LOCAL CHOWDER.—Free matins were given Local Chowder.—Free matins were given this morning in all the public squares. The soles were sung by our little friends the tomitis; the choruses were done up by the chewits and naturalized sparrows. The March of 1870 to-day departs with a vote of thanks from every invalid among us. To those wrestling with rheumatics it has even been benignant. The improvements in the vicinity of Broad The improvements in the vicinity of Broad and Willow streets are very marked. The enlargement of various factories is under way. Extensive as these premises are, the buildings of Messrs. Baird & Co. are scarcely adequate for their purpose. Of these works the product is a locomotive per day—an achievement that few factories in the United States are able to equal. Messrs. Hoopes & Townsend are about to extend their buildings to a larger area. They will then have the to a larger area. They will then have the most extensive screw and nut factory in the United States. Messrs. Stuart & Peterson, on the opposite corner, have completed the enlargement of their building room. Their counting house possesses all the elegance of a boudoir. Another fine improvement is the malt house at the corner of Front and Margaretta streets. Its owner is Mr. Sweatman. The building was erected under the supervision of Mr. Murphy. To properly build a brewery or malt-house a to a larger area. They will then have the To properly build a brewery or malt-house a man should be a practical malter. In the present case the success is highly marked. At Ninth and Wharton streets the American Quartz Company have what is certainly the finest factory of the kind in the United States. In close contiguity, is now being finished a finest factory of the kind in the United States. In close contiguity is now being finished a factory for the conversion of skimmed milk into German cheese—an institution that has utilized a farm product hitherto fed only to pigs. Every builder in Philadelphia seems to be abundantly employed.

The people of Trinity M. E. Church will receive their new pastor, Rev. Mr. Cleveland, by getting up a sociable. The church is beautifully decorated, and lit up with growing exotics from the private conservatories of some of its members. The occasion promises to be very pleasant. to be very pleasant.

Among the visitors to the reportonial sanctum this morning was a honey bee. They have already found their way to the soda and candy stores. The farmers fountains and candy stores. The farmers around have commenced "spring ploughing."
To our bucolic friends the present is the beginning of the season for backache. For this reason many of them, instead of personally bringing their offerings to the markets, club together in the matter of transportation, and turn their attention to the production of next autumn's crops.

The Tradesmen's Bank has purchased two

The Tradesmen's Bank has purchased two buildings at Third and Chestnut streets. They are erecting upon it a costly structure. We understand that Mr. George W. Childs will soon begin the erection of a palace in white marble at Twenty-second and Walnut streets. The public beneficiaries of the Almshouse are beginning to abscond. They do this by scaling the wall. A three months' deprivation of whisky frequently restores them to their pins. They clear out in spring time and repins. They clear out in spring time and re-turn in the fall. Mr. Steward Henszey doesn't undertake to cut off their retreat. Until we get a House of Correction, most of this pauper labor is labor unexpended.

Queer errors are often made in orthography. Conspicuously posted against a building in Market, near Twenty-second street, is the in-Market, near I wenty-second street, is the In-scription "Old iren, coper and pughter bought here." Josh Billings could have no more oddly distorted the correct mode of spelling. In front of Glenwood Cemetery wall is a post to which various advertising boards have been nailed. One of them read is "Dying done with great care at No. — street." The omission of the letter E in the first word of the sentence is mortuarily as well as approone sentence is mortuarity as well as appropriately suggestive. The chap who painted it is an evident lover of the unities.

The hotels are rapidly filling up. The guests at the Continental last night numbered 425. The people who last night slumbered at the Girard House numbered in the neighborhood of 300. At the American our friend Toronto.

of 390. At the American, our friend Deacon Heulings served breakfast this morning to 204. This is about the capacity of Mr. Heulings's house. Since the Continental was opened its guests have numbered 1,200,000. As we get this information from the veteran hotel reporter, Mr. W. W. Bell, it must be beyond the possibility of mistake. Mr. Bell has probably duplicated more autographs than any other gentleman in his profession. To-morrow will be "All Foels Day." Repetition of the performance of the gentleman who sent us, on last First-of-April, a package of mahogany sawdust labeled "Choice old Mocha," will be punished with a broomstick by our exasperated Biddy. On April 1st, a year ago, we detached from the coat-tails of a dignified elderly gentleman in a double chin and ruffled shirt, who was walking down Chestnut street, an inscription pinned to it by his youngest boy. The good man has since been gathered to his fathers. The observance of St. Valentine's day has fallen into desuctude. That of the first of April will be likely to be continued until the day that all humanity turns Quaker.

