HUMOROUS ITEMS.

Do you enjoy good health, Zachary?" "Why yes to be sure; who doesn't."

Who is the straightest man mentioned in the Bible? Joseph, because Pharaoh made a ruler of him.

"Figures don't lie," says the arithmetician. "You can't say that of a woman's figures in these days," responds the slanderous dressmaker.

"Wouldn't you call this the calf of a leg?" asked Bob, pointing to one of his nether limbs. "No," replied Pat—"I should say it was the leg of a calf."

"Where are you going to?" asked one little boy of another, who had slipped and fallen down. "Going to get up," was the blunt reply.

"Mammy!" said a precocious little boy, who against his will was made to rock the cradle of his baby brother, "if the Lord has any more babies to give away, don't you take 'em."

A Hartford man, in telling a police officer that he aocular demonstration of his wife's infidelity, added, "I never had any little thing make me so mad in all my life."

A young lady at Cavendish, Vermont, killed a skunk with a butcher knife on Wednesday. Her lover came to see her that night and told her he couldn't marry her unless she quit using such hair oil. How fastidious some men are.

A Parisian philosopher propounds a question and gives the answer: "Why has nature given us two ears and but one tongue? In order that we should repeat but one-half of what we hear."

To make little boys' trousers last when you make a suit of clothes for them finish the coat first, and, by so doing, you will make the trousers last. It is the only way the thing can be done.

A housemaid, the other evening, slipped from a chair, on which she was temporarily standing, and fell head foremost into a barrel of flour. To show the effect of mental agony, we will relate that her hair became white in an instant.

Since the story has been told of Judge Breckinridge marrying a girl whom he saw jump over a rail fence with a pail on her head, the girls in Orange county, N. Y., are said to spend their time in watching the road; and whenever they see a carriage approaching with a man in it, they seize their pails and go for a fence.

Boggs has a bottle of sehannaps in his office, and being a careless chap, (sometimes neglects to lock it up,) he labeled the bottle INK. A friend of his "smoked the little game" and in the same style of letter prefixed DR during his absence, and as everybody that came in complied with the invitation, Boggs was out of "lush" when he came back.

A poor young man once fell in love with an heiress, and the passion being returned, it only wanted the parents' consent to make them happy. At length, meeting the father, he asked for the daughter's hand. "How much can you command?" asked the millionaire gruffly. "I cannot command much," was the reply. "What are your expectations?" "Well, to tell the truth, I expect to run away with your daughter, and marry her, if you don't give your consent."

"Hallo, did you see a dog come by here that looked like he was a year, or a year and a half or two years old?" said a Yankee to a countryman at the road side.

"Yes said the countryman, thinking himself quizzed, "he passed about an hour, or hour and a half, or two hours ago, and is now a mile or a mile and a half or two miles ahead, and he had a tail about an inch and a half or two inches long."

"That'll do," said the Yankee, "you're into me a foot, or a foot and a half, or two feet!"

An anecdote is told of a distinguished bald-headed man who was not very quick at repartee. A lady who was joking him about the white bare spot so much like the Arctic regions, on his poll, suggested that he should be sure and attend the ball d'opera which was soon to come off, and made other remarks quite as unpleasant to a sensitive man. With a sigh, and looking directly at her, he said: "My dear lady, it is much better to be bare than empty." "Oh, yes" she quickly responded, "you are correct; but how uncomfortable to be both!"
