COTTAGE ROBBED.—The cottage of Mr. Samuel Whitney, at Cape Island, was broken into on Friday night last, by burglars, who into on Friday night last, by burglars, who succeeded in removing that gentleman's apparel from his bed-chamber, where he was asleep, first taking the shrewd precaution against being disturbed in their search for plunder by placing him under the influence of chloroform. In Mr. Whitney's clothes the rascals found a pocket-book containing $700 in money, besides a valuable watch and a pair of eye-glasses, which, of course, they took with them. Before leaving the cottage they made an attempt to enter the room of Mr. Whitney's sister, who, happening to awake on the insister, who, happening to awake on the instant, sprang from the bed, and, slamming the door to, gave the alarm, when the villains decamped in a hurry. Every effort to obtain a clue which might lead to the detection of the robbers has as yet proved unavailing.

DEATH STRUGGLE WITH A SNAKE A Young Man Attacks a Rattlesnake-Both are Kitled in a Fight.

A correspondent of a Southern newspaper writes:
"Last Saturday morning I was the witness of such a scene as I pray God I may never see again. I beheld a combat between a young man and a rattlesnake, in which the former was bitten, and died in ten minutes thereafter. The particulars of the terrible affair are as fellows:

"On Friday last a young man named Gray-ner asked me to spend the night with him and go coon-hunting with him the next morning, to which request I readily assented. Just after surrise the deep laying of the dogs informed us that the game had taken a tree. We proceeded to make our way through the bogs and taugled brush and vites in the direction of the dogs, until we came to a small space of firm ground, which was covered with a low growth of oak bushes. Here we halted a moment to listen for the

that I was latereshad, and I spring back in terror, remarking:

"Graynor, let's leave here!"

"What, S—,' said he, 'are 'you afraid."

"Yes,' said I, 'I am afraid.'

"Well, S—,' he coolly remarked, 'I am going to kill the snake; it would be a pity to leave such a fine fellow here. So, here goes.'

'While Graynor was speaking I caught a glimpse of the snake, which, as nearly as I could judge, appeared to be about eight feet in length, and three inches in diameter in his larger part. He was lying coiled up in a per-fect circle, with his head drawn back in a terribly graceful curve, his small eyes sparkling. his slender forked tongue darting quickly back and forth, and his brown neck swollen with fatal wrath, while ever and anon he twirled the warning rattles in the air, with a harsh, blood curdling sound.

"'For God's sake, let's go,' said I, shuddering at the forrible sight."

"He had picked up a small stick about a yard long, and while speaking was drawing back the bushes from above the snake so as to get a sight at him. He threw his foot around over the bushes, and tramped them down in such a manner that the monster was fairly exposed to view; but just as he did so, and before he had time to strike, the snake made a sudden spring at him, and I turned away my tace in horror. -The next instant Graynor exclaimed: 'I've got him, by George"
"I turned to look, and with his right hand he was grasping the snake by the neck in such a manner that he could not bite, while the monster was gnashing his teeth most furiously, and twisting and writhing in huge folds around Graynor's arms. All of a sudden, in some unaccountable manner, the snake freed his head, and quick as lightning plunged his deadly fangsinto Graynor's right cheek, when, dropping on the ground, he glided a few paces and again coiled himself up, keeping his head erect and ringing his fearful rattles. Graynor turned deadly pale, paused a moment, and then with a little stick advanced toward the snake. As he did so the snake made a spring snake. As he did so the snake made a spring at him, but Graynor struck him with the stick and knocked him back. A second time the snake sprang at him, and he again knocked him off with a stick, but before he could strike a third blow the snake had made another spring and inflicted another wound in Graynor's arm. This time Graynor again managed to seize the monster by the neck, and dropping the stick, he drew forth his kmfe with one hand, opened it with his teeth, and then deliberately cut off the snake's head Blood sparted from the trunk, and Graynor. Blood sparted from the trunk, and Graynor, still grasping the snake, whose huge folds flapped and writhed around him, turned towards me, staggered and fell. I rushed up to him and asked him; "What, in the name of God, can I do for

"What, in the name of God, can I do for you?"

