Have a Plan.

THKENSON'S Journal, in Hearth and Home gives some good advice in a humorous way, about the necessity of forming some plan of action, and adhering to it.

"But about that matter of decidin' what to plant, or decidin' any thing else it's extr'ordinary how many shilly-shally folks are in the world. I never want to buy my hay of a man that can't quite make up his mind whether he can spare it or notit's pretty apt to be musty hay. He's never quite sure, of a smoky mornin', whether it's best to begin to cut or wait over, and he most generally gets his hay wet

Old Sol Frink, who was a good sort o' man in his way, and had lots o' Bible knowledge-he was one o' them kind in which it stands. that never made up his mind whether he'd better put in potatoes or corn, til it got so late he lost his chance at potatoes, and then-along the twenty-fifth o' May he began debatin' if he hadn't better keep a piece for buckwheat ; and it generally ended with an acre or two left over, which he had to plant to cow-horn turnips.

And the funny part of it is that this sort o' driftin' men are always findin' reasons, when their chance is gone, to show that what they did do was just what they calculated on when they sot out.

Well, old Sol Frink wa'n't wo'th a dum cent when he died. They do say that afore he married he used to stand ten minutes in the cold, of a January mornin' debatin' whether he'd better put on his best trousers or his second best; but arter he got married, his wife, who was a likely woman, put a stop to that business. But she couldn't keep him up to taw out o' doors.

I don't want a man to work for me who don't know, p'int-blank, of a July morning, whether his scythe is sharp enough. or whether it ain't.

And it ain't only the men folks that get sot back with this shilly-shally way. There's lots o' women that if you put 'em down in a store o' goods, can't make up their minds about a frock any more than Sol Frink could about hayin'

I used to say to Jerushy when she was younger-and she ain't so very old now : "Jerushy, my gal," says I, " you can buy a new ealico gown if you want to, and if you won't keep the mare stan'in' more'n ten minutes to buy it in. But," says I. " don't go to bringin' home samples, and don't tell the store folks you will call in ag'in."

That "callin' ag'in" is a great feeder to the do-nothin's. I don't want any body to " call ag'in," unless they've showed they've got some mind o' their own, the first time they call.

There was Marietty Sprole, Parson Bolles' first wife's niece-a likely girlhandsome-a gal folks took to. But she never quite knew her own mind; she

For the Bloomfield Times .. Big Trees in Ohio. McComb, Hancock Co., Ohio, March 4th, 1870.

DEAR SIR: When visiting my friends in Perry county, about a year ago 1 saw eletter in one of the county papers, from Philip Ebert, of Crawford county, Ohio, bragging of the big tree he had just cut." Some of my friends thought I hardly had a tree as large on my fafm, though I thought at the time I had one pretty near

it. After my return home I measured the oak tree that I had in view, and found that four feet from the ground it measured eighteen feet and seven inches in circumference; besides this, it is very tall and carries its thickness well up. I also have several others from four to five feet in diameter. If any of my Perry county friends doubt this, let them come out and see for themselves, and if the tree above mentioned is not as large as I say, I will help them to work it up into shingles, and give them the forty-acre lot

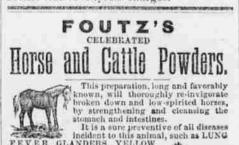

A near neighbor of mine named Thomas, cut a white ash that measured five fect across the stump from which he cut 5 twelve-foot saw logs, and it may interest the teamsters to tell them that they were hauled with one small span of horses .-So you see we have some large trees in this section of the country.

ISRAEL SMITH. Yours truly, *The tree mentioned, if I remember correctly, measured six feet across the stimup and made sev-enteen thousand shingles, some posts and five cords of wood.

199 A correspondent sends us the following recipe to make grafting wax :

" Take good, clean beeswax, one-third; resin, two-thirds; melt together, boil one hour, then pour it into cold water. When cold enough work it with the hands until you think it well mixed. It not soft enough to spread easy add a little more wax. N. B .- Bud your peaches into plum sprouts. In budding take the double buds. Graft your grapes into wild grape roots; you will have grapes the next year without fail. One is worth a dozen of those you get out of the nurseries. I have had them to grow ten and a half feet long the first year.

PAIN KILLER. A Cure for Diptheria!

All interested, please read the following extract from a letter from Mrs. Ellen B. Mason, wife of Rev. Francis Mason, Tounghoo, Birmah:

. My son was taken violently sick with diptheria, cold chills, burning fever, and sore threat, I counted, one morning, ten little vescieles in his throat, very white, and his tongue toward the root, looked like a watermelon full of seeds; the re-mainder coated as thick as a knife-blade. So many children have died around here, I was afraid to call a physician, and thought I would try your Pain Killer for a gargle with small doses inwardly. I did so and found the gargle invariably cut off the vescicles, and he raised them up often covered with blood. He was taken on Sunday: on Wednesday his throat was clear and his tongue rapidly clearing off. I also used it as a limiment with castor off and hartshorn, for his neck. It seemed to me a wonderful cure, and I can but wish it could be known to the many poor mothers in our land who are losing so many poor children by this dreadful disease. Thave found your Pain Killer one of the most vaulable medicines ever used in Burmah. Once 1 was stung by a very large black scorpion; the pain was indescribable. I immediately applied the Pain Killer, (for I never travel without it.) again and again, and in half an hour my foot was well.

Dr. Walton writes from Coshocton-"Your Pain Killer cures this new disease-Dlpheria, or Sore Throat-that is so alarmingly prevalent here; and It has not been known to fail in any instance when used in time. This fact you should make known to the world." (It is used in this disease as a gargle and lotion as well as a tonle and a stimulant.

 $\rightarrow \mathrm{In}$ Halifax where this disease prevailed for so many months in its most malignant form, the use of Perry Davis" Pain Killer" was invariably attended with the most favorable results, when it was used ere the disease had made too much progress to preclude the use of so powerful a stimulaut. ##~ Sold by M. Wapples was courtin' her once; but she dida't quite know whether she liked him or not well enough. Some days she thought she did, and then ag'in some days she thought she didn't.

Well, Wapples wa'n't o' them sort; so one Sunday night he ups and stops a comin'. Marietty died afterward; but if it had been left to her, she never could ha' told-without a day or two's thinkin'whether they'd better ha' made the shroud o' dimity or out o' good unbleached York Mills.

Bay An M. D. writes to an exchange : A cure for whooping cough may be had by the following recipe .- To one ounce of the dried leaves of the common chestnut tree add a quart of boiling water, and when the infusion is cold give a cupful three times a day, the last dose being given when the patient retires. After twenty-four or thirty-six hours the patient will be relieved, and then the dose may be administered in smaller quantity.

1857 The Massachusetts Plouman says there is a close and intimate connection between the nervous and secretory systems of a cow, and this explains the fact that she will often " hold up her milk,' ars it is termed. It shows also that every milker should strive to be on good terms with the cow he is about to milk. If he is a perfect stranger to her, he should take time to gain her coufidence and goodwill by handling her gently and petting her, or giving her something she is fond of to eat.

To keepers of Cows this prepara-tion is invaluable. It is a sure pre-ventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn. etc. It has been proven by citual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm of sweet. In fattening cattle, it fives them an appedite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swino, such as Coughs, Ulcers In the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be cradi-outed or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and ours for the Hog Cholera.
