Annual Report of the Registrar...Interesting Statements.

The annual report of Mr. George E. Chambers, Registrar of Births, Marriages and Deaths for 1869, has been presented the Board of Health by Colonel John E. Addicks, the Health Officer. These reports are prepared with great care, and are always filled with valuable and highly interest-ing statistical matter. The report just sub-mited save

mitted says:

"The general sanitary condition of the city during the year will compare favorably with any other of the large cities, the net deaths amounting to thirteen thousand four hundred and twenty-eight (13,428), as our mortuary table will show; and if our estimate of the table will show; and if our estimate of the population is near the correct figure (say 800,000) we have only one death in every fifty-two of the population, which is certainly a very small death rate. * * * * * * * * * " It is highly gratifying that we can present such a favorable report of the health of our city, and while our tables of mortality are correct, yet it is to be regretted that our births and marriages still remain defective, and will continue so until our community become awakened to the importance of registration.

will continue so until our community become awakened to the importance of registration. We experience considerable trouble with a large number of the physicians in not receiv-ing their returns of births at the proper time, as our collectors are compelled to call very often after their reports without success, and often after their reports without success, and in some cases are positively refused; and at the close of the year it is with great difficulty we obtain them, thus entailing much additional labor on the officers, and delaying the report. Considerable completion of the report. Considerable trouble is also had with a few of the clergymen and aldermen, who neglect to report at the proper time; consequently we are compelled to notify them, and then receive their returns for the entire year, which also adds more labor, and which can be avoided very would require the easily if these parties would manifest the proper interest in the workings of the law." Births.

The number of births registered during the year was 16,960-a decrease of 299 from the previous year. The number of male births was 8,861—a decrease of 127; the female births numbered 8,099—a decrease of 172. The following table shows the number of births in each month during the year:

THE GERMAN HOSPITAL OF PHILADEL-THIA.—The first effort made to establish a German Hospital in this city was commenced in 1850 by Drs. Wm. Keller and H. Tiedein 1850 by Drs. Wm. Keller and H. Tiede-main, assisted by L. Herbert, J. Logo and Dr. G. Seidensticker, which, after considerable exertion on the part of the projectors, failed, and the movement was abandoned. In 1853 Dr. H. Tiedemann, J. Logo, Dr. G. Seiden-sticker, H. Wesendonck, L. Herbert and Jos. M. Reichard made a second attempt, which likewise failed. April 2, 1860, an act of incor-poration was procured from the Legislature by Jacob Mueller, Jacob Kemper, Chas. Wil-helm, Wm. Grossholz, George Vogt, Charles helm, Wm. Grossholz, George Vogt, Charles Lorenz, Joseph M. Reichard, Frederick Heyer and M. Richards Muckle. The correyer and M. Richards Muckle. The corporation was entitled "The German Hospital of the City of Philadelphia," and its objects, "to provide medical and surgical aid and nursing in the wards of the Hospital for the sick and disabled who shall be admitted, without distinction of country grand and calca." sick and disabled who shall be admitted, with-out distinction of country, creed and color." A preliminary meeting was held April 27, 1860, and on May 12th, 1860, the Association was regularly organized by the election of Joseph M. Reichard as President; Jacob Mueller, Vice President; Francis M. Drexel, Treasurer; M. Richards Muckle Secretary, and Fred M. Richards Muckle, Secretary, and Fred. Heyer, Solicitor. August 29, 1860, a Commit-tee was appointed, and in the following Febtee was appointed, and in the following Teb-ruary reported a number of eligible sites in and near the city. The country residence of the Morris family, styled "Penn Brook," at Twentieth and Norris streets, in the Twenty-first Ward, was contracted for at $20,000, and was deeded to the corporation on May 20, 1861. This ground consisted of about four corporation and brd upon it a fire stone manyion a acres, and had upon it a fine stone mansion, frame building and numerous smaller outbuildings, well adapted to the preliminary purpose for which they were desired. In April, 1861, the ladies formed an auxiliary association, styled "The Ladies' Aid of the German Hospital." A lot adjoining on the north was pur-diased of Peter Van Pelt, in August, 1864, for $4,000, in order to procure an unbroken front on Twentieth street, from Norris to Oxford When the war broke out the Board of Directors were busily engaged in making the necessary arrangements to fit up the build-ing for the immediate occupancy of patients. The Federal Government found itself compelled hastily to provide hospital accommoda-tions for the many sick and wounded troops which were being transported daily in large numbers to the North, and, among other places selected for such purposes, were the grounds and, buildings of this corporation, which were found well adapted as a con-valescent hospital, and which were leased to the Government on June 20th, 1862, at a nominal rent of $125 per month. The property was in their possession until the 31st of July, 1866, when it was delivered to the owners. the owners. The managers immediately proceeded to place the buildings in a condition to receive patients; and in the mouth of November of the same year, the in-

of its active operation, been about 30-a con of its active operation, been about 30.—a considerable portion of which were treated gratuitously. The resident physician is Dr. Richard Lucderwald; and the visiting and consulting physicians forming the medical and surgical staff of the Hospital, are Drs. Fricke, Demme, Beeken, Schrotz, Fischer, Koerper and Kaemmerer. The tenth annual report of the institution has just been issued. It says:

