We now have the plains tragedies that was ever enacted on the plains. This time it is the Sioux who are victorious over the Crows. It appears that some time in January a war and stealing party of twenty-eight Crows started over the mountains to prey upon the Sioux. They all went on foot, expecting to steal upon one of the camps, run off some ponies, and then where nearing a village, when suddenly they came upon two young warriors who were out hunting. The Crows saw they were of the changing English agreement of the camps of the camps, run off some ponies, and then when mountains, where, among the narrow defiles, they could hold the enemy in check and make good their escape. It is not an uncommon thing to read or hear satirical remarks apropos of the flood of books that pour from the English presses. "Frivolous," trashy," "worthless," are some of the contemptuous adjectives most frequently met with in that connection. These censures most often emanate from men who have no real means of judging of the mass of modern that they condemn, who are unduly addicted to old authors and old books—in fact are bigots in respect of the undue reverence that they pay to what they call classical and standard works. There are literary critics in England and in this country, and wherever the species is found, an affront, a stranger not to be courteously re also, and that at last the long-wished-for solution of "order and liberty" has been attained.

I think it probable that the permanent appointment of M. Prevost-Paradol to the post of French Minister at Washington may be delayed some time longer. He has just accepted a nomination upon the Education Commission, where his presence and assistance will be highly valuable, and which may necessitate his presence here for some timeto come.

The proposed action of the Roman Council is beginning to engage the serious attention of the new Ministers. The doctrine of the Immaculate Conception was a theoretical and imaginative doctrine, devoid of any practical influence on mundane affairs. But the doctrines of the Syllabus and Papal Infallibility, serice will be the former attempt to lay the aye to the proposed action of the Kormer attempt to lay the aye to the signal to attack. The New Funding Scheme.

Senator Scott, of Pennsylvania, imported into the recent debate in the Senate on the Funding bill something extremely rare and much wanted in that body, namely, genuine financial ability and a thorough knowledge of his subject. It is refreshing to listen to a man lide of the property of the senate of the senate on the financial ability and a thorough knowledge of his subject. It is refreshing to listen to a man lide of the property o financial ability and a thorough knowledge of his subject. It is refreshing to listen to a man who brings to the discussion of the topic he treats, knowledge and information which spring from an intimate acquaintance with it, both practical and theoretical. It is comforting to know also that we still have material in the country of which to make first-class finance ministers, if we but knew where to dook for it.

A good feature of the measure is the privilege it offers to holders of greenbacks to fund them in a four per cent. bond. Not that much will come of it practically, but if at least offers a decent show to the world of some kind of redemption of the now wholly orphaned state of that part of the public debt. The bill also offers to everybody the privilege of banking on the mew four per cents proposed by it; at the same time stipulating that all the currency issued to new banks must be followed by the immediate
