Swedenborgian Convention

SECOND DAY.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock this morning, and was called to order by the President. The session was opened by devotional exercises, under the direction of Rev. Jos. Pettee, of Boston. After calling the roll, the minutes of the previous session were read and ap-

A spirited discussion then occurred on a resolution which was offered inviting "new churchmen" in the vicinity to the administration of the Holy Supper to-morrow after-

Thomas Hitchcock, Esq., objected to the inviting of any particular congregations to the supper. He thought that all holders of the new Church doctrines should be perfectly free to come to the supper without invitation, that this supper is not our property, and not a private entertainment to which we have a right to issue special invitations. He offered the following resolution as a substitute for the resolution before the Convention:

Resolved, That notice be given, as publicly as possible, that all Ohristians will be welcome to participate with us in the celebration of the Lord's Supper on Suaday.

Rev. B. F. Barrett, of Philadelphia, offered

the following amendment:

Resolved That all who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity, and are in the effort to keep His commandments, will be cordially welcomed to the Holy Supper.

Rev. Mr. Worcester opposed the passage of the substitute or amendment, because it makes each one the judge of his own fitness, and would entitle unbaptized persons to partake.

Mr. Barrett's amendment was lost.

The question recurring on Mr. Hitchcock's substitute, it was adopted.

Mr. Sewell read the report of the Mission ssociation. Mr. Roberts presented the report of the Philadelphia Second Society.

Rev. Warren Goddard, of Massachusetts, then read an address to the Conference of the New Church in England. The address was. on motion, adopted as the sense of the Cou-

Visit to Carpenter's Hall...Trip on the Delaware...The Gloucester Factories Navy Yard, &c.

The Congressional Committees now on a The Congressional Committees now on a visit to the city, left the Continental Hotel this morning about half-past ten o'clock, under the escort of the Committee of City Councils, and proceeded to Carpenter's Hall. There they were received by a Committee of the Carpenters' Association, of which Mr. Richard Bitts was chairman. The visitors were introduced by Mr. John L. Shoemaker, chairman of the Councils Committee, in a brief speech. Mr. Bitts then made a few re marks, giving a brief history of the hall, alluding more especially to the meetings of the alluding more especially to the meetings of the Continental Congress within its walls and the uses made of the hall during the revolutionary war. Hon. N. B. Judd, of Illinois, and Hon. John A. Bingham, of Ohio, then made near speeches. After viewing the hall and inspecting the relics which it contains, the party left and was taken to Chestnut street wharf

The splendid steamboat Twilight, Captain Henry Crawford, was engaged for an excursion along the river front. Ten o'clock was fixed as the time for starting, but the Congressmen did not reach the boat until eleven o'clock. In the meantime, other invited guests, comprising the Heads of the Departments, members of City Councils, and a large delegation of gentlemen representing the various tion of gentlemen representing the various business interests of the city, had assembled on the boat. Beck's Band was also on hand. The boat left Chestnut street wharf a few minutes past eleven o'clock. The passengers numbered about 300. Among those on board in addition to the Congressional Committee and the members of Congress from Phila-delphia, were Mayor Fox, State Senator Chas H. Stinson, Hon. John Robbins, A. W. Mark ley, Esq., of the Camden and Amboy Railroad; Vincent L. Bradford, Esq., of the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad; Edward Armstrong, of the North Pennsylvania Railroad; W. S. The boat proceeded to Gloucester, when the excursionists were landed and escorted to the mills of the Washington Manufacturing Company. This Company was organized by Mr David S. Brown, in 1844. The establishment, which is a very extensive one. which is a very extensive one, is now under the charge of H. F. West, as superintendent. It is worked by a splendid Corliss engine, of 400 horse power. The visitors were shown through the carding-room, the triuming-room. the weaving-room, and the mule-room. In the weaving-room there are 1,200 looms. At the present time there are 700 hands at work in the mills.

The Navy Yard was the next point visited. Upon the arrival of the boat there, the marines, under command of Major dames Forney, were found drawn up in line on the wharf. A salute was fired in honor of the visitors. The party landed, and preceded by Beck's Bandmarched to the Commandant's office. Therethey were introduced to, and were cordially welcomed by Commodore J. B. Marchand, who is transaction. who is at present in command at the yard. Then they passed through the different shopand after completing the tour of the yard, re embarked. The sugar refineries of Harrison & Havemeyer and E. C. Knight & Co. wer next visited, and then the boat started for Bridesburg, where the works of Messrs. Jenks & Mitchell and Mr. C. MURDER IN THE TWELFTH WARD. Colored Man Shot and Instantly Killed.

