movement and little, faith invested in the permanency, of the fall. But gold has dropped from natural causes. The props which held it up were undermined by the influences of ephanced national credit and broke from homesty trees.

cotton and produce has been shipped. We should thus strike the kappy medium line between the last of our exports in summer and the next instalment of our imports in the fall. With gold at pur in the autumn a new intpetus would be given to enterprise over the whole country. Capital would lose its caution and labor be in demand. A thousand and one engagements which are now in abeyance through the contingencies of a decline in sold would be entered into with prouptness and spirit. The nation would resume the activity of the days before the ways. sold would be entered into with promptness and spirit. The nation would resume the activity of the days before the war. The fear that prices will decline with gold is exaggerated. With gold at par we should have a housard gaillons of money to set the enterprises of the whole country in operation. While we are so should santify supplied with capital prices country jeld so greatly as to fall back to the figures of old times. Prices have gene up all over the world. With us they are three or four times as great as before the war, because we have three or four times as much money. It is the history of the world that money becomes cheapor as countries grow alder.

The great decline in gold has had close sympathy in the crurse of values at the Store Exchange, although the influences for a decline have been counterbulauced in a pressure by the case in money and the opportunities afforded for carrying the various securities embraced in the stock list. Still the tone of the market has been fever-h and unsettled, and many of the list have rather shriply declined. The government market was less repensive to the weakening influences of lower gold, for the reason that with the advance of five-twenties is Europe there has been a constant drain upon the market to sapply the demand for ahipment.
