CITY BULLETIN. 'THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA JUNIOR EXHIBITION.—We regret that our limited space forbids us to do full justice to the Junior exhibition held yesterday at Musical Fund Hall.—It had peculiar claims upon our regard, as being the first entertainment of the kind conducted under the auspices of the students, and curiosity drew an immense audience to witness the result of the experiment. We believe it was generally acknowledged that the whole thing was an unqualified success. To our mind it surpassed any former exhibi-tion of our college. The young men spoke earnestly and unaffectedly. Their thoughts and oratory were their own, and characterized by a freshness and vigor quite unprecedented in the history of these festivals. We congratulate the class of 71 most heartily. They were the first class-organization to hazard an experi-ment of which many prophesied the failure, and now that it is successful, we look to see it bacome a matter of college. Custom. We ment of which many prophesied the failure, and now that it is successful, we look to see it become a matter of college_custom. We subjoin a brief extract from the speech of Mr. Newton B. Keim, and would be glad if we could find space for the whole of it. His sub-ject was "A Here," and the hero was John Brown. The address was decidedly the best of the accession of the occasion :

of the occasion: "Respect and obedience to the civil law are requisite for the safety of society and the per-petuation of individual rights. This general principle is given by moralists and ac-knowledged in all civilized communities. But, be it remembered, it is not absolute knowledged in all civilized communities. But, be it remembered, it is not absolute. There is a feeling inherent in the minds of all that law should be consistent with absolute right. There is in men's minds a fundamental conviction that a higher law exists to which they are bound to conform their actions—a conviction that law should be not only ordered, conviction that law should be not only ordered, but just; that there is not only a positive law made by man for man's obedience, but a natural law superior in its origin and in its commands. Hence when the positive law defends what the natural law condemns, when the positive law commands what the natural law forbids, or in any case in which they may conflict, morality requires that the natural law should be obeyed. In such case what reverence for the laws. He learns from his reverence for the laws. He learns from his reverence for the laws. He learns from his religion to obey the law—but not absolutely— to Casar the things that are Casar's, to God 'the things that are God's. To the State obedience and sufferance as long as the State requires of him nothing which conflicts with his own natural absolute rights, or with those of his fellow-men. Further government can-not command or people obey."

LOCAL CHOWDER.—If rain doesn't drop within forty-eight hours our corns will have uttered their first lie. Judge Paxson is indisposed to trifle with nttered their first file. Judge Paxson is indisposed to trifle with highwaymen. In yesterday sentencing Henry Brown and Edward Reynolds, he said: "I am determined that, so far as the exercise of my office is concerned, the streets of Phila-delphia shall be safe for all persons, by day and by night." These highwaymen willspend in the penitentiary the next eight years. The drives in the Park are getting dry. The scene presented in it yesterday was especially animated. We never saw a prettier picture dressed in paniers and hair-plaiting. To gaize upon it was enough to "bust" the heart of a bachelor. It raised extrescences all over our disposition about the size of "double-cylinder" doughnuts. What we re-gret is that Thirty-fifth street, from the bridge upward, is impassable. As this street leads to the main entrance of the Park, its condition is a disgrace to the authorities. Upon this sub-ject too much cannot be said. THE ADDUCTION, CASE.—Yesterday after-ject too much cannot be said. THE ABDUCTION, CASE.—Yesterday after-noon Chief Mulholland sent the following des-patch to Dr. Cessna, Rocky Springs, Claiborne county, Mississippi, in reference to the little girl, an account of whose abduction was pub-lished in the BULLETN of yesterday: "The Mayor has placed in my charge a little girl named Sallie Cessna, aged ten years, said to be from Mississippi, and sup-posed to be your daughter. Is this so, and what shall I do in the matter ?" The nearest telegraph station to Rocky Springs

The nearest telegraph station to Rocky Springs is Port Gibson, and the operator at that place

RESTORATION.—The Rev.: Dr. Wadsworth's Church, Tenth and Filbert streets, which was last summer seriously injured by the burning of the organ; has, as, the, Christian Intelligencer of this week notices, " been internally and ex-ternally restored to its original simplicity and architectural beauty." While we at all times entertain a pride in referring to the architec-ture of our public buildings, every one will be architectural obsatty. While we at an entited entertain a pride in referring to the architec-ture of our public buildings, every one will be struck with the distinguished contrast in the interior appearance of this House of God with that of many of our churches. The architect, Thos. W. Walter, Eag., has sudoeeded in not per-mitting the smallest change from the original Doric style of architecture. The organ case is a correct duplicate of the original and the instrument itself ranks with the best as to capacity and quality of tone. Prof. A. R. Taylor has charge of the music, and is by his interest in this choir especially increasing his popularity as an artist in this department of music. Dr. W. has already and continues to witness the effect of his efficiency as a pastor by the increase of the members and large at-tendance uniformly. CITY MORTALITY.—The number of inter-

CITY MORTALITY .- The number of inter-CITY MORTALITY.—The number of infor-ments in the city for the week ending at noon to-day was 328, against 271 the same period last year. Of the whole number 162 were adults and 166 children—73 being under one year of age; 177 were males; 151 females; 98 ooys, and 68 girls. The number of deaths in each Ward was

LIVE WHILE YOU LIVE.—The American Ho tel restaurant is an institution that reflects upon Deacon Hewlings, its proprietor, the greatest possible credit. What it confers upon its proprietor, it confers also upon its Superintendent, Mr. Charles McShane. It has given a bill of fare during Lent that would suit the palate of a bishop, while its prize beef and other fat things have continually de-lighted ourselves and the rest of the heathens. Mr. McShane gets the first offerings of the season. As a matter of corresponding princiseason. As a matter of corresponding principle, he catches the first April cold. The salads at the American render lobsters and chickens almosts infully proud.

THE LEGISLATIVE war and emancipation THE LEGISLATIVE war and emancipation record of the Hon. Jas. M. Dick, at Camden N. J.

Pugh, manager of the Star Course of Lec-tures, announces the lecture of Senator Revels, tures, announces the lecture of Senator Reveal, for Thursday next, at Horticultural Hall. He then drew a razor and threatened to cut the throat of Mr. Span. It was expected that he would get frightened and run away. CITY NOTICES.

SPRING FASHIONS IN BONNETS AND HATS -One of the most readable and entertaining articles imaginable might be written by taking the popular hashion-plates of Messre. Thos. Kennedy & Brothers, proprietors of the great millinery establishment, No 729 Chestnut street, as a text; and we are almost tempted to enter upon an extended description of these plates, and the elegant Hats and Bonnets which they represent. But the task would be illimitable; and besides, the polite and efficient clerks in their establishment can do this much better than we can. The recent "Opening" of these gentlemen was an unparalleled success; so much so that they have de-termixed to continue it through another week, during which additional novelties will be daily presented. A hady customer in their store yesterday remarked in our hearing that she had visited all the leading millinery establishments in New York without having seen as large a collection of new, choice, and becoming hats and bonnets in the whole of them combined as this single house now presents. Their Trimming department, also, is a wonder of completeness, rivaling anything in the French capital, while their prices are astonishingly the French capital, while their prices are astonishingly inoderate. In ribbons, elegant sashes, French flowers, and all the most exquisite things in the millinery line, we doubt if the present stock of Messrs. Kennedy & Brother has ever been equivaled in America. This is a practical "item " for the ladies.