Last night a dance was given at a place known as Woodcock Hall, located on Brown street, below Fifth. The hall is used by colored people as a dancing-school. Among the participants last night was Marla Draper, residing at No. 1132 Rodman street. She is the wife of the janitor of National Guards' Hall. During the evening a man named Wm. Pence During the evening a man named Wm. Pence alias Nixon, quarrelled with her. Wm. Carney, a musician—and-treasurer of-the-Ex-celsior Cornet Band, interfered on behalf of celsior Cornet Band, interfered on behalf of Mrs. Draper, and the squabble ceased. There has always been considerable-ill feeling between the up-town negroes and the downtown negroes, and Mrs. Draper persuaded Carney to leave the ball with her. The two departed about two o'clock this morning.
They went up Brown street to Fitth. There Pence turned up, and struck Mrs. Draper in the face. The blow was so violent that it felled her to the sidewalk in an insensible condition. Carney then asked Pence what he struck the woman for. At this time a shot was fired, and Carney fell dead. The affair soon caused great excitement, and the police came upon the ground. The body of Carney was removed to the Seventh District Police Station, and the Coroner was notified.
The Seventh District police were at once

Station, and the Coroner was notified.

The Seventh District police were at once started in search of the murderer, and they received assistance from the Eighth District police, who were telegraphed to. All of the localities where colored people congregate were searched. Pence was arrested by Sergeant Gilchrist and Policeman Harrar in the neighborhead of Whitzesth and Caskton streets. hood of Thirteenth and Carlton streets, where he resides. He denies having done the shooting; and declares that the pistol was fired by a man named Alex. Brown, alias Neill Brown. Three other men were also arressed in Carlton street. They all say that Brown committed the deed. On the other hand, four or five women, who were arrested on South Sixth street, all declare were arrested on South Sixth street, all declare that Pence fired the shot. The prisoners were all locked up in the Seventh District Police Station to await the Coroner's investigation. Carney, the deceased, was about 30 years of age, and resided at No. 788 South Sixth street.

The Coroner's Inquest.

At 11 o'clock this morning Coroner Taylor held an inquest upon the body of the deceased, at the Seventh District Station-house, in St. John street, above Green. A large gathering

John street, above Green. A large gathering of colored people surrounded the Station-house. The victim, Carney, seems to have been a man of many friends. Many of these people showed very little admixture of African blood, were tastefully dressed and decorously behaved. Pentz is a fine specimen of the African. He is lithe as a willow, small featured, trim and neat. The father of the deceased, with one of the four children, sat sadly in the ante-room. The old gentleman is nearly blind. The wife of the deceased was at home, prostrated at the suddenness of her bereavement. In reading over the testimony of the witnesses it will be seen that the negro Dennis Walton swears in diametrical contra-diction to the others. The statement of the witness is pronounced by Detective Gordon to be unentitled to credit. The testimony in the witness is pronounced by Detective Gordon to be unentitled to credit. The testimony in the case is this:

Jane Williams deposed that she lived at No. 12 Cross alley; she knew Billy Pentz, and also Dennis Walton and Morris Bostwick; was there asst night; at dancing school; myself and Kate Miller, she deposed, were at Fifth and Green; Billy Pentz put his hand behind him, drew a pistol and shot Billy Garney; I ddin't hear him say a word; I was so near to him that if a young man with me hadn't pulled me away I should been shot myself; I din't hear any loud words; I think they must have been quarreling. Bostwick wasn't there; he was at home; I didn't see Walton cither; these was a number of people about; the school had just been dismissed; there was a fuss on account of some row, but I don't know what it was about; it was two mooths since I had been there before; the hour at, which the school dispersed was about half-past one o'clock.

Rhoda J. Walters, who lives in the rear of of 819 Enwarence street, testified—I was at the dancing school for a few minutes; saw no quarrel, nor heard any pistol; I heard a quarrel outside; I heard Pentz say. "I will kill him." I don't know who he wanted to kill; he had his hand in his pocket; I knew Carney in childhood.