"Nothing,' said he calmly. I am dying. Tell them, good —,' and his features became frightfully contorted, his eyes rolled over as if starting from their sockets, and his black swollen tongue protruded from his mouth. Then he fixed his red, wild, staring eyes upon me, and heaved a deep, piercing groan; a shiver passed over his frame, and then all was still. I was alone with the dead.

"Marking the place as well as I could, I liastened to a house we had passed on the road,

"Good heavens! what a sight met our view.

The face and body had turned to deep purple, and were swollen to three times the partural size, presenting the most horrible appearance I had ever witnessed. The snake lay where he had been thrown, and was still writhing. "A litter of boughs was hastily constructed, and, with heavy hearts, we took our way to the residence of his parents. I will not attempt to describe the heartrending scene when they saw the body. Grief like theirs cannot be portrayed." TRAGEDY AT CHARLESTON.

Shooting Affray at Charleston, S. C.—A Colored Policeman Shot by a United States Soldier.

(From the Savannah Republican of July 26.)

Last Thursday night a party of United States soldiers created a disturbance on King street, Charleston A colored policeman papied Charleston. A colored policeman, named Martin, hearing the disorder, rapped with his club upon the pavement for assistance, and was shot. The soldier then essayed to escape, and finding bimself pursued by other policemen, he turned and shot Policemen Riley in the know. The soldier treather with men, he turned and shot Policemen Riley in the knee. The soldier, together with four of his comrades, also soldiers, were arrested as principal and accessories in the houtcide, and locked up in the guard house. On Saturday morning a jury of inquest was impaneled in the upper hall of the guard-house. Many witnesses were examined, and the evidence taken appears to be conclusive in regard to the identity nears to be conclusive in regard to the identity pears to be conclusive in regard to the identity of the party who did the shooting. Private Robinson, of the police force, swears positively that Sergeant W. A. Johnson, of the Elghth United States Infantry, is the man who shot Martin and Riley. Robinson solected Johnson from a group of soldiers in the upper hall of the guard-house. He also identified John Howe, who said in passing him on King street, that "if a nigger policeman should attempt to arrest any of their party they would kill him." The above facts, rewritten from the Charleston papers, are very suggestive to the Charleston papers, are very suggestive to any one who may read them. Here we have

LEHIGH CONVERTIBLE 6 Per Cent. First Mortgage Gold Loan,

Free from all Taxes. We offer for sale $1.750,000 of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's new First Mortgage Six Per Cent. Gold Bonds, free from all taxes interest due March and September, at NINETY (90), and interest in cur rency added to date of purchase.

These bonds are of a mortgage loan of $2,000,000, dated October 6 1869. They have twenty-five (25) years to run, and are convertible into stock at par until 1879. Principal and interest payable in gold. They are secured by a first mortgage on 5,600 acres of coal lands in the Wyoming Valley, near Wilkesbarre, at present producing at the rate of 209,000 tons of coal per annum, with works in progress which contemplate a large increase at an early period, and also upon valuable

Real Estate in this city. A sinking fund of ten cents per ton upon all oal taken from these mines for five years, and of lifesin conte por ton thereafter, is established, and The Fidelity, Insurance. Trust and Safe Deposit Company, the Trustees under the mortgage, collect these sums and invest them in these Bonds, agreeably to the provisions of the Trust. For full particulars, copies of the mortgage, &c

We are still offering a limited quantity for sale AT 90 AND INTEREST. INTEREST PAYABLE MAY AND NOVEMBER. J. EDGAR THOMSON, Trustees.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par. distant day to command a market price considerably above par.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the balance of the work is rapidly progressing.

The present advanced condition and large earnings of the road warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undertained States Five-twenties, at present prices, only return five per cent. interest, while these pay eight and one quarter per cent in Gold; and we regard the security equally good.

The Company reserve the right without notice to advance the price.
