A Salesman Wanted!-A Fish and Provision house in Philadelphia, wish to engage a salesman. One well acquainted with this and adjoining counties, and who can come well recommended, can secure a position in a first-class house. For further information, address F. Mortimer, New Bloomfield, Pa.

XAccident. — On Thursday morning, just before daylight, Mr. John Fenton, of Buffalo township, had both bones of his leg broken near the ankle, by falling off the wharf into the canal, at the corner of Front and Market streets, Newport. He was taken into Nesbit's Hotel, where the bones were set by Dr. Eby, and during the day was removed to his home.

To the Ladies.-The subscribers having received a lot of Dry Goods, which were slightly wet during a recent fire in the city, are offering them at great bargains. The stock consists of Dress Goods, Cambries, White Bed Spreads, &c., and though not really damaged in the least, are sold at twenty five per cent. less than the regular

Now is your time for bargains. F. Mortimer & Co.,

XThe Wrong Man .- On Thursday of last week, a young man named J. H. Meck, belonging to Liverpool, this county, was arrested charged with having stolen a horse from Michael Deckard, a buggy from John Meck and a set of harness from Dr. T. G. Morris, of that borough. The property was stolen some days since, and information of the fact, with a description of the man supposed to be the guilty party, was left in this borough.

Shortly afterward, word was received from Carlisle, that a person answering the description given, had sold the property in that vicinity, and had left in the direction of

Mr. Meck then came here and found the young man working at J. Fenstemaker's shop, in this borough. A warrant was issued, and Deputy Sheriff Boyer shortly had the young man in jail. On Saturday, however, word was received that Meck was the wrong man and he was consequently discharged.

Newport Items. - James Elder, Robert Patterson, John Himes, Samuel Kepner, and Henry Penny were arrested on Wednesday last, on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and blasphemy .-The latter charge was not sustained, but for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, the parties plead guilty, and were each fined $1,25 and costs, by Justice Wingart, before whom they were arraigned.

X It appears the above parties assembled in a hay mow, and organized a mock prayermeeting, and revival, having crected a "mourners' bench," taking sacrament, &c., together with other sacriligious conduct, for all of which they were fined only the paltry sum of $1,25. One of the parties remarked "that they had lots of fun" for that amount.

A meeting of the citizens of Newport was held on Thursday night, in Wright's Hall, for the purpose of organizing a reform society. The following officers were elected: President-Col. B. P. Bealor .-Secretaries-J. B. Habecker and George Shrom. After many remarks by a number of citizens, a committee of three, J. L. Gantt, Wm. Cumbler, and B. F. Miller were appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, and to report at next meeting .-A finance committee was also appointed, after which the meeting adjourned until Saturday evening, Feb. 5th.

XThe youths of Newport not wishing to be behind their "aged parients" have called a meeting for Saturday evening, Jan. 29th, for the purpose of organizing a "Junior Reform Society. If much talking will avail any thing, Newport ought soon to become a model town.

Proceedings of the Adjourned Court.

The Associate Judges opened Court on the 27th ult., and after transacting some miscellaneous business, adjourned to five p. m. At this time the Court again assembled, his honor Judge Graham being present. There was comparatively a small amount of business to be transacted at this session .-There were a number of certioraris on the list which were argued before the Judges, and in each case the judgment was reversed.

Dr. James Eby was divorced from Emma Eby.

In the case of Horatio McNeal, Adm'r vs. Lowis McNeil, which was a renewal of a judgment by Sci. Fa. in which the parties were father and son. The understanding was that the old gentleman was to have ring his lifetime, but the son dying his adm'rs attempted to collect it. The matter was submitted to the Court in the form of a case stated. The court ruled that the judgment should be marked without interest, and with stay of execution during the lifetime of the defendant.

In the case stated by Martha McClintock vs. J. R. McClintock, ex'r., &c., judgment for pl'ff for $836,00.

In the matter of the petition of citizens of Oliver township for the removal of the board of school directors. After the hearing of evidence of both parties the petition was set aside.

In the matter of the report of the viewers to assess damages for the widening of Main street, in the borough of Newport. After hearing the evidence, the damages of John Fleisher were reduced to $200 and the report confirmed.

Wm. M. McClure, Samuel Spotts, and B. Baltosser were appointed reviewers to review and assess damages on the road from Oliver Rice's tenant house, to Shoaff's mill, in Centre township.

Rev. A. S. Bowman, B. F. Leonard and Henry Brown appointed reviewers to review road from corner of lands of Col. Wister and James Moore to Bell's lane, in Penn

The report of the reviewers on road from Millerstown to Ickesburg was confirmed and Samuel Lupfer, Samuel Owen and Joseph Flickinger appointed reviewers to asss damages sustained by different parties along the route.

