At the Arch, to-night, Frou-Frou will be repeated. Mrs. Drew announces for early presentation a series of old English comedies. For her benefit, to night, at the Walnut, Mrs. Chas. Walcot offers a splendid bill, including The Heir at Law, Bob Nettles, and Eustache. Mrs. Walcot is a charming actress, and she deserves to have a crowded house.
As she is a great favorite with the public, there is little doubt that the audience will be immense. Her success in this entertainment cannot be as great as her deserts.

-At the Walnut Street Theatre, this week, mentits will be given as follows: To-night, benefits will be given as follows: To-night, Mrs. Chas. Walcot; Tuesday, Mr. W. H. Bailey; Wednesday, Mr. T. J. Hemphill, the business manager; Thursday, Mr. Simon Hassler, the musical director; Saturday, Mr. Lovis Morrison. Lewis Morrison.

At the Chestnut, this evening, Mrs. Oates' burlesque company will appear in the burlesque, The Field of the Cloth of Gold.

The American Theatre announces for this evening a first-rate variety entertainment. -At the Eleventh Street Opera House, to-night, a new burlesque of Frou-Frou, The French Dancing-master, and a good minstrel entertainment. At the Seventh Street Opera House, Messrs. Duprez and Benedict offer a first-class negro minstrel performance, with a number of new burlesques, songs, dances, &c.

The Pilgrim panorama will be exhibited at Concert Hall this evening. This exhibition is one of the most successful ever offered in —Signor Blitz, Jr., will give an exhibition of magic and legerdemain, at the Assembly Buildings, to-night and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. _John B. Gough will give a lecture at the Academy of music, this evening, upon the subject of "Eloquence and Orators;" under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. Tickets can be obtained at Ashmead's, No. 724 Chestnut street.

CITY BULLETIN.

Modern Wrinkles—No. 2.—Everybody knows the significance, in the chaplet of Somnus, of the ponpy and the hop. From the days of Æsculapius and Galen, the sleepless and the suffering have resorted to them for relief. When Apicius imbibed too freely of Falernian, in all probability the doctors prescribed the identical tincture of hop or the poppy that constitutes the anodynes for the same excesses produced by too close intimacy with Bourbon or old Otard at the present day.

The hop and the poppy, within a very short period, have been superseded by a sedative that must render forever blessed the name of its discoverer. Since the Ark landed upon Ararat the world has sought in vain for some-thing that would produce natural sleep and leave no reaction at the period of wakening. All sleep-producing agents hitherto known to the old school have been so preductive of pernicious after-consequences that medical men prescribed them only because the malady was sufficiently desperate to warrantit. Five years ago we well remember an advertisement in a daily paper announcing the disappearance from home and place of business of a well-known Philadelphia brewer, and offering a reward for any information con-cerning him. For two days and a half he had been seen by nobody. On a hot summer after-noon he had gone to the loft of his brewery and stretched himself upon a bale of hops. Somnolence overcame him, and during the period above named he never woke nor changed his position. He was found and aroused by an employé visiting the loft in or-der to obtain material for the next day's brewing. How much longer he would have slept we cannot tell. We had no chance to ask the hops.

Sleep has been brought to many a painracked person by simply resting upon a 'hop pillow.' Like virtue or vice, however, the habit grows upon you. What was effectual at first in but small amount, becomes effectual only in excessive quantity. It ultimately loses all remedial effect, just as conscience does af-ter you once stifle it.

What is true of the product of the hop is true also of that of the poppy. The drug that was at first taken as a narcotic remedy, is liable to be resorted to as a destructive necessity The "Modern Wrinkle" to which we refer is superseding the use of both. It was discovered by Baron Liebig, in 1832. A knowledge of its therapeutic value has but just reached this country. That know-ledge was first discovered in France, and but a short time since. The French school but a short time since. The French school don't blazon medical discoveries to the world until their value is beyond all peradventure. If Doctor Crapeau makes a mistake, he doesn't make it in this direction.

