SWINDLERS.—The arrest of Julius Bieber with a carpet-bag filled with new goods was noticed in the Bulletin of yesterday. Subsequently Isaac Cohen and S. Wolfstein were arrested. These men are alleged to be swindlers and were identified by A. Miller, No. 410 Watkins street, as, having attempted to cheat him. Their plant of operations is to exhibit a sample of fine goods, and when they get orders send some bogus article. Their prices are low and this is explained by the representation that the goods had belonged to a deceased relative or had been snuggled into this port. The prisoners are awaiting a hearing at the Central Station.

Tom Brown, or Broby, On Friday last quietly and unostentationally entered this city Mr. Thus. Hughes, M. P. for Frome, in Somer-etshire, England. To attempt to explain to cetshire, England. To attempt to explain to our readers who the gentleman is, seems to us he quintessence of absurdity, yet we will give a few hints to brighten recollection. Mr. Hughes is one of the most liberal of English Liberals, who all through our late war was one of the few who stood up in the English Parliament and openly and boldly declared himself in favor of the Union cause. He is famous and known to all American readers himself in favor of the Union cause. He is famous and known to all American readers as the author of. "Tom Brown's Schooldays at Rugby," "Tom Brown at Oxford," "The Scouring of the White Horse," and other books, as popular in this country as they are in England, and well worthy of the approbation, which has been obtained; in all places where the Angle American land the approbation which has been obtained; in all places where the Anglo-American language is spoken and read, on account of their truth and geniality, which have under currents of pathos and humor. Mr. Hughes, born October, 1823, in the "royal county" of Betks (across the water), was educated by Dr. Arnold, at Rugby, for the University of Oxford, where he graduated B. A. in 1845. He was called to the bar in Lincolv's Inn in January, 1848, and (as we learn from "Who's Who in 1848, and (as we learn from "Who's Who in— 1870") is now a Queen's Counsel, a degree in legal rank never accepted, except when its recipient is in first rate practice. Mr. Hughes, who is Liberal to the backbone, first entered Parliament as one of the members of the me-tropoliting berguigh of Lombeth, in July 1865. tropolitan borough of Lambeth, in July, 1865, and was returned for Frome, in 1868, without any outlay, merely on the strength of his pubic character and services.

To show the man, Mr. H., in his preface to the American edition of "Tom Brown at Oxford," thus introduced himself to Prof. James Russell Lowell, of Cambridge, Massa-chusetts: He declares his admiration for the genius of the poet, and for his faithful services in behalf of the country during the civil war and then he dedicates his book to him-and and then he dedicates his book to him—and closes with an earnest prayer for the success of the Union arms and the complete overthrow of the slave power. We have said that he arrived on Friday last, yet so modest was the man that noise but some half a dozen gentlemen knew of his presence. His object being a thorough understanding of our liberal institutions, he was first conducted by Mr. institutions, he was first conducted by Mr. Edward Shippen to the Girls' Normal School, where he spent a couple of hours, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the school, teachers and scholars. Next he was taken to the Park, thence to the Hall of Independence (at his own request), where he gave vent to the expression: "We, in England, think that the best thing that ever happened for the civilization and advancement of the world was the Declaration of Independence." From the Haffine was conducted to the Union League, where he was hospitably entertained after which he left for Gettysburg, Baltimore and Washington, promising to pay us another visit. Last night he kept his promise, and to-day, in company with Mr. J. G. Rosengarten, is visiting different points of interest. This morning he called at the Locust Street Grammar the Hellingsworth Secondary and Pri morning he called at the Locust Street Grammar, the Hollingsworth Secondary and Primary, and the Boys' Central High School, with all of which he was well pleased. This afternoon he will visit several of our manufacturing establishments, for, since seeing the style in which our mechanics live, he also desires to see them in their workshops. Mr. Brown's stay in our city will necessarily be short, as he has yet several places to visit, and must be present at the opening of Parliament in November. Mr. Rawlings, one of the Maters of Eton, accompanies this distinguished gentleman.

This man then walked off Subsequently the shoemaker and turned over to his customer $95. This man then walked off. Subsequently the shoemaker discovered that he had been sold. His $100 bill proved to be nothing more than a card of some soap-manufacturing establishment. He rushed to the Central Station and stated his case. The matter was placed in charge of Special Officer James M. Roberts. He, last night, found in a house on St. John street, near Callowhill, a Pole named Scholinski, who Callowhill, a Pole named Scholinski, who finally acknowledged that he was the fellow who played the smart game. He offered Roberts $30 to let him go. This wouldn't work, and he attempted to run away, but this was prevented by putting "bracelets" upon his wrists. AROMATIC SCHEDAM SCHNAPPS seem to be extensively gaining our public confidence, and promises to take the place of every other liquor new in use especially for medicinal use.

This is not surprising; for, apart from its being found in most of our respectable Drug Stores in this city and country, and its being strongly recommended by the physicians, the mild and agreeable taste of this article, confrared with the strong, pungent and actial sensation produced on the palate by the common deleterions article—which is now the general complaint of nearly all the medical facility of this country—would, of itself, suffice to give it the decided preference. If prescribed as a medicine, it is not bud to take; and to use as a bove ruge it is considered by judges to be superior to any article of the kind ever imported into this country.

SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by FATAL BURNING ACCIDENT.—"On Monday evening Mrs. Margaret Greenleaf, an estimable widow lady about fitry years of age, was so badly burned by the explosion of a coal oil lamp that death ensued on Wednesday morning. The unfortunate lady was on her way upstairs for the purpose of retiring, when suddenly thamp flared up, then, with a crash, exploded, scattering the flaming contents over her person. She was slightly stunned at first, but the great peril in which she waplaced—being alone in the house—made her just forth frantic efforts in trying to extinguish the flames, and she finally reached the front door, when her screams brought a couple of men to her assistance, from a store, near by. The poor lady fell as she passed the door, and when the gentlemen came up they found her almost insensible, and enveloped in flames. Throwing their overcoats around her, they soon smothered the flames; but she was shockingly injured. Her cyes were almost burned out; the hads were so badly burned the the skin and nails peoled off; the hair was burned completely from her head; and the upper part of her person was dreadfully burned, especially the breast and neck. She endured most intonse agony until death relieved her sufferings."—Middlesc. County Democrat.