The chasm in Walnut street at Twentysecond, has been filled up. Hood says in one of his versifications:

"They went and told the sexton.
And the sexton tolled the bell." In the case of this grievance the sufferers first told the Highway Department. They then told the BULLETIN. The BULLETIN told the Citizens' Association. The Citizens' Asthe Citizens' Association. The Citizens' Association told the Highway Department back again. The Highway Department told the Chestnut and Walnut Streets Railroad Company the job was theirs. The respective parties first fixed the responsibility, and then fixed up the whole hole. This was done during yesterday afternoon. It has probably saved the Coroner at least one labor.

The third anniversary of the Americus Club will be celebrated to-morrow by a grand

Club will be celebrated to-morrow by a grand banquet at Washington Hall, Third street, above Spruce. The club rooms in Fifth street, above Spruce, will be decorated. At night they will be illuminated also. The Liberty Cernet Band will discourse sweet music during the afternoon and evening. The Club intend to make it a gala occasion, on which they will be glad to have the participation of their lady friends.

SHOOTING.—John Shea was before Alderman Kerr, this morning, upon the charge of shooting at Samuel A. Wentz and John J. Heisler, on Bank street, last evening about eight o'clock. A dog belonging to Shea snapped at Mr. Wentz. The latter kicked at the dog. Shea took umbrage at this, drew a revolver and fired. Fortunately the ball did not take effect. Shea was held in one thousand the dog one frame for selling matches with-

A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.—It will be remembered that Mr. Richard Ficken, of the firm of Ficken & Williams, sugar refiners, 416 Crown street, shot a lad named Arthur Curran, in February last, inflicting a severe and, as was at first feared, fatal wound. Mr. Ficken was held to bail in the sum of $17,500, his partner, Mr. Fielding J. Williams, being his security.

The boy has recovered sufficiently to come into Court, and the case was called for trial this morning, before Judge Peirce.

On Ficken being called, he falled to make his appearance, and his recognizances were promptly forfeited, on the motion of the District Attorney.

A bench warrant was issued by Judge Peirce for the defendant, but the officers made a return that he was not to be found, and it is generally understood that the accused has fled the country and gone to Germany. Whether this is actually so, will be determined to-day.

On the preliminary hearings, a heavy bail was excepted on the ground that Mr. Ficken

On the preliminary hearings, a heavy ball was exacted, on the ground that Mr. Ficken had expressed his intention of returning to Germany, but his counsel scouted the idea that he would win away and big reaches the that he would run away, and his partner de-clared that he could not go to Europe for six months.

Among the rumors connected with this affair is one that the father of the wounded boy has received a very considerable sum of money from Ficken, which, together with his bail, will make the shooting of boys in the street a sufficiently expensive business to deter others from following Ficken's example.

Toner, Eliza Bradley, Mary Connell, Harriet Brew, Rosaline Brechemin, Annie Lowry, Lizzie Cuish, Lizzie Barker, Ellie Michel, Alice Patton, Lucy Malin, Laura Burghart and Lena Wiltkorn. The names of fifty-six scholars who were classed as meritorious were also read. classed as meritorious were also read.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.-Richard Ellis CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.—Richard Ellis and John Roberts were arrested, yesterday, on suspicion of having been concerned in the robbery of the store of S. S. Corbin & Co., No. 513 Arch street. About the time the robbery is supposed to have been committed the pirsoners were seen, by Lieutenant Killacky, at Fifth and Race streets, acting in a suspicious manner. Upon being questioned they said that they lived on Race street, near Ninth. An officer was sent with them, and was taken to a house in that locality. The door was opened with a latch-key, and the men went into a room which they said they occupied. into a room which they said they occupied. It was noticed that this room contained a great variety of articles. The defendants were afterwards seen to enter a place on Arch street, which is known as a nest for thieves. When arrested one of them had in his pocket a card containing the words: "Tailor store, Eleventh and Filbert, 80 pieces, $900." It will be remembered that the store of John M. Floyd, on Eleventh street, near Filbert, was robbed on the 8th inst. The accused were before Ald. Kerr, and were committed tor a further hearing. for a further hearing.