The other day we saw a lady enter a drug store with a prescription by a physician. It called for a single article, "chloral hydrate." The apothecary, who is among the most respectable in Philadelphia, put on his glasses and conned over the prescription. He first turned to his text hoose than head to the and conned over the prescription. He first turned to his text books, then back to the prescription. He was evidently nervous. The lady took the infection, and became nervous any took the infection, and became nervous also. "Is anything wrong with that prescription?" she anxiously inquired. "Really, madam, I am unable to say," replied the evidently puzzled druggist; "I have been in the business for 40 years, and never before heard of what is named here." "What shall I do, sir ?" was the next query. "Madam, my son is a physician; he has been so for fifteen years; permit me to show this to him." The permission was granted; the doctor was as much puzzled as the apothecary. The trouble with both gentlemen was that, unlike newspaper reporters and other rich and learned men, they weren't "read up."

This brings the said reporter squarely down to "Choral Hydrate." It isn't even yet made in this country. When its value was first announced there was no supply of it in Philadelphia. Every physician who read of it substituted it in his prescriptions for morphine and all kindredsleep producers hitherto employed. We are told that one druggist's stock of it was swept away within something like two days, and what is true of one store is true of all. It and what is true of one store is true of all. It is a liquid, produced by passing chrorine through absolute alcohol. As we have before stated, it is the greatest boon given to the world since the discovery of ether or nitrous-oxide gas. It lulls frightful pains, produces sleep as natural as the sleep of healthful infancy, and for the waking hours leaves no sting behind. To a great many people all preparations of opium are productive of distressing results. The tendency in them is conducive to frenzy rather than tranquillity. In cases of delirium tremens death has often resulted rather from the narcotic effects of opium than the direct the narcotic effects of opium than the direct effects of the disease. A physician tells us he has allayed the earlier stages of this malady in a space of time so short as to shelve morphia in its treatment forever afterwards.

We had the curiosity to verify this by personal inquiry. "Chloral" is blessed by every physician who has thus far used it, and every invalid whose sleep has been the result opiates and whose brain has been addled by morphine will bless the discovery of our "Modern Wrinkle" No. 2—Chloral Hydrate.

THE BEDFORD STREET MISSION.—At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Bodfort Street Mission, held last Friday evening, the following officers were elected for the chaung year: Charles Spencer, President; Geo. Millikin, First Vice President; James Long Second Vice President: Geo. Perken-Long, Second Vice President; Geo. Perken-pine, Treasurer; Jno. A. Pilley, Secretary; Wm. H. Smethurst, Corresponding Secretary; Rev. J. D. Long, Missionary. The following new Managers were elected: Clement A. Biddle, Chas. S. Hinchman, W. L. Welsh, J. Hinckley Clark, Wm. C. Bakes, Chas. E. Lex, R. S. Spencer.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT.—YesterFay morning President Grant attended worship at Rev. Dr. Wadsworth's Church, Tenth and Filbert streets, in company with General
Cox, Secretary of the Interior, and Geo. W.
Childs, Esq. During last evening and this morning he remained in his room, and was visited by a number of gentlemen. At noon to-day he left for Washington, accompanied by General Belkinap, Secretary of War; Gen.
Cox, Secretary of the Interior, and Generals
Forter and Dent.

Local Chowden.—Rain again to-day—our put corn never lies. People who can't afford a harometer should order up a pair of tight boots and rig themselves out with a set of corns. "A sure oure or the money refunded."

The order yesterday was "the wearing of the green." At ten o'clock mass, yesterday "palm." previously blessed, was distributed in all the Catholic churches. What was true of palms on last Sunday will be true of holy water on Sunday next. The gloom of Lent will then give way to the festivity of Easter. Porgles will take a back seat, and sirloins laugh for joy.

Porgles will take a back seat, and sirloins laugh for joy.
Country places are very often like white elephants. Before moving to the suburbs people must first conquer their hankering for the opera, and the preaching of their favorite pastor. Mr. J. Eastburn Mitchell can do neither. For this reason, in another column will be found advertised for sale his Eden-like villa at Chestnut Hill. Every time Mr. Mitchell had a thousand dollars that he didn't know what else to do with, he spent it in beautifying these grounds. The consequence is that the house suffers from "modern conveniences," while the shrubbery and graperies would distress even the opulence of Shenstone.

