THE WAR IN EUROPE

The Situation in Metz and Paris—Further Details. (By Cable.)

LONDON, Aug. 21, Night.—The King of Prussia's announcement of a victory at Rezonville on Thursday is contradicted by official statements in Paris.

No doubt of a serious engagement to the south of Metz on that day, in which the French performed marvels of heroism, and were winning the battle when their ammunition gave out.

The French will announce a loss of 40,000 men on Thursday alone, and this confirms a report from Brussels that one whole corps of the army of General Von Steinmetz was literally cut to pieces.

It is believed if the French are beaten they will march once on Paris, where Trochu is making immense preparations to resist them.

The French Press on the Situation. PARIS, August 21.—The Constitutionnel, in its issue of yesterday, says:

Our reverses at first surprised and frightened us. We started for victory too readily. We have received a hard lesson; we have found the enemy more powerful than we expected, and ourselves not as ready as we were taught to believe.

We were mistaken at first, but we shall use all our means now, under the painful experience we have realized, to assemble our forces and to re-organize them.

The DEFEAT OF PARIS. The French Forces Organized by Gen. Trochu.

The Courrier des Etrangers, of Saturday, contained a special despatch from Paris, stating: The army just organized by Gen. Trochu at Orleans numbers 250,000 men.

The example of the veteran troops will stimulate the very young soldiers, and the latter will be organized in a regular manner.

Gen. Trochu is at this moment organizing the army intended to defend Paris. This it may be imagined, is an arduous task, considering the time which has elapsed.

Paris formed, and already occupied by a division of the regular troops.

The headquarters of Gen. Trochu are at the Elysee, as formerly under Cavaignac, the fate of Paris entirely in his hands.

Gen. Trochu yesterday summoned all the general officers having important commands to the Elysee.

No news is allowed to be published respecting the movements and position of MacMahon and the troops of the former Army of the Rhine.

The excitement in Paris on Sunday, August 7, was tremendous. All the papers recognize the gravity of the situation.

It is a time for action. The uncertainty in which we find ourselves cannot be endured a day longer.

The French papers took the first Prussian victory—except from the "Elysee" journals.

PHILADELPHIA LIBERTY AND PROGRESS

Lilloire has the following: "We have been defeated! Let us face with a calm eye and firm heart the situation made for the country by the double and sad defeat of Metz and Rezonville."

No discouragement! No fainting! The hour has come for great measures and manly resolution. Nothing is lost, nothing is compromised.

Excitement in Paris—Extraordinary Scene on the Boulevard—To the Lamp-Post.

The scene on the boulevard on Saturday was most extraordinary, and the excitement intense. The following is an account of what took place.

A riot, having its origin at the Bourse, ran like wildfire through Paris, to the effect that the corps of Marshal MacMahon had obtained a great victory.

The rioters, who were in the majority, were shouting "Vive la France!" and "Vive la République!"

THE PLEASURE GROUNDS OF PARIS

No surer indication could be given of the alarm that is felt by the existing Government in Paris for the safety of that capital than the order which has been issued for leveling the Bois de Boulogne and the Bois de Vincennes.

Nothing less than a lively apprehension that the siege guns of the Crown Prince of Prussia will be directed against the city of Paris, would have brought the commander-in-chief with the security of the city to so extreme a measure.

The Bois de Boulogne and the Bois de Vincennes are situated at exactly opposite points of the environs of Paris.

The Bois de Boulogne, which is the larger of the two, is situated to the west of the city, and is bounded by the Seine and the Marne.

The Bois de Vincennes, which is the smaller of the two, is situated to the east of the city, and is bounded by the Marne and the Seine.

The Bois de Boulogne is a park of about 2,000 acres, and is one of the most beautiful parks in the world.