"The Hospital has now entered upon the fourth year of its charitable dispensations, and considering the difficulties and opposition that young institutions meet with in the be ginning, from many quarters, however well the interests of the institution may have been the interests of the institution may have been guarded by the management, they can truly affirm that the institution is daily growing in favor, particularly with our very large German population, for whose benefit the institution has been especially established. But the favor it is enjoying every year, in an increasing measure, is not alone necessary to make a charitable institution thrive; it is the explosional propert which is yet wanting in a substantial support which is yet wanting, in a great measure from our German population; and the Hospital is suffering, on that account, from the very meagre support it has to this time received. It cannot supply all applications for free admission, but is obliged to make a moderate charge in some cases; and very frequently such charges cannot all be collected, for many a patient finds his funds giving out when he remains longer in the Hospital than expected. It is partly to make up such deficiencies that the Managers invite our entire population, without distinction, to become contributing members of this young but promising institution mising institution.
"The management call attention to the ne cessity of taking the rebuilding of the Hospital into consideration. Any one who is acquainted with the premises knows that the room is entirely too small; at the present moment the male department is entirely full, and that it cannot possibly much longer answer, and truly never has answered for hospital purposes. Those who wish to contribute to the contemplated new building have the satisfac-tion also of knowing that such funds are en-trusted in safe hands; that they are at once deposited by the treasurer at the banking-house of Messys. Drexel & Co., who have kindly offered, in the most praiseworthy manner, to allow six per cent per annum interest until the funds are needed for the rebuilding of the Hespital. Mr. Anthony J. Drexel has already laid the foundation-stone by subscribing at once $1,000 for this purpose." by subscribing at once $1,000 for this purpose." The association received last year $2,000 from Miss Mary D. Brown; $208 55 from Frederick Tiedemann, the proceeds of concerts given by him; $175 40, proceeds of a representation in "Turner Hall," and $25 from the Kensington Society for the support of men. John Klinger willed his entire estate to the hospital, and it is expected to realize $1,000.

The report of the physicians shows thatdur ing 1869 152 patients were admitted in the Medical Department. Of these 86 were cured, 18 improved, 12 left the hospital, 15 died and 21 remained at the close of the year. In the Surgical Department 98 were admitted; 77 were cured, 7 improved, 5 left the hospital, 3 died and 6 remained. The total admissions during the year were 250. LOCAL CHOWDER.-A new Division of the Sons of Temperance is to be formed in Ger-mantown to-morrow night. It is to be called mantown to morrow night. It is to be called the "Clear Grit." This name is probably intended to suggest the softness and lack of "grit" displayed by anybody who looks back after once laying hold of the handle of the teetotal plough. Gen. Owen, Gen. Wagner and Select Councilman Wm. F. Smith were among the gentlemen to give paternity to the movement. Twenty-six gentlemen who previously took occasional lunar observations through the bottoms of champagne-glasses through the bottoms of champagne-glasse will identify themselves with the new-born institution on the opening evening. A grant temperance meeting will be held on the same night at Town Hall. It will be addressed, among others, by Rev. Dr. Willits. The pro-gress of total abstinence in Germantown has ecently received rapid momentum through the instrumentality of a few of its leading citizens.

Since our recent expose of the constant presence of thieves in front of the banks in Third and Market streets, not a scalliwag of the fraternity has been visible. We get this from ex-Chief of Detectives John Lamon. On the morning after the appearance of the paragraph in question, Mr. Lamon says, the sight of a thief in the localities named was about as rare as the sight of a Methodist in Madrid. This shows the extent to which the BULLETIN is read, and that even a thief may be a judge of the value of the vitality and the vim that constitute the capital stock of a wideawake newspaper.

The busiest people we now encounter are our seedsmen and florists. They are as busy in receiving merchandise as they are in shipping it. A large proportion of the seeds we get are from France and Holland. The latter is especially rich in vegetable seeds. It is rich also in bulbs and tubers. It is constantly sending us new and valuable varieties. The seeds are packed in linen sacks. Our friends, the Hollanders, are immense in the production of linen. The napkins furnished to you in an Amsterdam hotel are solid affairs, reaching from your chin to your knees. Upon the diminutive Doily the Dutchman is decidedly down. He packs his seeds in linen of a kind never seen otherwise in this country. The reason that the seed trade of Philadelphia is so extensive is that because in square-toed integrity our seed-growers are equalled only by the community of Shakers. Such seed farms as those of Mr. Landreth, Mr. Dreer, or Mr. Buist, live square up to the commandments. The consequence is that the trade is now engaged in shipping garden-seeds all over the South and West—many of them to people who not only never saw Philadelphia, but probably never will. The Annual Commencement of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy will this year be held on the 22d of the present month. It comes off at the Academy of Music. Contrary to custom, it will on this occasion be held in the evening. About forty young gentlemen will graduate. They will then come into possession graduate. They will then come into possession of parchments whose value is recognized wherever people indulge in calomel and camphor juleps. These commencements were formerly held in Musical Fund Hall. The attendance was small. The heads of the college, being principally Friends, were opposed to music. In this point they ultimately yielded, and Birgfeld blew his trombone in the presence of the grave and reverend seignlors, who silently submitted to its torture. This was the entering wedge inserted by the class. was the entering wedge inserted by the class. The next year the students implored permission to hold their commencement at the Acadpay the difference in cost between the use of it and a hall, the Faculty gave way. The house was filled with the beauty and fashion of Phil-adelphia. That it will so be filled on the approaching anniversary the young men confi dently anticipate.

