A Curious Egg. — Mrs. Gallatin of this borough, last week broke a large egg in which was found another perfect in every respect, the inner shell being as strong as usual and the contents about the same in quantity as though not surrounded in that singular manner. The outer egg had also the ordinary amount of white and yolk.

Heavy Rain. — In portions of Lancaster and Chester counties, the rain of Wednesday morning amounted to almost a flood. So much water fell, that along the Pennsylvania railroad below Parkersburg, the deep ditches each side of the track were insufficient to convey away the water, which spread over the rails compelling the trains to proceed with much caution.

No Shad. — The case of the Commonwealth vs. the Penn'a Canal Company is well known as the "Susquehanna Shad case." In the Dauphin court it was decided that under the then existing laws the company could not be compelled to alter its dams for the passage of fish, and this judgement has been affirmed by the Supreme Court. The fish steps made in the Columbia dam will be permitted to remain as they now are by which a stray shad may possibly ascend; but catching shad in "the Blue Juniata" is evidently played out.

Not Badly Hurt. — We are glad to inform the friends of Mr. Irvin Souder that he is not dead, as was reported by some. The particulars of the accident with which he met at the Shermansdale Camp-meeting, so far as we can learn, are as follows: He was returning from Camp on Monday night in a spring wagon, in company with some friends, and while ascending a steep hill, a sudden start of the horse, or a jar of the wagon, caused the seat to tilt up, and he and a young lady were precipitated to the ground, he falling on his shoulder, and breaking the clavicle or collar-bone. The young lady was also hurt, but we believe not seriously.

Bitten by a Snake. — A few nights ago a child—daughter of Rev. J. A. McGill, of Tuscarora Valley—feeling thirsty went down stairs to get a drink. The water being out on the porch the child went out there and drank. On closing the outside door on her return she noticed that it did not close with its usual freedom. She also felt something about her feet. After getting to bed one ankle pained her so much that she cried. The father examined her ankle and discovered a singular puncture and a good deal of swelling. Thinking that the hurt was received at the door, and conjecturing the cause, he immediately went down stairs to the outside door, under which he found a large copperhead snake. Mr. McGill put his lips to the wound and sucked the poison out, and thereby in all probability saved the life of his child. The child, we have been informed is getting well. — Juniata Sentinel.

A Feminine Fight came off in the cars of the Pennsylvania railroad, at Harrisburg, on last Wednesday morning, just as the Fast-Line was leaving that depot. A young woman who had been occupying a seat, left the cars for refreshment and returned to find it occupied by a woman and a little girl. The woman refused to relinquish the seat, at the request of the former occupant, who at once proceeded to dispossess her by force. Clothing suffered somewhat, and chignons were below par in less time than it takes to tell it, when, a gentleman sitting opposite interfered, and stopped the fight, offering his seat. — The young woman would, however, take none except the one which she formerly had, and the woman and little girl, by the advice of the passengers, took another seat, leaving the amiable young woman in possession of the coveted place.

For the finest assortment of Cassimers, and Cloths to be found in the county, go to P. Mortimer & Co., New Bloomfield.

Democratic County Convention. — The Democratic Convention met in this borough on Monday afternoon. The attendance was quit large, and much interest appeared to be manifested by the politicians—the forenoon being busily occupied by the "wire-pullers." At 1 o'clock the convention was called to order and Chas. C. Brant was elected President, and David Mickey, of Bloomfield, and — Livingston, of Watts township, Secretaries.

The total number of delegates present was 63.

The following is a list of the nominations made:

- For Congress, R. J. HALDEMAN. For Assembly, Dr. D. B. MILLIKEN, of Landisburg. For Prothonotary, J. J. SPONENBERGER, of Liverpool. For Commissioner, JOHN A. LINEAWEAVER, of Oliver twp. For Director of the Poor, J. S. RITZER, of Tyrone twp. For Jury Commissioner, Wm. Wright, of Howe. For Coroner, Dr. O. H. ORTIS, of Newport. For County Surveyor, P. HUSTON, of Carroll twp.

The Senatorial Conferees are William Beale, Henry Rinesmith, and C. E. Patterson, who were instructed to vote for Dr. Crawford of Juniata.

Killed by Lightning. — On last Thursday noon, during the prevalence of a severe thunder storm, two organ grinders who had been in our borough in the morning, had seated themselves under a tree in Adam Smyser's orchard in West Manchester township, probably to secure themselves from the falling rain. While in that position the lightning struck the tree peeling off a portion of the bark, killing one of the men instantly and injuring the other to such an extent that it was thought he could not survive. They had with them two organs and a small monkey under the tree at the same time. Neither the monkey nor the organs received any injury. An inquest was held over the body of the deceased organ grinder by Esquire John A. Metzel of the borough, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts. Both of the men were taken in the afternoon, to the Alms House, the one for interment and the other to receive medical attendance.

The sum of $15 78 was found upon the person of the deceased. On examination of the body of the deceased, by the inquest it was found that one of the limbs of the tree, under which was sitting at the time of the electric stroke, had been photographed by the lightning upon his left bosom. This is both curious and remarkable and may lead to developments in science not heretofore known. The deceased was eating an apple, at the time the bolt fell and his open knife was found lying along side of him after his death. The survivor was unconscious when taken to the Alms House and we have not since heard of his condition. Both were foreigners and strangers in a strange land, and their names could not be ascertained. — York True Democrat.

Rather Fortunate. — One night last week a small child belonging to William Zium, residing on Church street, this borough, became restless in bed and in rolling from side to side it fell from the window, which had carelessly been left open. Mrs. Zium hearing the cry of her little one from the outside of her bedroom, alarmed her husband. They hastened down to the yard expecting to find their child in the last agonies of death, but were surprised to find no child there. They looked up toward the window from which she had fallen and there discovered the missing one suspended a few feet below the sill of the window, on a nail. The father soon hastened the rescue, and relieved the child from its perilous position. The child sustained no injuries whatever. — Sunbury Guard.

For The Bloomfield Times.

Mr. Editor: Sir—As an item of importance, I wish to state for the Times that the Rev. Mr. Caruthers, (Presiding Elder) in his sermon last Sunday week, at the Elliottsburg Camp-meeting, stated before an audience of about 2,000, that the Catholic and French journals justify the present war against Prussia, because the Prussians are a Protestant Nation, and predicted that the Pope as the "Man of Sin and Son of Perdition" would now doubtless make a strong effort to conquer and destroy all Protestants and Heretics.

This is the same prediction that was made by Professor Smolnikar, ten years ago, and since the Dogma of Infallibility has been proclaimed by the Pope, Protestants are beginning to apprehend its truth. AN OBSERVER.

Fashion has introduced something which the ladies wear around their neck, which is too large for a collar and just a little too small for a shawl. They call it a new style of collar, however.

Caterpillars are unusually bad this season, not only in this vicinity, but all over the country. During a recent trip we saw places where hundreds of trees were entirely stripped of foliage.

At the Delegate Election in this borough on Saturday last, a lively contest was had between the friends of Hon. R. J. Halde-man, who wants a re-nomination, and the friends of J. B. Bratton, Esq., of Carlisle, who appears to be the favorite in Cumberland. Dick was, however, victorious.

An attack will be made on the grass and briars in the grave-yard attached to the Lutheran and German Churches in this borough, on Saturday morning next, at 9 o'clock. All who are interested in having it present a neat appearance, will present themselves, armed with scythe or rake.
