THE AMERICAN THEATRE.

The Difficulty About its Possession---Th Case in the Sapreme Court---Iujuac tion Dissolved.

Our readers will doubtless remember that a year or two ago the representatives of the Parker estate instituted proceedings to recover possession of the premises in Walnut street. above Eighth, where Robert Fox now has his variety theatre, it being claimed that his lease had expired. A sheriff's jury was sworn to decide the matter, and they gave a verdict for the estate for possession and a few thousand dollars rent arrear. An appeal was argued in the Common Pleas, and this verdict was disaproved of. The case was then taken to the supreme Court, which tribunal sustained the the south side, and from 1333, to 1349 on the erdict so far as it extended to give possession, horth side of Vine street, were also damaged to but not in the item of damages. Mr. Fox then praved this court to grant an injunction to restrain proceedings under this judgment, which injunction was granted, and finally the matter was argued upon a motion to dissolve the in-junction, and under this phase of the case Judge Read has delivered an opinion in substance as Fox rented the theatre from Isaac Brown

Parker, deceased, for a period of four years, at an annual rental of $3,000, besides taxes, water rents, and all other charges on the pre-mises, now estimated at $1,000 per annum. The lease was executed on the 27th of February, 1864, but the term did not commence until April 1, 1865, the property being in the possession of tenants whose term did not expire until that day. On the 19th of September, 365, Mr. Parker died, having on the 18th of August preceding made his will, by which he appointed Frederick Watts and John Brown rker his executors, and made his seven children his residuary legatees.

in June, 1867, the theatre was destroyed by re, and was rebuilt in one month by Mr. Fo at a cost of $25,000, to which the executors intributed nothing, though by the provisions the lease, in case of unavoidable accidents,

869, the day the lease ended, of their desire to repossess the premises. Proceedings were instituted under the landlord and tenant act of 1772, and were on the 5th of May, 1870, terminated by the Supreme Court decreeing re stitution of the premises. During this period there were negotiations between the parties. Ir. Fox desiring to purchase or lease the heatre, and from what passed at the argument it is inferred that some of his offers were ap proved by some of the residuary devisees.

The judgment of the Supreme Court on the 5th May, 1870, if carried out, gives the executors nothing but possession of the premises. I left the compensation for their use from April 1, 1869, for future adjustment. Negotiations for purchase and lease were going on, and an offer to lease was made by Mr. Fox upon terms approved by some of the cestui qua truits. The plaintiff in rebuilding the theatre certainly ened himself to kind treatment. He believed he was to retain possession, and all the contracts with artists were made under that belief he effect of turning him out is to deprive over a hundred persons of employment, nearly all engaged in a profession in which there are but employers, and those scattered over the action of ejectment, with the confession of adgment to be entered against him on the 1st of September, 1870, without stay or writ of

The Judge concludes: "Having thus rankly stated my opinion and advice. I do not el that upon the present bill I could continue he injunction; but a very different question might be presented upon a bill filed by the residuary legatees. Injunction dissolved."
