THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS. The Provisional government of France ha not discontinued its earnest, almost piteous efforts to secure peace. The mission of M Thiers to England having resulted in lamentable failure through the indisposition of that country to encourage a republican experiment in France, and to involve itself in any complications which might result in war, Thiers has returned to France. It is reported that he will proceed immediately upon a similar errand to The registering officers are now in session at other courts of Europe. It is again asserted | all the precinct houses. See that your name is this time with positive assurances of truth, that | on the list. Bismarck has consented to hold an interview with M. Favre, for the purpose of receiving from him a proposition for peace. This action on the part of the Prussian minister may be the Prussian forces, and by this time it is exconstrued into a manifestation of his intention tremely probable the circle is complete and the For a to recognize the authority of the Provisional city is isolated from the outside world. There struction. Indeed, we are positively assured yout the fortifications, but no important re-that she has determined not to admit the sults have ensued. The military authorities in THURSDA egitimate existence of the ministry of which the capital are making vigorous exertions to Favre is the head. Under the most promising discipline the troops, to strengthen the fortificircumstances the interview between these two cations, to embarrass the movements of the men could not afford great hope of an amicable settlement of the present difficulties. It is nearly certain now that Prussia has decided to make cession of Alsace and Lorraine the from Paris in three directions, and they are doubt whatever that Favre will refuse such | Bazaine has not escaped from Metz, as was reterms. The existence of his government, his terms. The existence of his government, his personal popularity, and perhaps his life, would less imprisonment, while Canrobert has The spirit of the French people is unanimously opposed to dismemberment of France and anxiously as peace is desired, they will gladly continue the war to the bitter end rather than submit to such shameful conditions. The same determination would exist no matter who controlled the government. Bismarck, it is reported, has declared that he can treat only extra assessment. Is your name properly regwith the Emperor or the regency, for these represent the only authority of the existence of which he has official knowledge. And yet even if the Napoleons could be permitted to that she will have her magnificent plans interresume their sway under present circumstances, fered with by other powers. We have again they must refuse to make peace upon Prussia's positive assurances of the forcible intervention terms, or else accept them with the assurance of Russia if France is dismembered; and we of their own destruction. We may say here, believe such a policy has been determined also, that Bismarck's refusal to recognize the upon. The assistance of Italy, Austria, and Provisional government because it can give perhaps Denmark may be relied on in such a no guarantee that it can fulfil its promises, is case, and if Prussia is assailed by this absurd, in view of the fact that if he treats alliance there will be a war of appalling magniwith the regency there is actually less worth in tude, in which every nation in Europe may its promises; for it not only does not hold eventually be involved. It is the threat of this power in France now, but it never can again terrible catastrophe not less than the earnest assume the government with any hope of re- desire for the salvation of France and the suctaining its place or the confidence of the peo- cess of her republican experiment that compels ple. Bismarck might just as well enter into the wish-that Prussia will make peace without negotiations with Queen Isabella for the partition of Spain, as to treat with Napoleon or Eugenie for the dismemberment of France. But all this talk of guarantees is nonsense in view of the fact that Prussia can secure herself by material guarantees which will be safer than any promise made by any government. Her indisposition to recognize the new minister arises from her dread of anything like a repubsuccesses have placed him in a dilemma, which involves the absurdity of pretending to believe that Napoleon is the ruler of France, or of accepting the theory that the people of a great nation in the hour of their extremity have ; right to control their own destinies.

-----Do not forget to register yourself, to-day o to-morrow. The Democratic Naturalization Committee has distributed, through the medium of the police force, the following card: "DEMOCRATIC NATURALIZATION COMMIT-TEE.