Saruh Clark, residing at No. 429 Lynn street, was sworn. She knows Pentz; she was at the dancing last night; there was a quarrel there; a down-town woman and an up-town woman got into a quarrel; I saw Pentz; shoot William Carney; I was within a few feet distance when he' was shot; Pentz said nothing; after the shooting, Pentz ran; when he shoi he was standing still.

Mary L. Watts, No. 509 South Seventh street, testified that abe was a widow, living with her mother; sho saw the flash.

Maria Draper is the wife of the janitor of National Guards Hall: she lives at No. 1132 Redman street with her husband and sister; at the dance last night Mary Watts, Julia White, Mary Martin and myself (she deposed) went in company; there was a seronade in Apple street; Pentz and Walto white people the last time we went down: I went up stairs to get Mary to go with me; she said shat as soon as she was done with the set she'd return with me; another pil wanted to take advantage of the rest by getting the lead in the set; this led to high words; Pentz and others hooted at us; I went down stairs; I was knocked into the gutter, but I don't know by whom; I was taken and set upon a doorstep; I bled pretty freely, and was then arrested and locked up.

Julia White lives at al3 South Seventh street. She testified—I saw the shooting at Fifth and Brown streets; Carney asked a crowd of men why a young girl had been strick; Pentz drew a pistol, and shot Carney; I didn't know Carney was hit, for he walked nearly across the street before he fell; I was close by him; I saw him strike Mary Watt, but not Maria Draper.

Police Sergeant Gilchrist made a statement that at one oclock this morning he was officially informed of the shooting; the dead man lay on the northwest corner of Fifth and Brown streets; officer O'Harra and I got a description of Pentz, and searched the house in Pearl street, where he claimed to live; we saw two men running on the roof; we afterwards got on the roof; we found Donnis Walton hidden behind a chimney, some houses distinct; he said that he heard we were after him; Pentz was found in bed in a house in Carlton street.

Dennis Walton hidden behind a chimney, some houses distinct; he said that he heard we were after him; Pentz was found in bed in a house in Carlton street.

Dennis Walton hidden behind a chimney, some houses distinct; he said that he heard an Henz stopped at the door to look at a girl tying up her shoes, but Pentz had no pistol in hie hand.

Ann Eliza Bishop, 529 Huss street, lives with her ma: she heard a man say hest night, "Billy, shoot; if you don't put it on him I'll put it on you." I ran across the street generam down the street; I saw Pentz fall: I didn't say that I thought Pentz did it, but I was afraid to say that I thought Pentz did it, but I was afraid to say

I didn't say that I thought Pentz did it, but I was afraid to say so.

Bichard Banks, sworn—I board in Spafford street, with Mrs. Scott; I work in Kilburn & Gatos's furniture store; I saw Maria Draper quarreling with Pentz; There was interference on the part of several; they said let us go to the street and settle it there!" I took my woman and started for home; I then heard the shot; several persons told no that Pentz fired; we lit a match and saw the face of Carney.

Dr. Shapleigh testined that he made a post-mortem upon the body of Carney; he found a gun-shot wound of the fourth and through the third rib, fracturing it passed through the upper lobe of the right lung through the aorta, and into the upper lobe of the left lung; there we found it; there were busies upon the lang; there we found it; there were busies upon the morrhage, caused by violence, resulting from a gun shot wound.

CITY NOTICES.

COMING AND GOING.—It is impossible to eparate the idea of Life from a state of Activity. Everything that is not dead keeps moving: Stagnation and death are synonymes. This is as true in trade as it is in morals. Business houses of real strength and capacity rarely complain of dull trade. They rightly claim all seasons as "their own." We have a popular example of this in the every-day experience of such respectable mercantile firms as that of Messrs. Thomas Kennedy & Brothers, proprietors of the popular French Flower and Millinery Emporium, No. 729 Chestnut street. Alike in autumn, winter, spring and summer, these gentle-men claim and receive the patronage of the Ladies by wisely catering to their wants and tastes. Just now the latter are in ecstacies over a magnificent line of new French Flowers and superbly-trimmed Hats and Bon nets, just opened from Europe by Messrs. Kennedy, an selling at extraordinary low prices. The Eyes of Fashion are apparently riveted upon Kennedy's store, and itserface give ready heed to all their aunouncements, judging from the swarms of ladies which, like bees now throng their warerooms, and feast upon the display of in the department of fine millinery.