Litigation, like other grades of misery, makes people acquainted with strange bed-fellows. In the United States Court of Equity, Judges Cadwalader and McKena on the Judges Cadwalader and McKena on the bench, an application for an injunction was this morning heard. Mr. Thomas Dolan is the proprietor of the Keystone Knitting Mills, in Kensington. He gets up a very elaborate external garment, entitled the Bedouin. In front it is a shawl. In its rear it is a cloak. As a whole, it is an oblong. The originality of the affair is claimed to centre in the peculiarity of a pucker, got-originality of the affair is claimed to centre originality of the affair is claimed to centre in the peculiarity of a pucker, gotten up by a concealed belt. Mr. Martin Landenberger is another manufacturer who has gotten up a cloak with a pucker. At hearing this Mr. Dolan got his back up. He sued for an injunction. At the hearing of the plea this morning three lay figures were produced with a corresponding number of the garments in question. Counsellor Biddle represented Mr. Landenberger, while the logic of Mr. George Harding was lavished upon the praises of the invention of Mr. Dolan. The laugh came in when the respective counsel tried on the garments in question, and personally and practically illustrated the adjustibility of the panier bustle. Judge McKennansmiled as Mr. Harding spoke Judge McKennam smiled as Mr.Harding spoke while Judge Cadwalader suggested that the words of the learned lawyers were sufficiently suggestive. The decision will be given to-

ROBBERY ON ARCH STREET.—Late last Saturday night, the store of Messrs. Casselberry & Cadwallader, No. 830 Arch street, was closed for the night. Mr. Cadwallader was the last to leave. "As he served three years in the army, and retired with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, he very naturally inclines to seeing everything right before depositing the keys in the pocket of his walking coat. He departed, leaving two gas-jets burning. He left his loaded revolver upon a counting-room desk. Yesterday morning at nine o'clock he was passing his store. Something suggested to him that a look inside would do no harm. That "something" proved to be correct. He perceived that "somebody had been there perceived that "somebody had been there since he was gone," and that preparations had evidently been made for a wholesale removal of the stock of the firm during last night. A back window had been pried open. A hasty inventory showed that through that window had disappeared 80 to 85 dozens of Empress kid gloves, in blacks, whites, colored and partly colored, 5 pieces black mohairs, 12 pieces white mohairs, 2 pieces white mohairs, 2 pieces white mohairs, 2 pieces white work and Col. Cadwallader's Smith & Wesson's revolver. The total loss is about $1,000. The gloves were in boxes, containing 9 dozens each. gloves were in boxes, containing 9 dozens each. The thieves didn't take the boxes. They wisely made a bundle of the gloves. In their retreat they left everything as if untouched. They even bolted the back gate, by which they had entered the spoliated premises. Col. Cadwallader laid in ambush for them all last night. It is unnecessary to say that they didn't re-turn. Private Detectives Smith and Taggert have the matter in hand. From the known ability of these officers we shouldn't be sur-

SERIOUS ASSAULT.—John Smith lives in a house No. 513 Norris street. Yesterday he got into a quarrel with another man who is also domiciled there. Smith called this man names. He was retorted upon with—"You are a d— Dutch——." Smith couldn't stand this. He pitched into the other fellow. The first blow was under the ear, and laid out his adversary Then the latter was kicked several times. The result of the assault was the fracture of two ribs. The combatants were finally separated by an old woman. The belligerent Smith was arrested, and after a hearing before Alderman Heins, was held in $500 bail for a trial on the charge of assault and battery.

THE CAVALRY CORPS ORGANIZATION.—The Society of the Cavalry Corps of the Army of the Potomac has been organized by the election of the following officers: President-Major-General Alfred Pleason

Vice President-General Chas. L. Fitzhugh. Secretary—Col. G. W. Whitehead.

Treasurer—Major R. R. Corson.

All officers or soldiers who desire to join the corps can do so by sending their name, rank, and address, with $2, to Major Corson, at Norristown, Pa.

Suspicion of Arson.—On Saturday evening a fire occurred at the "Oriental Store," No. 1306 Chestnut street. The flames were discovered and extinguished before any serious damage had been done. The origin of the tire is rather mysterious, and Max Musgrade, Benota Pasha, Israel Hasson and Francis Elwan, who are said to be proprietors of the store, were arrested by Lieut Gercke and Sergeant Lynch on suspicion of arson. They were taken before Ald. Jones, and were held for a further hearing.

House Roberty.—The house of Cyrus Cartledge, No. 612 Federal street, was entered by forcing open a back door last evening, while the family were at church, and was completely ransacked. Closets were opened, bureau-drawers forced open and trunks broken into. A few articles of jewelry and some articles of silverware were stolen. Other things were gathered together for removal, but the occu-pants of the house interfered with this little arrangement by returning before the thieves got through with their work.

