HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S Compound Fluid EXTRACT CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS. Composit Partis—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK, OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, CONSTIPATION, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS, OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from impudience or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. The Catawba Grape Pills, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "poison" was by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage. HUMOROUS ITEMS.

A shrewd little fellow who had just begun to read Latin, astonished his master by the following translation:—"Vir, a man; gin, a trap. Virgin, a man trap."

A Florida jury trying a case of larceny against a negro woman, brought a verdict that, "We, the jury, find the prisoner not guilty, but believe he stole the goods."

"Is it wrong to cheat a lawyer?" was recently very ably discussed by a debating society. The conclusion arrived at was that it was not wrong but impossible.

A bigamist's lawyer, in response to a question from the judge, as to how many wives his client had, said, "We have thus far counted up only thirteen, but there are yet twenty-nine states to hear from."

A servant girl who was employed to pickle her master's cabbage, took the opportunity to cabbage the master's pickle. She is the same woman who was happy and careless when she was young, and cappy and hairless when she was old.

A man in Yorkshire, while a collection was being made to aid the heathen, pocketed all the money in the plate. When asked to explain his conduct, he replied that he was the greatest heathen in that part of the country.

The other day, while the Legislative Committee were walking through the Lunatic Hospital of Rhode Island, one of the female patients, after looking curiously at the group, said, "Well, I declare if there ain't the animals from Noah's Ark."

A young lady at Indianapolis was endeavoring to impress upon the minds of her Sunday-school scholars the sin and terrible punishment of Nebuchadnezzar and when she said that for seven years he ate grass like a cow, she was astonished by a little girl who asked: "Did he give milk?"

A rogue going to be hanged begged as a personal favor that the rope be tied under his arms, instead of around his neck. "What an absurd request," said the executioner. "Not at all," replied the criminal, "for I am so ticklish in the throat that if you tie the rope there I shall be sure to die with laughter!"

Said an American to an Irishman, "My ancestors came from Ireland, my name is Bryant—did you ever know any people of that name in Ireland?" "O, yes, a great many of them." "Well, what sort of people were they? Pretty high strung, were they not?" "O, I've seen a great many of them strung so high that their feet did not touch the ground."

An eccentric minister, in a large parish, had seventeen couples to marry at once in a grand common service at the church. In the course of the weddings, he asked one of the men to pledge himself to the wrong woman. The man naturally protested, but was told, "Hold your tongue, I will marry you all now, and here; you can sort yourselves going home."

Customer—"Waiter, do you call this butter toast? why, there's no butter to be seen!" Waiter—"Butter all gone into the toast, sir." Customer—"But there's no toast to speak of." Waiter—"Toast all gone into the butter, sir." Customer—"Ah! ha! there's a new idea in that, by Jove! I'll go straight home and write a pamphlet upon the new theory of mutual absorption."

"I am so glad to find you better," said the famous surgeon, John Hunter, to Foote, the actor. "You have followed my prescription, of course."

"Indeed I did not, doctor, for I should have broken my neck." "Broken your neck!" exclaimed Hunter; "how is that?" "Yes," said Foote, "for I threw your prescription out of a three-story window."

The other day, one of the boys, thinking to have a little fun out of a wilted Irishman, said:

"Rowley, have you heard the news?" "No; what news?" "Why the devil is dead."

Not a word said Rowley, but putting his hand in his pocket and taking out a ten cent shin plaster, handed it to his questioner, who asked him what it was for.

"Why," answered Rowley, "in the old country, where I came from, it is the custom to give the children something when their parents die."

When the British ships under Lord Nelson were bearing down to attack the combined fleet of Trafalgar, the first lieutenant of the Revenge, on going around to see that all hands were at quarters, observed one of the men, an Irishman, devoutly kneeling at the side of his gun. So very unusual an attitude exciting his surprise and curiosity, he asked the man if he was afraid. "Afraid," answered the tar, "no yer honor; I was only praying that the enemy's shot may be distributed in the same proportion as the prize money—the greatest part among the officers."
