HUMOROUS ITEMS.

A thorn in the bush is worth two in the hand.

I hate to hear people talking behind one's back, as the robber said when the constable was chasing him and crying,
"Stop thief!"

An exchange says, "There is something sweet about little girls." Yes, and the older they get (say 18) the sweeter they get.

An Irishman who was near-sighted about to fight a duel, insisted that he should stand six paces nearer his antagonist than the other did to him.

A man was lately sent to the lunatic asylum for persisting in planting horse-chestnuts in expectation of sorrecolts.

Some "hoerid man" says that in the present style of dressing young ladies' hair it is hard to tell which is switch and which isn't.

"You charge a dollar for killing a calf you snuttly rascal!" said a planter to an old negro. "No, no, massa," replied the gentleman from Africa, "I charge fifty for killum calf, and fifty for de know how."

Said an astronomer to a bright eyed girl, when talking of rainbows, "Di-you ever see a lunar bow Miss?" "I have seen a beau by moonlight, sir, if that's what you mean," was the shy rejoinder.

A sailor being asked how he liked his bride, replied: "Why, d'ye see, took her for to be only half of me, as th parson says, but dash me if she isn't twice as much as I. I'm only a tar, but she's a Tartar."

A gentleman in our neighborhood, astonished at the backwardness of his potato crop, had the ground examined by a most experienced judge. It was discovered that the potatoes were short-sighted, and couldn't see their way through the soil. After dressing the ground with a liberal supply of spectacles our friend was rewarded by seeing the tubers growing like winking,

A fashionable lady at a watering-place had a favorite lap-dog which she called Perchance.

"A singular name for your beautiful pet, madam; where did you find it?"
"Oh" drawled she, most exquisitely, "it was named for Byron's dog. You remember where he speaks of it, and says: "Perchance, my dog, will howl."

A yankee one day asked his lawyer how an heiress might be carried off.
"You cannot do it with safety," said the counselor, "but I'll tell you what you may do. Let her mount a horse and hold a bridle whip; do you then mount behind her, and you are safe, for she runs away with you." the next day the lawyer found that it was his own daughter who had run away with his client.

A few days ago a gentleman whose proboscis had been lost, was invited out to tea. "My dear" said the good lady of the house to her little daughter, "I want you to be very particular, and to make no remarks about Mr. Jenkins' nose." Gathered around the table everything was going well; the child peeped about, looked rather puzzled, and at last started the table - "Ma, why did you tell me to say nothing about Mr. Jenkins' nose; he hasn't got any."

At a Sunday school a few miles from town a few Sundays ago, the lesson was in the 3d chapter of John, in which occurs the verse - "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up." The teacher, not thinking of the many answers a child might give to the question asked;
"How was the serpent lifted up?" One little bright eyed boy, who had seen serpents handled before, answered properly:
"By the tail, sir."

At a very successful seance in Cincinnati, the other night a man burst into tears when the medium described very accurately a tall, blue-eyed spirit standing by him, with light side whiskers and his hair parted in the middle. Do you know him?" inquired a man at his side, in a sympathetic whisper. "Know him? I guess I do, replied the unhappy man, wiping his eyes. "He was engaged to my wife. If he hadn't a died he would have been her husband instead of me.
Oh, George, George!" he murmured, in a voice choked with emotion, "why, why did you peg out?"
