NEW BLOOMFIELD, PENN'A. Tuesday, March 28, 1871.

SOME of our exchanges complain at the long and frequent adjournments made by the legislature. We think the tax payers would not lose very much if both Houses were to adjourn for a year or two.

A BILL has been reported in the State Senate, requiring parties intending to marry to enter their intentions in the Registers office, accompanied with a fee of one dollar.

THE President has appointed, John W. Forney Esq., of the Press as collector of the Port of Philadelphia. Mr. Forney has in his paper expressed himself very strongly against the San Domingo treaty and the removal of Senator Sumner from the Committee on foreign Relations.

GOV. HOLDEN of North Carolina has been on trial charged with, unlawfully raising troops, and illegally arresting certain citizens, refusing to obey writs of Habeas Corpus, and defrauding the State by unlawfully using the monies belonging to it.

LAWLESSNESS has made such headway in the state of South Carolina that the Governor has at last been forced to call upon the President for military aid to restore order and protect the citizens.

TROUBLE, of a most serious kind, seems to be in store for the French Nation. Having succeeded in making peace with the Germans, the French Government is now seriously endangered by a revolution inaugurated by the disaffected among their own people.

In London every eight minutes, night and day, somebody dies; every five minutes a child is born. This great city contains as many people as the whole of Scotland, twice as many as Denmark, three times as many as Greece, and 400 times as many as Georgetown, D. C.

A burglar entered the Old Stone Presbyterian Church, in Augusta county, Va., on the night of the 3d inst., and stole the pulpit Bible, an heirloom which, for a century or more, had been used by the venerable minister who preached the Word in that mother church of the Valley of Virginia.

Sad Accident. The Harrisburg State Journal of the 21st inst., says. A terrible accident occurred about 8 o'clock last evening, on the Pennsylvania railroad, within the city limits, at Gallagher's switch a short distance above the round house, which was attended with fatal consequences.

Wm. Callendar, brakeman, a married man, residing on Allison's hill, had both legs broken, and was otherwise severely injured. He died a short time after the accident, while being removed to the depot in a car.

Edward Yoder, conductor, residing in the lower part of the city, had one of his legs broken. He was removed to his residence and received every attention.

S. Sweger, brakeman, had both hands scalded and badly crushed, arm broken, and was injured internally. His death was momentarily expected at 11 o'clock last evening, the hour we left the injured men.

Samuel Caster, brakeman, had his leg cut below the knee and thigh bone broken. It is thought amputation will be necessary.

The injured men were promptly removed in a car from the scene of the accident to the depot, and every effort made to alleviate the sufferings of the survivors. Dr. Rutherford, the company physician, was summoned and rendered every medical and surgical assistance.

A Mystery Cleared Up.

A Chicago paper says a man named Gambleton, from New York, but originally from Germany, was found dead in the Lake here, in January last. He had been in poor health, and it was thought that he had committed suicide, but nothing could be found of his money, about nine thousand dollars.

A detective learned that he was intimate with a German who came on from New York with him, and he has been watched closely ever since. He returned to Germany, when a telegram was sent to the Consul at Bremen to watch him.

It appears he asked Gambleton to walk in the evening to the Lake shore, where he killed him, and dressing himself in Gambleton's clothes, he returned to New York, drew out $8,000 in bank, forging Gambleton's name, obtained goods from the depot and storehouse by the same means, sold the property and returned to Germany with the proceeds. He will be brought here for trial.

Another Terrible Tornado.

The Lebanon (Ill.) Chronicle of the 20th inst., gives an account of a terrific tornado which passed over a portion of St. Clair county last Thursday night. The storm passed half a mile east of Lebanon, and did great damage. Some 20 farm houses were either blown from their foundations or entirely demolished.

Miss Watson was instantly killed, Mr. Vermillion fatally injured, and has since died, and his wife not expected to recover. Miss Vermillion's arms and legs were broken, and she was otherwise injured. She is not expected to live.

Two officials letters have been received at Washington from a member of the San Domingo Commission, which indicate very clearly the political situation, and show the principal difficulty in the way of the annexation of the Island to the United States. So far as the Commission have yet been able to learn, the views of the people are generally favorable to annexation, but the Haytian end of the island is ultimately opposed to any such step.

Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Farmington, Me., attended a lecture on electricity at that place, recently, and during the evening fell insensible. She was immediately taken home but died in two hours. A post-mortem examination revealed that death was caused by a cancer, which had consumed the ligatures around the heart, so that when the last one had been severed death ensued.

Important Decision.

An important case was tried in our Court the past week. It was the case of James Williams vs. Johnsey Blizzard, being an appeal from Justice Bushey, and was an action on a note under seal given by the appellant and another to the appellee, where the amount of the note was over $100, which placed it beyond the jurisdiction of the magistrate.

A Case of Clairvoyance.

A young lady by the name of Taylor, who has been acting in the capacity of a hired servant for some time at the residence of Mr. Boyle, at Kelly's station, about two miles west of here, has been in what may be termed a state of clairvoyance since last Thursday.

Some time during the day a little girl belonging to the house was sent up stairs to awaken her, but did not succeed in doing so. The mistress then tried to arouse her by a severe shaking, but her efforts were in vain.

She lies with her arms folded across her breast, and but seldom speaks when spoken to. On being interrogated in regard to the other world, she said that she saw the "place of endless torment, that the doors were open, and the inmates crying for water."

On Sunday a number of boys were playing on the old gas holder in Fair Haven Conn., out of use for over a year. The capacity of the holder was about 40,000 feet: but at this time there were only about 4,000 or 5,000 feet of gas in it.

CARSON'S Stellar Oil!

The alarming increase in the number of frightful accidents, resulting in terrible deaths and the destruction of valuable property, caused by the indiscriminate use of oils, known under the name of petroleum, prompts us to call your special attention to an article which will, wherever USED, remove the CAUSE of such accidents.—We allude to

ILLUMINATING PURPOSES. The proprietor of this Oil has for several years felt the necessity of providing for, and presenting to the public, as a substitute for the dangerous compounds which are sent broadcast over the country, an oil that is SAFE and BRILLIANT, and entirely reliable.
