HUMOROUS ITEMS.

It was a laconic letter from a lady to her husband—"I write you because I have nothing to do; and I conclude because I have nothing to say."

A person pretending to have seen a ghost, was asked what the apparition said to him.

"How should I know?" he replied; "I am not skilled in the dead languages."

"Whose pigs are those, my lad?" "Why, they belong to that 'ere big sow."

"No, I mean who is their master?"

"Why, that little 'un; he's a rare 'un to fight."

"Biddy," said a lady to her servant, "I wish you would step over and see how old Mrs. Jones is this morning." In a few moments Biddy returned with the information that Mrs. Jones was just seventy-two years, seven months and two days old.

"My dear Ellen," said a young man, "I have long wished for this sweet opportunity, but I hardly dare trust myself to speak the deep emotions of my heart; but I declare to you my dear Ellen, that I love you most tenderly. Your smiles would shed—would shed—" "Never mind the wood shed," said Ellen, "but go on with your pretty talk."

Twenty years ago a Connecticut man left a watch with a jeweller to be cleaned and repaired, saying that he would be in town in a day or two, and call for it. Last week the man called in at the jeweller's and asked: "Do you remember my leaving a watch with you a number of years since, to be cleaned?" "Yes," replied the jeweller, "and here it is."

An imaginative young man, laboring over the gradual encroachments of womankind on masculine territory in the matter of dress, breaks into song as follows:

"They took our coats—at first we hardly missed 'em;
And then they aped our dickeys and cravats;
They stole our sacks—we only laughed and kissed 'em;
Emboldened, then they stole our hats;
Until, by slow and sure degrees, the witches
Have taken all—our coats, hats, boots and breeches!"

The following note was lately sent to a practicing physician by a suffering patient:

HOLMES TOWNSHIP,
Croford Co., Ohio.

Dokter, Sir, i want yu to Cend Me sumthin to cure a breakin' out awl over. I cant tell yu what it is, but it burns and itches. The wife thinks it is the Each, but I don't think it is, but youre the pheshision and send me sumthin to Nock it higher than haman.
Youre friend

An inveterate stammerer one day, upon a journey, stopped to dine at a hotel. On attempting to help himself to pepper at the dinner table, he found, after a violent shaking, that there was no pepper to be had. He turned around, and, beckoning to the waiter, commenced: "Wa-wa-wa-waiter, this pep-pep-p-pep-pepper is som-som-something like me."
"Why so, sir?"
"Po-po-poor delivery."
That pepper-box was soon filled.

A Cincinnati correspondent, returning from the East, was about to file himself away in one of the railway pigeon holes of a sleeping car, when the somnolent passengers were roused by the voice of a huge Kentuckian, who, holding up a pillow between his thumb and finger, roared out to the attendant:

"I say, you boy! come back and take this away!"
"What for, sah?"
"Because I'm afraid the darned thing will get in my ear."

Harry M'Arthy used to tell of an Irishman who was seen at the trenches of Yorktown holding his hand above the earthwork. His captain asked:
"What are you doing that for, Pat?"
He replied with a grin and a working of his fingers:
"I am feelin' for a furlough, sure!"
Just then a minnie-ball struck his arm below the wrist. Slowly drawing it down and grasping it with the other hand to restrain the blood, a queer expression of pain and humor passed over his face as he exclaimed:
"An' faith it's a discharge!"
