Mr. Kingsly, that the enterprise is undoubtedly a success, unless some disturbing element arises, which cannot at present be forsegen. The Chinese plow i good style, equally as well as trained colored plowmen. They are as yet a little slow with for by obvious reasons. In addition to this, it seems that in their work they pay little attention to any directions given, unless such directions come through the medium of their nead man. This is the case with the Chinese on the Millaudon plantation. They attend implicitly to any direction given by their chief, however. This chief, so far as we can ascertain, appears to be a man of superior cast or rank, and as such commands the respect of his more plebeian followers. He wears a species of bracelet on his arm, which seems to be the emblem of authority; and he is proba-bly of the Chinese aristocracy of learning. At any rate, as long as things are satisfactorily arranged with the leading man there appears to be no fear of trouble with the subordinates. John Chinaman seems to entertain a yery lively sense of his own interest in any bargain he makes; and the man of the Flowery Kingdom is not a whit behind the descendants of Canaan's conquerors in business shrewdness. He has a keen relish, too, for getting hold of the right end of the asparagus—for having the best of a bargain. This was shown by some getting paid for six days. He is open to rea-

The recent sure twenties were dealt in at higher prices. The recovery in prices of stocks was quite sharp in the distribution, but the dealings were on a limited scale owing to a lack of general confidence pending the war in Europe, and hence the markets were dull at the interpretable of the course of speculation at the Gold Exchange was traced leaves exceptions. The arrived dealings before were accommodated at nee to six per Cant. On governments the rate we strive to four per cent. In discounts there was more currency for prime double name acceptances at seven per cent.

Foreign exchange was steady for sixty day sterling, and higher for sight b'lls. The demand runs entirely upon the latter, and the rafes now show a difference of about one per cent, as compared with sixty-day bills. The stock market opened weak, owing to the further complication in the Kuropean situation, as indicated by the publication of the decree making the Empress Eugenic regent of France, and prices fell to the lowest made since the reversal of the market consequent upon the outpreak of hostilities between France and Prissia. Lake Shore fell to 83%, and New York Central script of 85%. Later in the day, upon the reports of a firmer