DISTILLERY BURNED.—The registered distillery of John Monroe, located in the rear of Broad street, near Cumberland, in the Twenty-eighth Ward, was discovered to be on fire. The building was a large two-storied structure, the largest portion of the walls being stone. It was filled with all of the necessary machinery for carrying on the business for which it was occupied. There was also a apprished a quantity of whistry was also a considerable quantity of whisky, and material for its manufacture, on hand The flames were first seen near the boiler, and they spread very rapidly through the establishment. The entire northern section of the lishment. is liment. The entire northern section of the city was brilliantly illuminated by the light caused by the conflagration, and a number of fire companies proceeded to the scene. There was great difficulty in obtaining water, and therefore the engines were of very little service. The fire continued to burn fiercely for nearly as how. The brilling was computed y gutted an hour. The building was completely gutted.
The contents were destroyed. The frame shed attachments and several large vats met the same fate. The loss is estimated at about $30,000, and is partly covered by insurance.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. James Bisset, a prominent florist of Philadelphia, died suddenly, at an early hour this morning, at his residence on Tasker street, below Fourth. Up to ten o'clock last evening he attended to his business as usual. This morning, upon awakening from his slumber, he complained of not feeling very well, and requested his wife to make him a cup of tea. She did so, and upon returning with it to the bed-room, found him dead. He had been complaining at times for several years, although he was able to transact business. Dr. Andrew Nebinger, the family physician, attributes the death of Mr. Bisset to apoplexy. As a florist, he occupied preminence, and as such is well-known throughout the country.

FIRE AT A MALT-HOUSE.—About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a dense smoke issued from the malt-house of V. C. Sweatman & Co., at Callowhill and New Market streets, and gave rise to an alarm of fire. Several fire companies came upon the ground, but were not permitted to go into service. It seems that one of the kilns used for drying malt took fire. It was in a fire-proof apartment and the doors vere closed until the fire had burned out. If water had been thrown into the building loss would have been serious. As it was the damage amounted to only about $300.

BOLD ROBBERY.-Edward Reynolds and lenry Brown were arrested, last night, at lifth and Shippen streets, upon the charge of ghway robbery. It seems that a German ho was passing along the street was attacked by the accused and knocked down. Reynolds sat on the prostrate man while Brown took $80 from his pocket. The victim yelled lustily, and the police rushed up and captured the robbers. The prisoners will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

—Victor Hugo has furnished to the Paris newspapers a list of the men and women who have, at one time and another, borrowed the name of Hugo, and even Victor Hugo. No. 1 is M. Valère Hugot, a clerk in the Admiralty, who in signing his name omits "Valère," and submits for it the initial "V." He also forgets the final "t" in the surname—"a mistake," says the great French poet, "which once cost me 1,500 francs." No. 2 is Mlle. Joséphine Hugot, daughter of a house-porter in the Rue Chantereine—"played at the Théatre St. Antoine with much success, under the name of Victoire Hugo. Declared to be my natural sister, whom I had abandoned to a life of misery." No. 3 is Adolphe Hugot, a flute-player—"spells his name without the 't,' and is supposed to be my brother."—No. 4 is Féllx Hugot, a tailor—"calls himself on his cards 'F. Hugo,' and passes as my cousin." No. 5 is M. Hugot, an innkeeper at the corner of the entrance to the Parc de Neuilly, who has lately taken to calling himself "Hugo." No. 6 is M.—, an actor-of-all work at Amiens. phine Hugot, daughter of a house-porter was fined one franc for selling matches without a license under the appellation of Victor Hugo.

