CITY BULLETIN.

CHOWDER.—The weather clerk to day is in a pet. He this morning sent a snow of half an hour's duration that equalled in volume any snow-fall of the season. He then tantalized snow-fall of the season. He then tantained us with a full-orbed glimpse of a golden sun. He then ordered up his water-pot, and spread himself in a malicious sprinkle. He then peppered us with more snow. He is doing so still. His perversity gives us no surprise. We felt it coming through the premonition of a set of corns that never lie. Barometers may be very valuable. In the integrity of the honest old ache in our left boot is as little discount as in the best thermometer in McAldiscount as in the best thermometer in McAl-

Business in Chestnut street is again moving westward. The demolition of residences No. 1416 and 1418 Chestnut street was this morning commenced. In their stead will arise two stately stores. Not many years ago Mr. James Kerr was derided for building China Hall opherr was derided for building China Hairopposite the State House. The then inhabitants looked upon the enterprise as building "too far out of town." The only trouble is that Wm. Penn didn't foresee what was to be the growth of the city, and so lay out Chestnut street that its architectural beauties could be continued without the danger of twisting off scrutinized without the danger of twisting of

The summer course of lectures at Jefferson Medical College was inaugurated at noon to-Medical College was manugurated at noon to-day by the opening lecture of the junior Pro-fessor Gross—a young gentleman who already shares the mantle of his father. If any doctor can earn fifty dollars by smiling at a broken ankle or shaking his head over a fractured knee-pan, that Doctor is Prof. S. W. Gross. In knee-pan, that Doctor is Prof. S. W. Gross. In the prescriptions of a medical man, whose mere prescrice is a palliative to the pangs of a patient, there can't certainly be lack of efficacy. We this morning enjoyed a distinguished compliment. One lady pointed out the writer to the other, sotto roce, as the "Chowder man of the Evening Bulletin." The lady was as beautiful as any Houri that ever inspired the dreamfof a Mussulman. We'd willingly give a week's revenue for the privilege of changing places with her breastpin. places with her breastpin.

Many years ago two business signs on Front street stores read respectively "James Schott," "Jonathan Fell." "James shot and Jonathan fell" was a smile-provoking reading in that day, well remembered by many who read this now. Mr. Fell was some years since gathered to his fathers. The useful and honorable life to his fathers. The useful and honorable life of Mr. Schott has passed its 86th year. It is unruffled by a single cloud. A truer heart than his never yet pulsed in human breast. He was the first President of the Girard Bank. He retired, leaving the capital whole, and a surplus of about half a million.

Rev. Dr. Wadsworth said, last night, that he was in favor of congregational singing, provided a congregation "knew how to sing." What he didn't like was to hear music from a what he dan't like was to hear husic from a people in which every man selects his own tune. The sermon in which he made this remark was upon the subject of the organ. The instrument was "wetted" on the week before, What Dr. Wadsworth wants is either the best singing or none at all.

MONUMENTAL ART.—Laurel Hill is, per-langs, the bandsomest place of burial in the country. The grounds are in a beautiful loca-tion and are tastefully laid out. In the way of handsome tombstones and large and imposing monuments it, can scarcely be surpassed. In a short time the monument to be Baldwin will be placed in position there. It was executed at the marble works of Struthers was executed at the market works of structures & Son, No. 1922 Market street, and is now receiving the finishing touches. It will be the largest monument in Laurel Hill, and in beauty and workmanship none there now will surpass it. It is cut out of Manchester marble, in the Doric style of architecture, and will in the Doric style of architecture, and will stand thirty-three feet high. The die is highly ornamental and beautifully carved. The en-tire work is one of which Philadelphia may justly feel proud.

At the same establishment, a beautiful tablet intended for the adornment of the grave of Rov. James Gilborne Lyons has just been completed. The design is novel, and one not often seen in this country. The tablet is of Dove marble, which is inlaid with mosaic work on brass a half inch in thickness. Upon the latter the name, age. &c., of the deceased are inscribed. The work has been well executed, and has been greatly admired by all who have justly feel proud. and has been greatly admired by all who have

For the Philadelphia Lincoln Monument, designed by Mr. Randolph Rogers, and now being cast in Munich, the base is now in proat the works of Struthers & Son. It is gress at the works of Struthers & Son. It is of Quincy granite, and will be eight feet square and ten feet thick. The sides are highly polished. The front one bears the inscription—"To Abraham Lincoln, from a Grateful People." Each of the other three has upon it an appropriate motto, selected from the messages of the martyred President. But little work remains to be done on the base and it will be ready to be placed in position as soon as the statue arrives.

In addition to the works mentioned, there are now being executed at the same establishment, a number of small but neat and hand rome mantel ornaments of unique design, in-tended for the mansion of a gentleman well known for his zealous encouragment of Philadelphia artists.

Bold Theft.—A man bought a pair of shoes at Seventh and Shippen streets on Saturday night. As he left the store the shoes were taken from him by Thomas Cunningham and John Bradley, who then ran away. The thieves were subsequently captured, and were sent to prison by Alderman Bondaley.

OBTUARY.—Every one who knew Mr. Edwin N. Thayer will feel regret upon learning that, at two o'clock this morning, that estimable gentleman breathed his last. He died at his residence, No. 261 Madison street, with the tranquillity of infancy, and in full possession of all his faculties.

An appointment as midshipman being offered to him, he accepted it, but the profession palled upon his tastes. He relinquished it for the stage. It was then known as the Franklin; it is the present Chatham Theatre, very materially enlarged. Here Mr. Thayer laid the foundation of his reputation as an eccentric comedian—a reputation that afterwards took him to the Park Theatre, patronized by the élite of that metropolis. In various theatres in this city he was a general favorite. He retired from the stage when the Walnut Street Theatre passed into the possession of Messrs. Clarke & Booth. The immediate cause of his death was hemorrhage from the viscera, of which the attacks had been frequent for some years past. He married the well-known actress, Mrs. Fisher. COSTUME ESTABLISHMENT BURNED.—On Saturday evening, between six and seven o'clock, a fire occurred in the fancy costume establishment of A. Rothe & Co., in the second and third stories of building No. 240 North Eighth. Mr. Rothe was engaged in painting a donkey at the time. He was near the stove. By some unknown means a rag took fire and followers the paint. In a few seconds the fell among the paint. In a few seconds the flames flashed through the entire room. In the second story were the costumes for males and in the third story those for females. No alarm in the third story those for females. No alarm was given, but several fire companies were soon on the ground and extinguished the fire before any serious damage had been done to the building. The stock of Rothe & Co. was almost entirely burned up. What was not injured by fire was ruined by water. The loss is estimated at $10,000. Upon this there is an insurance of $4,500 in four New York companies.

THE LADIES' SOROSIS CLUB, of New York, recently changed their discussions from Woman' Suffrage to Hair Preparations and Pimple Banishers. They declared that, where nature had not endowed them with beauty, it was their right-yea, their duty-to seek it where they could. So they all voted that Magnolia Balm overcame Sallowness, Rough Skin and Ringmarks, and gave to the complexion a most distingue (Sorosian) and marble-like appearance (dangerous to men, no doubt); and that Lyon's Kathairon made the Hair grow thick, soft and awful pretty, and moreover pre-vented it from turning gray. If the proprietors of these articles did not send the sisters an invoice they are not emart.