[COMMUNICATED.

A Gizzard of Gold.

Mrs. George Jacobs, of Ickesburg, a short time since found in the gizzard of a duck a considerable quantity of yellow metal, in small pieces from the size of a grain of sand to that of a three cent coin, and about as thick as the heaviest foolscap.

Mr. Hoover, watchmaker of Ickesburg, tested some of the metal, and pronounces it good gold. That duck, with others of the same flock, had been prospecting during the winter in Mr. Gaylor's dam, and the adjacent small streams and "duck pud-

Where did the duck find the yellow met-al? Having seen the "gold," I am inclined to think the lucky duck found a piece of jewelry that some "unlucky duck" may have lost; that the jewel was crushed by the muscular action of the duck's gizzard alone, or it may have been partly reduced by the foot of a man or an animal, having less "thirst for gold," or by a wagon wheel, before it was found by the duck. If future developments suggest I will willingly change my opinion. ANNUM.

For The Bloomfield Times. Mr. Editor-As I do not know where the person resides, or what his name is that wrote "The Railroad Humbug" in your paper, but would not suppose that he was a resident of this part of the county. He may live in Dehoney or Timbucktoo for what I know, but he appears to have no conception of the moral, intellectual and mechanical improvements now going on, and the benefits to the country from such advantages. He would go back to the age of three miles travel per hour, haul his grain fifty miles to market, spin and weave by hand, throw away the reaper and mow-er and all other improvements and probably establish the inquisition and stop progression in everything. But progression will go on as designed by Providence, notwith-standing what any "old fogy" may say.— The steamship and the iron horse will carry investigation and christianity to earth's remotest bounds. The resources of this neighborhood or any other part of the country will never be developed unless a rail-road is built. He says the money subscribed as stock to the contemplated road will all be lost now. I contend it will be the best investment a man can make, as it will advance real estate fully one-fourth.-

The timber would double in value.

He speaks of losses from investments in silver mine and oil stocks; that may be all true when persons rush into speculations but the silver mines and oil wells have added materially to the comforts of the community. It may be the writer of "The Railroad Humbug" in your paper is afraid the noise would drive away all the game near the road, as that was the complaint of the Indians, when the Pacific road was contemplated.

templated. Excuse my imperfections, as I am but a plain farmer, but in favor of progress. Yours, CROSS ROADS.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 10, 1870. Mr. Editor-Here I am in the city that did more than any other, to bring about a great rebellion. Here the first gun was fired on our glorious flag. The first thing that strikes a Northern man on his arrival here, is the insignificant appearance of this supposed great city. To hear Charlesto-nians speak of its appearance, one is led to believe that it excels in splendor and grandeur, any other city in the Union. The streets present a filthy and neglected ap-pearance. The buildings are throughout, very ordinary, both in size and style of architecture.

Business is certainly not in a very flourishing condition, and consists principally in the shipment of Cotton and Sugar, and many vessels are compelled to leave with light cargoes. Yet the harbor does not seem at all over-crowded with shipping.

The population of Charleston is made up the use of the money without interest du- of sharp Northerners, chivalrous Southerners, and an over-dose of the Fifteenth Amendment. The first are the "Diamond cut Diamond" class, taking the advantage (if possible), of every one they come in contact with. The second class, would if they could, remain just as they were before the > Political subjects are discussed here with the same freedom that they would be in your office, yet it can be plainly premised from their conversation, that most of the old aristocracy are not as sorry for their attempt to overthrow our Government, as they are for the failure of the attempt. Fifteenth Amendment is the veritable being here, that he is anywhere else. Lazy to a fault, and filthy to perfection. He seems not to comprehend his present status, except as a freeman, he not unfrequently jostles some gentleman of the white persuasion off the side-walk, into the filthy gutter, thus asserting his rights beyond question.

As to living in this place, one must put up with any kind of fare he can get, and pay what his host demands, which is always exorbitant. Here I will beg permission to relate an anecdote told in my presence, by a native of South Carolina, who has lived North for a number of years. He says when he left his native State, the planters lived well, on visiting the home of his childhood, the following scene took place. He stopped with an old esteemed friend; when the hour for breakfast arrived, the planter called together the family, shouldered an axe, and said come on children, we will go to breakfast. The group walked to a Persim-mon tree. The head of the family struck several blows on the tree, and then all fell to work on the fallen fruit; they repeated the same dose next morning. P. R. S. Yours truly,