"The bearer will receive his papers by paying 75 cts. to the Clerk. "WILLIAM MCMULLEN, Chairman." With this wholesale manufacture of cheap citizenship going on,all over the city,it becomes a duty, more urgent than ever, for every legal voter to protect his franchise, by attending now to the requirements of the Registry Law

THE WAB OF THE SURPLICES. While "fiery Frank and furious Hun join in the dreadful revelry" around the fated walls of Paris, and engross the attention of the world with a war whose tremendous scale be gins to rival that of the American Rebellion, another war has broken out on our shores. The scene of action is New York, and the combatants march to the conflict to the music of "the drum ecclesiastic." A rebellion ha broken out in Old Trinity Church, where a sharp engagement has taken place between the Rev. Dr. Francis Vinton and the choir boys. MARKING WITH INDELIBLE INK opened in New York, as a rival to the famous little Ritualistic Church of St. Alban's. It is called St. Sacrament, and is under the direc-It seems that a new church has just been tion of an English clergyman, imported for the AIR TIGHT JARS, purpose, and who is considered to be far in advance of "Father Morrell" in his mastery o the teachings of the "Directorium Angli-canum." St. Sacrament was opened with great pomp, one day last week, and one of the chief features of the programme was the performance of the service by the choristers of Trinity Church, in full uniform. But Dr. Vinton, albeit a stautch Churching of the stautch chief features of the programme was the per-Churchman of the olden time, does not believe in the doing with modern Ritualists, and when the boys came to don-Ritualists, and when the boys came to don their ecclesiastical uniforms, they found them-selves confronted by their grim-visaged superior, holding the sit-selves confronted by the sitsuperior, holding the situation, which was the wardrobe. boys desired to sing at St. Sacrament and highly approved of the performances of which they were to be magna pars, they promptly refused to obey the venerable doctor, and trooped off to an up-town church, where they were rigged out in full cassock and surplice, and St. Sacrament was saved from the terrible humiliation of a service without a surpliced choir. We fancy that the young gentlemen had an account to settle afterward: for Dr. Vinton is a bit of a martinet, and his thirty years in the ministry have not obliterated the influences of his training at West Point, or his service in the army; and to be bearded in his own vestryroom by a party of his own choristers must have presented itself to him as an act of insubordina ion "most tolerable and not to be endured." We wait later intelligence from the scene of action, with intense interest. Meantime, we shall keep a look out for a reproduction of something like the following advertisement which appeared lately in the English Church "Home wanted for an unmanageable boy aged ten, with a clergyman, strict disciplin-arian, accustomed and willing to birch. Liberal terms; sings in choir.—X., Post Office, St. Leonards on Sea." -----

Nothing is as yet known as to who will suc ceed Mr. Motley to the Court of St. James. Secretary Fish being applied to this morning rench Army ' for information on the subject, laughingh said he hoped when the press had settled the controversy as to who is the coming mai that he would not fail to report to him for in ovements structions, and to notify the President of hi willingness to leave the country at once From what Mr. Fish said in relation to Mr Orth, of Indiana, it is believed that that gen-PARIS tleman has not been tendered the position, as English Recognition of the French Republic. Official despatches from Minister Motley to Secretary Fish state that the English Government is willing to recognize the French Republic when it can be satisfactorily shown that it is not merely revolutionary in its character and to disappear with the withdrawal of the spondence | Prussian armies. Injunction Dissolved.

The injunction obtained early last month against Whipple & Dickerson, the owners WAR and inventors of the Petrol eum Gas Fuel Process, in which a number of leading Philadelphians are interested, was to-day dissolved by Justice Wylie, of the Distric STION Supreme Court, sitting in equity upon the answers of the defendants and the proof sub mitted therewith. This is the second injunc tion which these parties have removed and a Republic they are now free to proceed with their operations.

Philadelphia Money Market. MoNDAY, Sept 19.-The loan market to day is active and very steady, the supply and demand being pretty well balanced. The drain of gold and currency into the Treasury, in payment of customs, &c., still continues unabated, and if not checked by extra sales of gold and bond purchases, must add to the present firmness. Ac-cording to the Treasury programme, $1,000.000 in gold will be sold on Wednesday, and $2,000,000 in bonds hought on Thursday, for the special fund. The latter may be duplicated, and the former ought to be; but no mitimation of the kind has yet emanated from the De-partment. mitmailon of the kind has yet emanated from the Department.
Gold was devoid of activity, the sales being on business account exclusively. The range up to noon is 1133/ 1133/, closing at the latter.
Government bonds are active and stronger in response to an advance in all the foreism markets.
The Stock Markot was fairly active, but prices were rather weak. Sales of the new City Sixes at 1015/a1015/.
