Herod the Great built a spleudid temple in this place, the ruins of which still remain. "Philip, the tetrarch of Ituria, and of the region of Trachonitis" (Luke, 3, i.) rebuilt or enlarged the city, and called it Cæsarea, in honor of Augustus, and added his own name to it to distinguish it from another Casarea on the sea-coast. But the Roman name has faded away, and the original Greek -Paneas, or Banias-is that by which it is now known. The point of greatest interest about the place to the Christian traveler is its connection with our Saviour's history. It was the northern terminus of His toilsome journeyings. We read in Matthew, 16., xiii., that "He came into the coasts of Cusarea Philippi." Here He asked His disciples what men said about

The United States Marshal received a telegram last night from Washington that the Government will not pay for their transportation home, but that the expense must be borne by the State government.

This was unexpected, as at the time of the other Fenian raid four years ago the Government willingly offered to pay the transportation bill of returning Fenians. Colonel Purther intelligence from General Donnelly, who is still at Franklin, says that he is falling very fast, and is not likely to live very long. The bullet still remains in his thigh, and cannot be removed.

After the engagement at Richards' farm, and the Penians had pretty much all left Franklin, some of the Canadian troops came to this side of the line and seized a piece of artillery and a large quantity of arms and ammunition that had been abandoned. Marshal Foster has or will make a formal demand for its return, All the reports say that he has made the demand, and the reply was that he only could have it at the point of the bayonet.

Totoon of the Canadian troops came to the demand, and the reply was that he only could have it at the point of the bayonet.

Totoon of Nay 27.—The movement at Hunningdon began at 5 A. M. The Fenlaus constituted breastworks of rails across a field on the north bank of Trout river, and at 8.33 the Canadian troops came up and opened fire. The Fenlaus fired a few shots and took to their beeks, being pursued to the boundary line, where their officers displayed revolvers and attempted to form them into line, but it was fullcless.
