The Bloomfield Cimes.

Tuesday, June 13, 1871. LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

OUR TERMS

Are One Dollar a Year in Advance

The "Normal Echo Literary Society," connected with the J. V. Normal School, will celebrate its fourth Anniversary, Friday evening, the 16th inst.,

The old members of the society, and the public in general are cordially invited to attend.

Badly Scared.-Late on Wednesday evening as the daughter of Robert N. Willis of this borough went to the pump in their yard for water, some scamp caught her by the ankle. Her screams alarmed her father and the neighbors and caused the fellow to take a hasty departure. He succeeded in making his escape without getting the punishment he would have received had he been caught.

A Success .- The ladies are usually successful in their undertakings, and the festival gotten up by them for the aid of the Lutheran Sunday-school was no exception to the general rule. Both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the court-house yard was crowded with young and old-all anxious to taste the good things which were there so temptingly displayed. Icecream, lucious strawberries, cool lemonade, rich cake in great variety, and other dainties were there in abundance. Everybody appeared to enjoy themselves, and all will, no doubt, remember with much satisfaction, the two evenings spent at this festival.

The net proceeds of the two evenings was about $100.

They tender their hearty thanks to the patrons, also to those who contributed toward the getting up the festival.

Another Strange Animal. - A certain young gent not a thousand miles from Bloomfield, nor a hundred years ago, met with a an awful "scare." He had been out with the expressed purpose of attending a singing, but in fact, to talk "soft things' to a young lady, when on coming home, he saw a strange animal in the yard. After gaining the porch so as to be under the 'wing and protection' of mamma (with his hair standing on end) he summoned up resolution enough to throw a club at it. Whether he killed "that unimal" or not, remains a mystery, but it is certain that his mother's large cream-crock was lying, next morning, in the vicinity of the night's adventure, WITHOUT ANY BOTTOM in it.

Sudden Death.-The Carlisle Herald says, On Wednesday morning last, the little village of Hickorytown, on the Trindle Spring Road, about three miles east of this place, was shocked by the announcement that Mrs. Jane Stouffer, a resident of that place, had been found dead in bed. The night previous, she had retired about 10 o'clock, apparently in good health, and had been livelier on Tuesday than usual. She was discovered by her daughter, on the morning in question. The deceased is supposed to have had a paralytic stroke, This sudden death cast a gloom over the neighborhood, as she was a woman of exemplary character, and much respected by all who knew her. The remains were interred in Ashland Cemetery, on Friday last, attended by a large concourse of relations and friends.

Distressing Death .- The Mifflintown Democrat and Register says: "A little son of the Rev. Shindle, the Lutheran minister in Perrysville, aged about eighteen months, died on the 1st inst., from the effects of swallowing a number of percussion caps.-The caps were administered to the little fellow, by an elder brother, for pills. Medical aid was immediately summoned .-Thirty-five caps passed from him, but he died from the effects as above stated, on Thursday. Mr. Shindle and family have the sympathy of the entire community in this sudden and sad bereavement.

Found Out .- A woman in Chambersburg last week was anxious to know the explosive force of a shell which she found. So she placed it in the oven of the cook-stove, and went out. From the number of pieces of old stove which were picked up and from the holes in the wall of the room, she was satisfied that the shell was powerful, and besides that it made a decided noise.

Found.-As Solomon Stuck was repairing the back porch of his house, in Granville township, Mifflin county, he found placed under the steps, away back, a tin box full of silver and gold.

Harrisburg is greatly excited over the dead lock in their school board. The parties are evenly divided and after over sixty ballots the board is still not organized.

Sheriff's Sales,-The following is a list of property sold at Sheriff's Sale in this borough, on Friday last :

No. 1, A tract of timber land situate in Liverpool twp., seized and taken in execution as the property of Joseph Leiter.

Sold to James Whitmer for $355.
No. 2, A tract of land situate in Carroll twp., having thereon erected a two story house, and log barn. Seized as the property of Levi Leeds. Sold to Samuel C.
Gries for $1.125.

Grier for $1,125. No. 3, The same defendant's interest in another tract of land in same twp. Sold to Chas. E. McLaughlin, Esq., for $125.

No. 4, A lot of ground situate in Penn twp., with the buildings thereon, seized as the property of James Leidy. Sold to Duncannon Iron Company for $7.

No. 5, A tract of land containing sixty acres situate in Liverpool twp., having thereon a plastered house and frame barn. Sold to Joseph Seiler for $1,825.

No. 6, A tract of woodland containing 14 acres situate in the same twp. Sold to Joseph Seiler for $25 No. 7, A tract of land situate in Liverpool twp., having thereon erected a stone bouse and small stable. Sold to Joseph Seiler for $100.

No. 8, A tract of land situate in Liver-pool twp., having thereon a frame weath-orboarded house. Sold to Joseph Seiler

No. 9, A tract of land situate in Liverpool twp., having thereon a two-story dis-tillery building with all the appurtenances. Sold to Joseph Seiler for $265. The last five tracts were seized and taken in execu-tion as the property of S. S. Charles.

A Noble Act. On Thursday afternoon last, as the Express train on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad was proceeding Eastward, and rounding a curve midway between Leesburg and Appollo, in Armstrong county, the engineer observed a woman on the track, waving her apron violently in the air. The first thought was of danger and he immediately applied his breaks and got the train stopped just in time to prevent a terrible accident, as a mass of rock weighing about fifteen tons had fallen upon the track a few rods from where the woman had given the signal. When the train stopped, the passengers were not long in ascertaining the cause, and appreciating the noble conduct of the poor country woman to whose presence of mind they owed their rescue from a shocking casuality. Colonel Hicks the conductor of the train, at once consulted with some of the passengers, and in a short time a purse of twenty dollars was made up and presented to her. She gave her name as Mrs. Frank. A passenger on the train, from whom we obtained our information, desires that we should commend the case of this humble woman to the company. Had it not been for her warning signal, the train would have been dashed into the rock, and serious damage to the train, if not to the passengers, would have been the consequence.-Altoona Tribune.

