FARM AND HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

We invite communications from all persons who are interested in matters properly belonging to this department.

COMMUNICATED.

How to Have Good Cider all the Time.

In the first place pure cider only should be procured; such as you are sure has been made of sound fruit, and not watered in making, even so much as by a painful dashed upon the cheese. That spoils your cider. It should be kept full after "working," by adding enough cider to keep the cask full to the bung. After the new cider is well settled, draw it off carefully into another barrel; then when it has fairly "worked," draw it off again, each time leaving the sediment. If drawn off again about the first of January, the cider will be benefited. The object is to get it clear of all sediment. Keep it in a dark, cool cellar. About the first of March, it will do to bottle. Put nothing in your bottles except pure cider. Use stout junk-bottles, and soft, straight corks. Wet each cork as you drive it tightly and closely down. Then wire it, or use stout twine, or the cork will fly out. Cider put up in this manner will keep for years, and be equal to champagne. I have tried it for some years with perfect success.

Feeding Pigs.

A writer in the Rural New Yorker gives advice in regard to feeding pigs, as follows:

In case you do not have milk enough for the sows and pigs both, give it to the latter by all means. Begin with good sweet milk, gradually getting them used to that which is a little sour, until they will drink one about as well as they do the other, at the same time commence giving them Indian meal—not corn and cob meal—made into a hasty "pudding," alternately with boiled potatoes, ground peas, rye or buckwheat if you have them, and give them all they will eat, three or four times a day. Add from time to time a little salt with their food, they will thrive the better for it.

A Good and Simple Ladder.

A correspondent of the Hearth and Home says: "I recently saw on a neighboring farm one of the simplest and best ladders for gathering fruit now in use, it being plain and durable and a boy could make one. Take a young chestnut or other suitable wood about six inches in diameter; split it at the butt-end for about six feet up the stem; put a wooden wedge in the cleft to keep it open, and an iron band just above it to keep it from splitting further up. It may then be bored and rounds inserted, and it may be of any length desired. The upper end is to rest in the crotch of a branch or a limb. The wood is split; the iron is to keep it together."

Keeping Grapes Fresh For Winter Use.

If you desire delicious, fresh grapes in winter, or even up to next spring, they can be had by very little care and expense. Pick the bunches only in a dry, warm day, and place them in a cool, shady place for at least three days; then commence to pack them in boxes that will hold about ten pounds. Between each layer of grapes place a single thickness of newspapers; the boxes should not contain more than three layers in thickness. Then place in a cool, dry room—not in a cellar, for the natural dampness there will cause mold and decay. In this way, the past very damp unfavorable season we kept Concord, Delaware, Hartford and Diana, the last being in good condition in March.—Rural World.

Every one who has a yard of ground to spare, should plant a grapevine. It is one of the best and most wholesome of fruits. If you plant but one or two, let them be the "Concord." It will not disappoint you. It is a hardy vigorous grower, very productive, and of good flavor.

H. D. Court, the well-known breeder of Chester White swine, of Battle Creek Mich., writes the "Prairie Farmer" that he has found a teaspoonful of pulverized copperas, mixed with an equal quantity of sulphur, fed in the night's meal, for three days, will cure kidney worms in swine.

THE KIDNEYS.

THE Kidneys are two in number, situated at the upper part of the loins, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz: the Anterior, the Interior and the Exterior.

The Anterior absorbs. Interior consists of tissues or veins, which serve as a deposit for the urine and convey it to the Exterior. The Exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tube, and called the Ureter. The Ureters are connected with the bladder.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz: the Upper, the Lower, the Nervous, and the Mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to urinate without the ability; others urinate without the ability to retain.—This frequently occurs in children.

To cure these affections, we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglected, Gravel or Dropsy may ensue.

The reader must also be made aware, that however slight may be the attack, it is sure to affect the bodily health and mental powers, as our flesh and blood are supported from these sources.

GOUT, OR RHEUMATISM.—Pain occurring in the loins are indicative of the above diseases. They occur in persons disposed to acid stomach and chalky concretions.

THE GRAVEL.—The gravel ensues from neglect or improper treatment of the kidneys.—These organs being weak, the water is not expelled from the bladder, but allowed to remain; it becomes feverish, and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed and gravel ensues.

Dropsy is a collection of water in some parts of the body, and bears different names, according to the parts affected, viz: when generally diffused over the body, it is called Anasarca; when of the abdomen, Ascites; when of the chest, Hydrothorax.

TREATMENT.—Helmhold's highly concentrated compound Extract Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder, kidneys, bladder, dropsical swellings, rheumatism and gouty affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in passing water, Scanty Secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Strangury, or stopping of water; Hematuria, or bloody urine; Gout and Rheumatism of the kidneys, without any change in quantity, but increase in color, or dark water. It was always highly recommended by the late Dr. Physick, in these affections.

This medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy exercise by which the watery or calcareous depositions, and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflammation, are reduced, and it is taken by men, women, and children. Directions for use and diet accompany.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 25, 1867.

H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist;

DEAR SIR—I have been a sufferer, for upward of twenty years, with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent Physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted with my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu. I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised remedies, and had found them worthless, and, some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of buchu, cubeb, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced its use about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room. From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks, was able to walk out. I felt much like writing you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing then it would be of more value to you, and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months.

I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

M. McCORMICK.

Should any doubt Mr. McCormick's statement, he refers to the following gentlemen:

Hon. WM. BIGLER, ex-Governor, Pennsylvania. " THOS. B. FLORENCE, Philadelphia. " J. C. KNOX, Judge, Philadelphia. " J. S. BLACK, Judge, Philadelphia. " D. R. PORTER, ex-Governor, Pennsylvania.

Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.—Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmhold's. Take no other. Price—$1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address, H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.
