EVENING BULLETIN

Wednesday, September 28, 1870 THE BEGISTRY FRAUDS. very honest man in the community will re gard with indignation the exposure made before nmissioner Biddle yesterday of the organized attempt of the Democratic leaders to office from January 1858 until January 1861 cheat the voters of this city. It was proved Since then he has not been prominently be ered himself so often that he would have to the Democratic party. n able to cast about sixty votes at the election; and probably this number would have n increased largely if he had not been arrested. If this single individual had committed this crime upon his own responsibility there would be no very great cause for alarm; but men of his stamp do not take so much trouble and place themselves in such peril without aspiration and reward. Hardy is merely the agent of some Democratic authority which is pplied with money to pay such rascals; and there is very good reason for believing that Hardy is but one of a large gang which is acting under the same direction. Attention OAL was called some days ago to the fact that a body OAI of men were engaged in stuffing the registry lists in the wards where the vote was likely to be close, and the developments in the Hardy case show that there was good reason for making such a charge. Not the least interesting of the disclosures made was the fact that one of the model policemen of Mayor Fox was a party to the fraud, he having companied Mr. Hardy in his registry rounds. in the character of a voucher. As an excuse for his disregard of the instructions of the Police Manual, the officer might plead the authority of precedent, and cite well-known cases in former elections where policemen were the OA abettors of fraudulent voters and the most violent disturbers of the peace. But when Dougherty's case comes into Court it is to be hoped the jury will not be as lenient as the OA Mayor and his Chief of Police have been in OA previous cases.

The developments at the investigation, yesterday, must satisfy even the most incredulous that the charges of systematic rascality so often OA made against the managers of the Democratic party in this city are truthful. They should bire Republican officials to further efforts to detect the other men who have been and are OAL now engaged in playing Hardy's game; they OAK should secure for the party that could stoop to such agencies to secure success the scorn of every honest man, and they should inspire every Republican voter with a determination to be at the polls on election day, and to sustain his ticket. The carelessness and indifference of honest citizens may insure the triumph of the men who are engaged in this rascality.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION. If the people of Europe never before appreciated the wisdon of the counsel " Put not your trust in Princes," they must appreciate it now. Princes.thrones and dynasties seem to be bring ing them a chaos of bloodshed, famine, suffer Overcoats, ing and illimitable debt. The ambition andarrogance of the Emperor of France threw that country into a war for which it was unpre nared, and in which it has been humiliated and bastised as no great power ever was before. | WHITE CHEVIOT. The victorious power that has inflicted this ot undeserved punishment seems to be in satiable, and it refuses to make terms that its prostrated foe can accept. The war is to go on, even if Paris is blotted out of existence and the French are indiscriminately massacred while making a vain defence of their homes.

enough; but with this determined and bitter | $15 Fine Fall Suit for Fifteen Dollars. The present state of affairs is appalling resolve of the Prussian King and his Minister to go on with the war, the prospect is still more appalling. Suppose it be carried on until Paris is destroyed, and the Provisional Government is driven from town to town until i is driven out of the country, and there is not even a semblance of an authority that car make peace or war. All this seems to be on the programme of Count Bismarck; but what will he do then? Restore the Bonapartes o the Bourbons, and re-erect a throne on the condition that Strasbourg, Metz, and other French possessions are to be an nexed to Germany? This could only be an expedient for a time; fo such an arrangement could never receive the consent of the French people, and a thirst for revenge for Sedan and Paris would be ex cited, more intense and insatiable than ever was that for Waterloo. Or will Bismarck, after having completed the conquest of France. and put military governors everywhere, direct an election to be held to decide on a form of government, with which government Prussia would treat for a permanent peace? Such an election would be a farce; and its treaties and other acts would be repudiated by the nation at the first opportunity.

While the excessive demands of Prussia are continued, there is not only no prospect of neace, but there is danger of a much more wide-spread and terrible war, which may involve other nations and overturn other thrones besides the French. The nepuonear element was never so strong among the differ-ent peoples of Europe as it is now. Among thrones besides the French. The Republican and patriotically into the present war, because it was forced on them by a foreign usurper, who announced his intention of seizing German territory. The splendid soldierly qualities of the Germans and the great skill of their generals made them the victors, and the author of the war became the prisoner of their king. The French really rejoiced at his fall, while they deplored the disaster to their arms, and they made haste to declare a republican form of government. This step brought them the sympathy of the vast republican organization known as the International Workingmen's Association, which num- CLOTHING HOUSE bers many thousands of members in Ger many, and in the very armies of King William. There is not a monarchy in Europe that is not in peril from a Republican uprising," The heroic stand made by the improvised and perhaps unstable French Republic is increasing this peril, because it is exciting still more the sympathies of foreign republicans. In addition to this, the intrigues of other monarchs, which are likely to lead to new wars, are adding to the general discontent of the masses of the people, who have to fight the battles and of unparalleled difficulty. King William and IBy the American Press Association. 1 The Attack on Orleans. TOURS, Sept. 28.—[Special to the New York [erald.]—A considerable sensation was caused Herald.]—A considerable sensation was caused in this city yesterday by the arrival of strag-glers from the French army who have been in the engagements between the Præsian cavalry and the French force near Orleans. The reports which they brought of the at-tacks made by the Uhlans excited the aston-ishment of all who heard them. The troops engaged yesterday were princi-pally the Gardes Mobile from the south of France and the gensdarme from Orleans, supported by two regiments of the line, who formed the attacking party! The cavalry were supported by flying ar-tillery. tillery. It is ascertained from civilians, just arrived from Orleans, that immediately after the fight the Prussians entered the city without further the Prussians entered the city without further opposition. The Prussians on entering the place immediately made a requisition for a large number of rations and horses. The stay of the Prussians at Orleans was short, and it is evident they intended to sweep their armies further southward. Cremieux, Minister of Justice, with other members of the Provisional Government, very speedily prepared for ilight, as the ene-my's cavalry were believed to be approaching Tours. The seat of government is removed to Portieres, whence there is direct railroad communication with Bordeaux and Rochelle. Financial and Commercial.
