THE WAR EXCITEMENT. All Europe seems to be convulsed by the war that has barely begun between France and and in all business circles is quite unprecedented. Our despatches to-day contain all the news that can be regarded as authentic, but even some of this may be based upon rumor. The despatches dated at Paris undergo a rigid censorship, and they are colored to suit the views of the Government. The same may, perhaps, be said of despatches dated at Berlin. The news sent from London, much of which is derived from private advices from both Paris and Berlin, may generally be considered worthy of credit. It will be seen that the information thus received has created quite a frenzy of excitement in England, the sympathies of the people and the press being on the side of Prussia. There is evidently an apprehension that Berlin have dwarfed, if not eclipsed, the great England will be drawn into the conflict. Indeed she cannot well keep out of it if France should violate the territory of neutral States like Bel-

From the New York Herald of to-day. I londay, July 18.—The Gold Room was occurie Monday, July 18.—The Gold Room was accupied at an unusually early hour this morning, and the price, after remaining comparatively steady at the figures made in the hotel dealings of Saturday and Sudday evenings, opened formally at 117%. The strength which it thus showed induced many of the shorts to cover and their purchases ran up to 120 by noon. Here it transpired that the foreign bankers, who had been buying at the same time with the shorts, were in receipt of advances from London that the Stock Exchange in that city was purelyzed by a runnor that Russia had declared in favor of Prussia; that "all Europe" would be in a blaze of war" and that our fivewenties had fallen to Sl2; From 120 the price then suddenly advanced to 123, amid the utmost excitement. The fluctuations were so rapid and the changes so frequent that the gold telegraph dial was innucquate to the task of keeping up with dial was innucquate to the task of keeping uttile price. Family the Pregistered Aquotation wathing a half to three quarters, per cent, the sales as made in the pit of the room, ter Merserean, in whose charge the insist was undergoing manipulation, was, moreover pelled to abandon the duty of writing the official of the quotations, and his book was temporarily ferred to Secretary Akers, whose powers of rap manship were taxed to their utmost in preserv written history of this most recent memorable.

The telegram from London the continuatory intelligence subsequent to five o clock, when the German bankers were again discovered to be buying heavily. The large buyers had been supplied, how ever, and fit the desultory dealings at the close the prior receded to 121½. The great rise in gold to-day has been a surprise and a great disappointment to the conservative bankers of the city. Primarily it was stimulated by the virtual blockade of our exports in the present derangement of shipping facilities which has checked the outflow of commodities that would have gone and will certainly go yet in place of gold, as the most available articles of export. Again for a rise in gold and a fall in government bonds were the authers or abettors of the bogus telegram that Russia had joined Prussia. Although the builts enjoyate the authers or abettors of the bogus telegram that Russia had joined Prussia. Although the builts enjoyate the authers or abettors of the bogus telegram that Russia had joined Prussia. Although the builts enjoyate the authers or abettors of the storing will undoubtedly come. Just now the friends of our national credit is the foreign market, where, in the excitement and timid try of capital every thing is turned into money without regard to intrinsic merit. Were we in debt to Europe cutside of the nominal indebtedness of our bonds, we should be under the necessity in this inneture of making heavy shipments of coin. But the whibit of the Nationa lurand of Statistics shows that for the ten months o
