THE WAR. Bazaine's Strategy Not Confirmed. LONDON, August 24 .-- Paris despatches an nounce that as yet no confirmation has been received of the report of the retreat of Bazaine from the fortress at Metz.

Workings of the Prassians Telegrams received at Paris declare that Metz is isolated in every quarter, and that the Prussians have cut the communications between Thionville on the east and Montmódy on the west, besides destroying the road between Thionville and Metz, thus rendering the retreat of the French impossible." They also assert that MacMahon is in daily communication with Bazaine. Bazaine's Position The Paris press regard the position

Marshal Bazaine with satisfaction. Mediation. The opinion is now generally expressed that no mediation is likely to succeed unless Napoleon takes the initiative. France has intimated that she will not ac-

The burglar got over an iron grating, with sharp points at the top, but which did not reach within three feet of the ceiling. He climbed over this through a fan-light at the top of the outside door. Gas-lights were burntop of the outside door. Gas-lights were bur ig in the store at the time. He succeeded i throwing out a large quantity of valuable clothing to confederates, and had the audacity to dress himself up and leave his dirty and worn-out clothing behind. One of the gang, Cornelius Ferguson, aged

22, was arrested this morning at Twentieth street and Sixth avenue, with a portion of the clothing in a bundle. He had on a stolen suit of clothes recognized by Sherwin. The discovery of the burglary was not thrown till about the clock the morning