—The: Colorado Tribune: compliments a brother editor thus: "We are rejoiced to learn that the editor of the Golden City Transtript, (who is a young man of long experience) will establish himself in Denver in the boot-blacking business, prayided sufficient encouragement is given him. He has now a suitable box, but lacks the means of procuring suitable box, but lacks the means of procuring the requisite blacking and brushes for business upon a large scale. A public meeting will doubtless soon be called to see if the funds can be raised to aid him in starting, and a can be raised to aid him in starting, and a committee appointed to solicit subscriptions. He says the people of his present location are extremely anxious to have him remain, and a neighboring town has already promised him ten cents if he will remove there, but he prefers coming to Denver if sufficient encouragement is given."

—A singular accident is reported from Dublin. Colonel Wardlaw was dancing at one of the Viceregal entertainments, when his spur caught in a lady's gown, and he was thrown down with such violence that he fractured his him. More received in the paper of common hip. May we ask, in the name of common sense, what is the use of spurs in a ballroom ?

CITY NOTICES. SPRING FASHIONS IN MILLINERY .- We clip the following notice of the Millinery Opening of yesterday from the Press of this morning: It seemed providential that the day set apart by the getters up of fashionable ladies'-wear, from a decora-tive bouquet to a full blown walking-auit, should have lawned upon us as the most charming and delicious day of the present year. It seemed as if Old Sol had pur-posely reserved all his vernal glories to render the double service of gratifying the benneted and crinelined portion of humanity with a gorgeous" Opening Day," and of enabling our fashionable caterers in these departments to display the products of their skill and taste to the best advantage. From an early hour, until late in he day, our leading business thoroughfares were alive with pedestrians, and wherever a special "Opening" of Ladies' Wear was announced, thither the living current surged and flowed. In the main, the Millinery people, in sporting phrase, had the "inside track." In-deed, we doubt if in the history of Philadelphia Bonnet Openings there has ever been so general an outpouring of the ladies to do homage to the several displays made or their delectation. The prominent old house of Messrs. Cary, Lincoln & Co., No. 725 Chestnut street, was, of course, as usual, the chief centre of attraction. From nine o'clock in the morning until five in the after-moon the capacious show-rooms of this firm were literally thronged with visitors. In former seasons we have witnessed a similar pressure in these warerooms on opening days during the middle of the day; but yesterday it was continuous, prolonged, and unabated. Ladies who called early not only stayed long, in order to enjoy the grand display, but in many instances returned later in the day to confirm their first impressions, that in the history of the millinery business no such superb and varied exhibition of fashionable and stylish bonnets and hats has ever been presented in this city. The scene in this store during presented in this city. The scene in this store during the crowd may be imagined (by persons with a large bump of ideality), but not adequately described. We had hoped to present our fair reader with at least a synoptical setted of the leading features of the opening," but even this is impracticable, from the immense number and endless variety of representative specialties. To undertake, therefore, to describe a few dezen oriso would only mislead. Not only the extraordinary number of hats and bonnets, but the taste-fully-arranged stock of materials, French flowers, luces, numbes, rich trimmings, ribbons and a hundred varieties of cutting materials of all cenceivable colors and tints, conspire to render the scene one of the most picturesque that we have ever witnessed, and one that must forever place this energetic and enterprising firm in the front rank of Millinery-importing houses in this country. observe that hats and bonnets have more size than heretofore. The former especially are lofty, resembling somewhat the graceful Tyrolese Hat of Paris last season. To many ladies this shape is remarkably becoming. In bonuets the number of "exquisite gems" seemed "like the stars for multitude." In colors there is nothing new. Every tint and shade of the rainbow seems to be in order, and several of them often combined in the same article. crepe duchene, which is employed in all colors for trim ming, with varied effects. But not anything that we could say would be half so satisfactory to our readers as the display itself, which we presume may now be said to pended on the road. Eighty-three miles of road are already completed and equipped, and show large carnings; and the remainder of the line is progressing rapidly toward completion. The State of Iowa, through which this road runs, is one of the richest agricultural sections of America. Its large and extending population, and its immense yield of agricultural products, create a pressing demand for the construction of this road.

The road also runs through the fertile and growing State of Minnesota. It traverses the most enterprising and growing portion of the West, and forms the shortest of the great trunk lines in direct communication with New York, Chicaro and St. Louis.