Pic Nic.-The printers of Harrisburg held a pic nic at the grounds of the P. R. R. Co., in Marysville on Saturday last. The day was remarkably fine and the attendance good.

Dr. Schæppe has written a long communication to Gov. Geary in which he reviews the testimony and the charge of the judge, and what is strange, obstinately persists in declaring his innocence.

For The Bloomfield Times. Mr. Trostle's Reply to the Visitors of the Perry County Poor House.

Mr. Trostle's Reply to the Visitors of the Perry County Poor House.

The poor-house visitors say they are surprised at seeing a reply to their report by me. I think that they need not be surprised that I would be disposed to defend myself from calumny when their malicious darts were thrown at me. They think that if anything was wrong the directors were the proper persons to attend to it. I did not take the whole responsibility on myself, and if they have a little patience they may hear from the directors.

The visitors say: "In making the report they had no purpose in view, but to give the facts as they came to them." This, I say, is not the fact. They say they had no spite or unkind feeling to gratify, nor do they entertain any other than the most friendly disposition toward the institution, as well as to the steward. I would meet this by asking, was there not some altercation between one of the visitors and myself on one of their last visits respecting some talk he had about me last winter? Here was a ground for the aggravated feeling which he cherished. This was the good feeling he entertained toward me at that time. This I give to show that kind feelings, such as he speaks of, did not actually exist, and accounts in part for the evil report, and shows that the animosity was personal, and not for the good of the inmates of the poor-house, for whom he has so much sympathy.

They say they have reason to believe that a the good of the inmates of the poor-house, for whom he has so much sympathy.

They say they have reason to believe that a wagon-whip or some such instrument was used on females or a female; why not say females, if they had such information, but they have brought it down to one. I want to know where they got their information; perhaps it was such an instrument as some persons use in their families to correct their children with.

They say that the paupers, from some cause, perhaps from threats of fear or harsh treatment, are afraid to say anything about their bad usage. This is guess work or imagination with them. They think it prudent not to tell us where they got their their information. If they call on me I will give them any information they may want, with pleasure.

As to the bed-bugs, did not the visitors question one of the females so closely on that subject, that she told them she thought they had come there for the purpose of giving them a bad name. This was not in the very when come there for the purpose of giving them a bad name. This was not in the room where the bed-bugs were picked off the wall with the tooth-pick.

They say next, that the horses were kept before there was any move toward the building of the new house. I must say to them that I have had the two horses since the middle of April last, and the first move for the new building was in October, 1869. They are certainly at a great loss for something to complain of, as preparations for work must be made before the work commences. It was about the time the horse-doctor was attending the black horse for what he pronounced to be cramp in the himb. tooth-pick.

As to the butter they speak of, they say per-haps one or two of the old and delicate get butter. As near as I can come at it, there are eighteen of that class who get butter every meal; this I am willing to be qualified to, which I think they would not be willing to be, and all the rest of the inmates of the house are and have been furnished with butter twice are, and have been furnished with butter twice are, and have been furnished with butter twice in the week, regularly.

They say the person alluded to, as taking dinner at the poor-house, was a lady from the West, and an acquaintance of the steward's wife, who made a friendly call, but he forgot to tell that his own lady and a son-in-law from the West helped to make up the party, and that the dinner was spoke for a week before the time. Does this look like a friendly call of an acquaintance? And as to the old acquaintance, my wife says she never saw the lady until the visitor introduced her; and as to the lost of friends in the West end of the county, I have only to say my parents and my wife's parents and friends live there, and if any of them call to see me, I think it my privilege to entertain them as I would in my own house, because the steward's house is my home; but I never allow my friends to bespeak a dinbut I never allow my friends to bespeak a din-ner before hand, as the visitor did. This would be making the county-house a place of public resort. There are a great many persons who make friendly calls, and after being treated as well as we knew how, are then ready to spread some evil report.

well as we knew how, are then ready to spread some evil report.

They also assert that they had been watched and followed by me into the poor-house to prevent them from getting any information from the paupers, and on one occasion a little girl was sent with them, but they forgot to say that they had ordered the little girl back. They ought to give the whole story; and did not two of the visitors order me out of the house, saying that their intention was to make a thorough examination, and after doing so, they came the directors' room, and reported to the directors, in my presence, that every thing was right—this was meeting of the directors. directors, in my presence, that every thing was right—this was a meeting of the directors ten days or two weeks before the reading of the report to the court.

The last time they came to visit, they went through the house unknown to any of us, and spent fully one hour on the premises without any person from the steward's house attempting to follow them, or notice them.

They ask, "why did not the directors answer them instead of the steward?" I say the steward is the particular one assailed. He is the one at which the darts are aimed and he has a right to defend himself from their assaults and calumny. It is evident from the tone of the report that they came to the poor house the last time with the intention of making an evil report and also their answer shows a malignant design and an envious esition towards me. They say they don't intend to follow me any further. They can do as they please about that but I am ready to meet them at any time they wish, and can satisfy them of all that I have said, and it is in justification of myself and wife, after being assailled as I have been that I speak in my ISAAC B. TROSTLE. own defense.
