FROM NEW YORK. THE STANDARI

MR. YOUNG'S SALUTATORY INDEPENDENT OF POLITICS The Paper to be a High-Toned Journal A DUEL BETWEEN JOURNALISTS

FROM NEW YORK. . [By the American Press Association.] ... The New York Standard." New York, April 30.—Mr. John Russell Young's paper, The New York Standard, issued this morning shows itself able at once to enter the field of Metropolitan journalism both in the variety of its news, telegraphic and local, and its advertisements, the latter occupying fourteen columns. It is well supplied by the American Press Association with its news m all parts of the world.

AMBIGAN PRESS ASSOCIATION WITH Its news from all parts of the world.

Mr. Young's salutatory says: "It will be the aim of the New York Standard to be independent in politics, to meet every question and fairly discuss it, to represent advanced liberal thought and give every cause, no matter how weak, an impartial hearing. Believing there is patriotism and public virtue in all parties, it will seek to foster what is good, and criticles whatever may be corrupt and false and debasing. What is generally called a platform or statement of principles will scarcely be expected. The true journal has a mission of its own. When it becomes a mere instrument of any party or sect or faction; and swayed hither and thither by every breath or passion or anger, it degrades itself and is as little heeded as a common scold or the town erier: if I have any ambition in this newspaper, or any hope in its future, it is because I am sure that a journal seeking always to be independent, courteons and intrepid, must attain the highest and truest success.

given the greater part of my life, and in the pursuit of which I hope to do whatever work may be before me."

Referring to the insimuation of the Brooklyn Eagle that "Mr. Young would settle a large account with Mr. Dana," the editorial says: "As to our 'account' with Mr. Dana, it is good enough to stand. It does not give us the least 'anxiety and is by no means pressing, and must yield to more imperative duties. This we will say, however, in a general way, that the very least of the feelings which prompted the foundation of this newspaper were those inspired by Mr. Dana's war upon its editor; for, considering Mr. Dana as a man with a family Dana's war upon its editor; for, considering Mr. Dana as a man with a family o support and charged with the earning of his laily bread, we are bound to believe that he earns it in the way most agreeable to his feelings. The wars of journalism are very distasteful to us. Better that all this printed paper should resolve itself back to lamp-black and rags, than that it should be made a literary muck-heap, a festering, killing and blighting mass of corruption and death."

Journalism in Texas is in a flourishing condition, if we may judge from the weekly paper published at Palestine in that State, which is published at Palestine in that State, which is devoted to religion, science, news, and the practical business of life." and has for its motto "My Country's Banner!—Ever may it wave—O'er the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave!!!" This is very good, indeed, and we are glad that there is such enthusiasm over the "Country's Banner" in Palestine. It is, kowever, the devotion of the paper to religion, science, and news, that pare The next bill was the Senate bill to authorize appeals in criminal cases from the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to the Supreme Court of the United States.

It was opposed by Mr. Ingersoll, who declared it was really a bill for the roles of the Baltimore and Ohio Bailroad, which had been declared a nuisance within the city limits by the first named Court. He moved to lay it on the table. Agreed to vers 94, nays 32. paper to religion, science, and news, that par-ticularly calls for admiration. Its devotion is not an empty boast.
