HUMOROUS ITEMS.

John and Jane were not married after all, for though he wooed, Jane wouldn't.

Why should a man never marry a woman named Ellen? Because by so doing he rings his own K(nell.)

A man was lately sent to the lunatic asylum for persisting in planting horsechestnuts in expectation of raising sorrel colts.

Girls sometimes put their lips out poutingly because they are angry, and sometimes because they are disposed to to meet you half way.

Josh Billings says there are few sights more sublime and pathetic than to see a poor but virtuous young man, full of Christian fortitude, struggling to grow a mustache.

There is a kind of grim humor in the address of a devout deacon to his newly-settled pastor, as he gave him the usual welcome. "The Lord keep you humble, and we will keep you poor."

An old fellow being visited by his pastor, he assured him he could not be a good Christian unless he took up his daily cross; whereupon he caught up his wife and began lugging her about the room.

What is that which a man does not want and struggles against as long as possible, but having once got it would not part with it for the world?
 A bald head.

"You charge a dollar for killing a calf, you smutty rascal!" said a planter to an old negro.
 "No, no, massa," replied the gentleman from Africa, "I charge fifty for kill-um calf, and fifty for the know how."

"Patrick," said a priest to an Irishman, "how much hay did you steal?"
 "Well, I may as well confess to your reverence for the whole stack, for my wife and me are going to take the rest the first dark night."

"Come back, Sir, that's not the road," said Lord Englinton to a trespasser in his park.
 "Do you ken whaur I'm gaun?" said the offender.
 "No," replied his Lordship.
 "Weel, hoo the de'il do you ken whether this be the road or no?"

A Wife in Bloomington, Ill., during the trial of her first divorce case, interrupted her counsel's eloquent plea for provision for her child with the remark addressed to the court that, "It was not provisions she wanted, but that she would take whatever the court in its wisdom might see fit to allow her, in money, be that much or little."

Parson, I would much rather hear you preach," said a baffled, swindling horse-jockey, than see you interfere in bargains between man and man."
 "Well," replied the parson, "if you had been where you ought to have been last Sunday you would have heard me preach."
 "Where was that?" inquired the jockey.
 "In the State Prison," returned the clergyman.

An English Bishop, who was fond of shooting, in one of his excursions, met with a friend's game-keeper, whom he sharply reproved for inattention to his religious duties, exhorting him strenuously to "go to church and read his bible."
 The keeper in an angry mood, responded, "Why, I do read my bible, sir, but I don't find in it any mention of the apostles going a shooting."
 "No, my good man, you are right," said the bishop; "the shooting was very bad in Palestine, so they went fishing instead."

A repentant Jackass of a husband, from his hiding place in Galveston, sent this letter to his wife in St. Louis.
 How happily he combines affectionate forgiveness with warning advice: GALVESTON, January the 7th, 1870.— My Lovin' Wife — I ne comin ome nex weke an hav forgiv you for javin me.— I'll com on the 7 o'clock train an shall sta ome hereafter and tri to be a altered man. I want peace and so du you, why shoodn't we love each uther, as we used ter when we were first jined together in the wholly bands of madlock, I've jined a temperance society, but if you ever jaw me agin for cummin ome, I'll wollap you like 6ty, fur we must have pece as grant ses.
