The celebrated picture gallery, with nearly all its treasures of art, is wholly destroyed. Some few pictures were saved.

From inhabitants who were in the city during the course of the siege, it is learned that the bombardment last week killed an average of ten civilians daily. Many of these unfortunates perished in their blazing dwellings, while others were killed in out-of-theway places and yet remain uninterred. Parties have been detailed to clear away the rubbish from the main square and avenues.

The Great Flood in Virginia. [Special Despatch to the Phila. Evening Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The morning papers are filled with accounts of the great flood along the Potomac, which has destroyed a vast amount of property, and caused the loss of life. The exact number cannot now be estimated. This morning the water has abated, but fears are entertained that the severe storm of yesterday and last night will again cause the river to rise higher than it was on Saturday. According to estimates made to-day, there has been $1,000,000 worth of property destroyed. No rain has fallen to-day, but there is every appearance of a renewal of the juality.