Rev. Father Martin is now organizing a parochial school, to be attached to his church n Chestnut, near Thirty-seventh street, West Philadelphia. In this he is receiving most officient and timely assistance from the Sisters of the Convent of St. Leonard. Though these ladies have a large and flourishing boarding and day academy of their own, they are still working, with the zeal that always animates the bosom of a recluse, in putting Father Mar-tin's enterprise in working order. The insti-tution at Thirty-ninth and Chestnut streets is the headquarters of the "Sisterhood of the Holy Child Jesus." Its Superior, Sister Mary Xavier, is the head of the Order in the United States. Those in charge of this academy all came from Eugland. The Superior is of noble Each of them sacrificed wealth for

As we write this, the sky has the unbroken azure of a sky in Italy, and an air whose blandness, if continued, must soon induce the blandness, if continued, must soon induce the tulip family to open their chalices. The streets are filled with lady promenaders, upon whose countenances neither Sol nor Boreas can impress a kiss. Every female face is a face enveloped in a veil. The dry goods people are filling the fronts of their stores with goods of vernal tints. The heavy fabrics are being considered to the repose enjoyed by slotted and signed to the repose enjoyed by skates and furs, sleigh-bells and creepers.

In some parts of the city the cat family is a nuisance which in other sections of the metro-polis is never known. If you immolate one nuisance which in other sections of the metro-polis is never known. If you immolate one you run between the Scylla of the gentle-manly agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the Charybdis of the Board of Health for chucking the defunct Tabby into the street. A square in Queen street, between Third and Fourth, is populated with them to the extent of hundreds. These with them to the extent of hundreds. These nocturnal pests are a preventive even of healthful sleep. To the repose of a person wrestling with fever their yowling is as fatal as an attempt to make a gentleman out of a hog. In our own neighborhood a cat-astrophe is likely to happen to-night. Unless a shilling's worth of arsenious acid has parted with its usual energy, the viscera of a score of victous old Toms will be warranted genuine cat-gut, or the money refunded, between now and the next daylight.

The residence of Mr. Hobbs is at 933 Bainbridge street. Mr. Hobbs and family, last night, attended protracted meeting. As the servant girl had for some time been "under conviction," he took her also. Mr. Hobbs informs us that the entire party had a refreshing time, and that the meeting was "extremely precious." The family had another "refreshing" when they reached their house. Some extremely precious thief had ransacked it from top to bottom. The front door was altright. The marauder had entered by the rear. He carried off a lot of Sheffield platedware, under the evident impression that it was silver. That he must have been frightened off is the opinion of Mr. Hobbs. He bases that opinion upon the fact that the thief left a large lot of wearing apparel on the stairway, previously packed for removal. The value of the plunder is about $150. Mr. Hobbs now desires the thef to be under a different kind of conviction from that with which his servant girl last evening successfully The residence of Mr. Hobbs is at 933 Bain which his servant girl last evening successfully

We recorded the formation of an Alumni We recorded the formation of an Alumn Association of the Jefferson Medical College, last Saturday, by the Alumni of Jefferson College. We then hadn't space to give some remarks to the assemblage by the elder Dr. Gross. The professor appealed to his auditors to verify a statement he was about to make—that the course of medical education in this that the course of medical education in this city had not one inch progressed within the past fifty years. The remark was received with assenting applause. In no whit are we in advance of the last half century. The course of study is too restricted, and the sessions are too short, and he was prepared and authorized by his associates in the faculty to govern that with corresponding action on the authorized by his associates in the lacuity to say, that with corresponding action on the part of the University of Pennsylvania, they would consent to the prolongation of the term of study, and an elevation of the stand-ard of attainment upon which the diploma-shall be contingent. This also was applauded by these present by those present. Chief Engineer Graeff is now investigating the merits of a new wrinkle. It exists in the shape of a new fangled water meter. Several kinds have been gotten up. They are used in most of the large cities. In Philadelphia they have never been introduced. In St. Louis the Worthington meter is used. They are attached to the supply-pipes only of large consumers. As it now is the quantity of water consumed by big establishments can only approximately be ascertained. The Chief will put up one and see precisely how near its useilness can come to par. We this merning encountered a curiosityan intelligent negro who denied the existence of a Supreme Being. He was the first negro infidel we ever met. Our colored friends incline as naturally to piety as they do to whist-ling. Who ever knew a negro to commit suicide? Upon this skeptic done in black morocco, we confess that we looked with exreme aversion.

Our reporter in this connection emphatically takes occasion to pronounce Mr. Gerrish to be the right man in the right place.