WAS IT A JOKE ?-On Saturday night Hugh Boyle was observed acting in a suspicious manner about the door of a house on Edgemont street, above Somerset. He was nabbed by a policeman. It was then discovered that lioyle had scattered red pepper on the step. and was engaged in blowing it under the door. He couldn't assign any reason for doing this dingular act. He was taken before Alderman Neill, who placed him under $1,000 bail on the charge of malicious mischief.

STORE ROBBERY.—This morning, about four o'clock, the bulk window of the store of S. Abeles & Co., No. 115 North Ninth street, was broken open. Policeman McMahon, who was in the neighborhood, heard the crash of glass, and started in the direction from which temanated. He observed three men running on Arch street, and pursued them. At Ninth street a passenger car passed between pur-suer and pursued, and the officer lost sight of the fugitives. The thieves got two pieces of ribbon valued at $12. Suicide.-About nine o'clock on Saturday evening, as the ferry-boat was leaving the slip at the lower side of Market street, a neatly at the lower side of Market street, a neatly-dressed man passed on to it. After the boat had proceeded a few yards, this man walked to the edge, took a lingering look at the city, exclaimed, "Good bye, Philadelphia!" and leaped into the water. The act was so sudden and unexpected, that the suicide disappeared before assistance could be afforded him. His name is unknown. The body has not been recovered.

THAT ADDUCTION CASE.—The particulars of the abduction of the little girl named Cessna from her home in Mississippi, and the finding of her in Manayunk by Lieutenant Cessna from her home in Mississippi, and the finding of her in Manayunk by Lieutenant Kelly, have already been published in the Bulletin. A reply to the despatch sent to the father of the child, Dr. Robert A. Cessna, by Chief Mulholland, was received on Saturday. Dr. Cessna telegraphs: "Keep my child at all hazards. I start immediately."

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.—Judge McKennan has appointed Col. Samuel Bell Clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States, in place of Judge Benjamin Patton, resigned. No better appointment could have been made. Col. Bell is well and favorably known in the city, and as Deputy Naval Officer has discharged his duties very satisfactorily. He will be just as efficient and popular in his new position.

FRIGHTENED OFF .- The dwelling of Chas Cox, No. 602 East Dauphin street, was broken into between 5 and 6 o'clock on Saturday evening. The thieves were frightened of before they had secured any plunder.

The back shutter of a house at Thirteenth and Kates streets was forced open about two o'clock this morning, but the robbers got nothing for their trouble.

JUVENILE FIRE-RUNNERS.—On Saturday night the Fifth District Police made a raid upon juveniles who run with fire apparatus at the time of alarms of fire. Twenty-five boys, whose ages range from 11 to 15 years, were captured. They were locked up for a few hours, and then reprimanded and discharged.

LOST HIS MONEY.—William Price, who resides up town, got in the neighborhood of Seventh and Bainbridge streets on Saturday night. He fell in with Ellen Patterson. She escorted him to her house. While there he alleges that he was robbed of $20. Ellen was arrested. Alderman Bonsall heard the case and sent her to Moyamensing.

STOLE A FROCK.-Charles Roedman, Elizabeth McCabe and Elizabeth Kennety were arrested yesterday on the charge of having stolen a frock from Kelly's tavern, at Seventh and Bedford streets. They were committed by Ald. Bonsall.

SUSPICION OF ROBBERY.—Walter Roller has been committed by Ald. Kerr on suspicion of having robbed a house in the vicinity of Thirteenth and Catherine streets. FOUND OPEN.—During last night the Eighth District Police found seven doors unfastened.

COUNTRY SEAT FOR SALE.—Mr. Samuel Mason offers for sale his comfortable and convenient residence, on the line of the North Pennsylvania Railroad, near Fisher's Lane Station. The grounds surrounding the man-sion are beautifully laid out. A description of this handsome place will be found in the ad-vertising columns of the BULLETIN.

So they all voted that Magnolia Balm overcame Sallowness, Rough Skin and Ringmarks, and gave to the complexion a most distingue (Sorosian) and marble-like appearance (dangerous to men no doubt); and that Lyon's Kathairon made the Hair grow thick, soft and awful pretty, and moreover prevented it from turning gray.
