FARM AND HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

We invite communications from all persons who are interested in matters properly belonging to this department.

Perfect Coffee.

A correspondent of the Independent, travelling in Sweden, was immensely delighted with the coffee served on the steamboats and hotels. "At Upsala," he writes, "we determined to find out how they made such perfect coffee as we had just drunk, and stepped into the neat kitchen of the little hotel; and this was the report: Take any kind of coffee-pot or urn, and suspend a bag made of felt or very heavy flannel, so long that it reaches the bottom, bound on a wire just fitting the top; put in the fresh-ground pure coffee, and pour on freshly boiled water. The fluid filters through the bag, and may be used at once; needs no settling, and retains all its aroma. The advantage of this over the ordinary filter is its economy, as the coffee stands and soaks out the strength, instead of merely letting the water pass through it. 'Do you boil it?' then inquired the learner. 'Na-a-a-ay,' said the maid in simple astonishment that any one should be so wasteful as to send the precious aroma away in steam, should rob that prince of food of that evanescent something which constitutes his nobility, and reduce him to a mere aliment. As soon would one think of throwing away that drop of sunshine, charged with all the summer's gold which lies at the throat of a bottle of Johannisberger."

How to Break Colts to Lead.

Take a piece of common size rope six or eight feet long; make a noose on one end large enough to slip easily into the colt's mouth. Then take the other end and pass it over his neck, through the noose on the under side of the mouth, and you are ready to begin operations. Step around to one side of the animal a few feet off, and command him to move; at the same time give a sudden pull on the halter. Continue in this manner, giving a sudden pull sideways (but never forward) every time the colt refuses to move, and gently pat him on the neck when he obeys. By this method any colt can generally be broken to lead in a couple of hours; after this any kind of halter can be used. A colt broken in this manner will not learn to pull back on the halter, as many do when the method of pulling forward on the halter and beating to make them lead, is resorted to, as is often done.—Western Rural.

Cabbages.

A correspondent of the New England Farmer says, if persons who have lost their cabbage by the caterpillar, which is the offspring of the Pieris Rapae, will another year, after setting out their cabbages, keep them well sprinkled with a solution of blue vitriol and water—a piece of vitriol as large as a walnut to a pail of water—they will not be troubled much with the worm. Hellebore answers very well in place of the vitriol. Care must be taken not to get the solution too strong, as it is poison. Liquid hen-manure is also very good.

If correct this statement is important: "The omnibus and street car companies of New York city have found that a horse weighing 1,000 or 1,100 pounds is the most serviceable, and the best food for him is twelve pounds of hay a day, 15 pounds of corn meal, and two or three pounds of salt in a month. The hay is cut, moistened, and the meal mixed with it. Twenty miles of travel a day is expected of him."

Buckwheat griddle-cakes: The fine brown color so desirable on this favorite breakfast dish cannot be obtained if we rely on buckwheat flour and water alone to furnish the batter. In order to secure this color milk should be used instead of water and in its absence we should recommend the addition of finely mashed potatoes. This mashed potato improves the flavor of the cakes and causes them to rise better.

Spots on Carpets.

A few drops of carbonate of ammonia in a small quantity of rain water will if carefully applied, remove stains from carpets, whether produced by acids or alkalis. Carpets injured by whitewash have been perfectly restored by this simple receipt.

When to Plant Peaches.

An exchange has the following in answer to an inquiry as to the best time to plant peach trees—spring or fall:

Our advice is to procure the trees this fall and heel them in carefully, first pruning every root, after heeling them in, take care that no trees or roots lay across each other, but that the earth touch every part of the root. Of course a dry place should be selected for the heeling in; the trees should have their tops toward the south, and the earth say one foot deep over the roots, and four inches deep along on the bodies, two and a half or three feet towards their tops. As soon as the ground will work clean in the spring, do the planting out in the orchard, and then prune the tops as fast as planted, cutting them so that no tree be over three feet out of the ground.

Put dried fruit in common muslin bags with a little sassafras bark scattered through; put a handful of bark to a bushel of fruit, and no worms will trouble it.

THE KIDNEYS.

THE Kidneys are two in number, situated at the upper part of the loin, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz: the Anterior, the Interior and the Exterior.

The Anterior absorbs. Interior consists of tissues or vessels, which serve as a deposit for the urine and convey it to the Exterior. The Exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tube, and called the Ureter. The Ureters are connected with the bladder.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz.: the Upper, the Lower, the Nervous, and the Mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to urinate without the ability; others urinate without the ability to retain.—This frequently occurs in children.

To cure these affections, we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglected, Gravel or Dropsy may ensue.

The reader must also be made aware, that however slight may be the attack, it is sure to affect the bodily health and mental powers, as our flesh and blood are supported from these sources.

GOUT, OR RHEUMATISM.—Pain occurring in the loins are indicative of the above diseases. They occur in persons disposed to acid stomach and chalky concretions.

THE GRAVEL.—The gravel ensues from neglect or improper treatment of the kidneys.—These organs being weak, the water is not expelled from the bladder, but allowed to remain; it becomes feverish, and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed and gravel ensues.

DROPSY is a collection of water in some parts of the body, and bears different names, according to the parts affected, viz.: when generally diffused over the body, it is called Anasarca; when of the abdomen, Ascites; when of the chest, Hydrothorax.

TREATMENT.—Helmhold's highly concentrated compound Extract Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder, kidneys, bladder, dropsical swellings, rheumatism and gouty affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in passing water, Scanty Secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Strangury, or stopping of water; Hematuria, or bloody urine; Gout and Rheumatism of the kidneys, without any change in quantity, but increase in color, or dark water. It was always highly recommended by the late Dr. Physick, in these affections.

This medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy exercise by which the watery or calcareous depositions, and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflammation, are reduced, and it is taken by men, women, and children. Directions for use and diet accompany.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 25, 1867.

H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist:

DEAR SIR—I have been a sufferer, for upward of twenty years, with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent Physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted with my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised remedies, and had found them worthless, and, some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of buchu, cubeb, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced its use about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room. From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks, was able to walk out. I felt much like writing you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing then it would be of more value to you, and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months.

I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.
