THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS. fo-day the Democracy of Philadelphia are expected to complete the work of nominating candidates for the October election. Yesterday Hon. Samuel J. Randall was nominated for re-election to Congress in the First District. But he will not have so easy a course to run as he had last time, as the Fifteenth Amendment has given the franchise to many men who will generally vote for Mr. Huckel, the Republican candidate. Theodore Cuyler, Esq., was nominated in the Second Districta very respectable choice; but the district is strongly Republican, and Hon. Charles O'Neill will be re-elected, as he deserves to be, by a handsome majority. In the Third District, Dr. John I. Mosset, who ran against Hon. Leonard Myers at the last election, has been again nominated; but we expect Mr. Myers to have a larger majority than before, which he deserves for the ability -and fidelity with which he has served his constituents. The Fourth District Convention, after a protracted scene of disorder, broke up in a row, without making a nomination. For State Senator from the Third district, David A. Nagle was re-nominated. The candidates for the House of Representatives, as far as the are made, are not better than usual, several of the old "Ring" being again put in nomination The City and County officers will be nominated to-day, probably in time for the regular edition of the BULLETIN.

THE NEW FRENCH MINISTER. M. Prévost-Paradol, the new Minister fre France to the United States, is to embark from Havre on Friday, and will arrive in New Yo within a fortnight. The Paris papers lately arrived have contained voluminous comments upon his appointment, and the Republican papers have been very severe upon him for accepting office from a Government that he has repeatedly criticised with much harshness. One article is especially cited, which he wrote for the Courrier du Dimanche in the summer of 1866, for which the paper was suppressed by decree of the Emperor, dated at Vichy, August 2d. 1866. The article is reprinted and made famous as "the stable boy article," or l'article du palefrenier," from the following passage: "France is a beautiful court lady, beloved by the most gallant men, who has run away to live with a stable boy (un palefrenier.) She is despoiled, beaten, debased more and more every day. But it can't be helped; she has come to like it and cannot be wrested from her This article was made the subject of a report from M. de la Valette, the Minister of the Interior, to the Emperor, and the decree of suppression of the paper was at once signed. The report said "This detestable picture of France humiliated, powerless, abased, degraded every day, is at once an audacious outrage on truth, a calumnious insult to the country, an attack on the honor of the nation, a shameless provocation to revolt, to sedition government." There was a good deal more of but a week or two at their command, as well as and to the overthrow of our institutions and the same sort of censure, and the wonder many who spend the summer away from home among Frenchmen is that the writer of an article that was considered so outrageous and dangerous by the Emperor should be selected for an place there are plenty of good hotels, the best important foreign appointment, and also that being the following: Congress Hall, recently he should condescend to take office from "the enlarged and improved until it is equal to any stable-boy." We confess there is a cause for watering place hotel in the country; the Stockwonder of this kind. But whatever may have ton House, a magnificent hotel, kept in superb peror and M. Prévost-Paradol, the people of this specialty of entertaining family parties in the country know that for the first time in many years France is to be represented in Washington by a man of first-rate ability, who is a friend of the United States, and an ardent admirer and defender of republican institutions.

For those who desire to view the matchless scenery of this of the court of this days the matchless scenery of this days are constant to the court of the court desire to view the matchless scenery of this State, the North Pennsylvania Railroad and its onnections undoubtedly offer unsurpassed oportunities. The wild and rugged scenery of the Lehigh Valley can be reached in two hours; and those who have never visited the region will be surprised and pleased at its majestic beauty and infinite variety. Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk and the Switchback Railroad. and the lovely Wyoming Valley contrasting in s soft outlines with the bolder scenery of the Lehigh, are all accessible by this route. From Wilkesbarre the new railroad stretches up to Waverly, following the tortuous course of the North Susquehanna, and forming a quick route to Buffala, Niagara Falls and Cauada. On the line of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, Cresson Springs, situated on the very ummit of the Allegheny mountains, is a famous place of resort, and the Mountain House is well-known as an admirable hotel. The s well-known as an admirable hotel. The Broad Top Mountain House, also upon the countains, a short distance from Huntingdon. is also a very desirable place for those who desire to enjoy the comforts of life among wild and beautiful scenery. Nearer home, upon the Reading and Columbia Railroad, are the Ephrata Mountain Springs, in Lancaster county, well-known and popular as a comfortable stopping place for summer tourists, from the superior natural advantages afforded by

On the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad the Renovo House, at Renovo, upon the bank of the Susquehanna, deserves special mention for its general attractions and s vicinity to first-rate trout-fishing. Along the Reading Railroad the places of esort are very numerous; nearly all of them are good, and the charges are moderate. Among the best are: the Mansion House, Mt.
