FARM AND HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

We invite communications from all persons who are interested in matters properly belonging to this department.

Paper in the Household.

WRITER in Hearth and Home A says: I do not propose to speak of the many useful and wonderful articles that are manufactured from paper, but merely of the valuable use to which it can be put by the housekeeper. Few housekeeper have time to black their stoves every day, or even every week. Many wash them in either eleer water or dish water. This in either clear water or dish water. This keeps them clean, but they look very brown. After a stove has been once thoroughly blacked, it can be kept looking perfectly well for a long time by rubbing | Dobbins' Electric Soap, it with paper every morning,

If I occasionally find a drop of gravy or fruit-juice that the paper will not take off, I rub it with a wet cloth, but do not put on water enough to take off the blacking. I find that rubbing with paper is a much nicer way of keeping the outside of Try it once, and use it ever afterward. Every my tea-kettle coffee-pot and tea pot Grocer Sells It. Every Family Uses It. my tea-kettle, coffee-pot, and tea pot bright and clean, than the old way of washing them in subs. (The inside of the coffe and tea-pots should be rinsed in clear water, and never in dish water.)

Rubbing with dry paper is also the best way of polishing knives, spoons and tinware, after scouring. This saves wet-ing the knife handles. If a little flour be held on the paper in rubbing tinware and spoons, they shine like new silver .--For polishing windows, mirrors, lamp chimneys, etc., I always use paper in preference to a dry cloth.

Preserves and pickles keep much better if brown paper, instead of a cloth, is tied over the jar. Canned fruit is not so apt to mold if a piece of writing paper cut to fit the can, is laid directly on top of

In cold than we say.

Don't be put off with any cheap common soap. Try it, and see how much BETTER it is weather I have often placed newspapers between my bed-quilt, knowing that two thicknesses of paper are as warm as a quilt. If it is necessary to step upon a chair, always lay a paper on it; this saves rubbing the varnish off. Children easily learn the habit of doing so.

Seasonable Hints About Swine.

It is said that hogs which have been marketed during the recent packing season were of better quality than those of any former season. Farmers are beginning to pay more attention to the feeding and management of swine, but there is still room for improvements in the selection of the most improved breeding animals, the construction of pens and the preparation of food. Sufficient attention is not paid to the wants of the animals in summer; they are in many places left to depend entirely on clover or grass, get no grain and have no defense from the heat or sun, or from rain. When a hog is roaming at large, he is his own physician, and selects such plants, etc., as are remedies for his diseases. Swine are particularly fond of plants which contain a large proportion of sulphur. Common mustard, or a few plants of wild mustard, will supply this. Radishes and the top rind of the rutabaga contain sulphur and may be used with good effect. The peculiar smell of horse-radish arises from it you want to enjoy life and drive away dall the sulphurous volatile oil in it. When hogs are shut up in a yard or pen, they should be supplied with preventives of the diseases to which they are subject. A mixture of earth and chalk should always be within reach. Coal ashes or powdered charcoal are essential. Salt should be given daily in small quantities. A few grains of nitre are beneficial in warm weather. Sulphur in some shape should always be available. Perfect cleanliness should be observed, and regularity in feeding, etc. Now that cheese factories are becoming so general, it is important for farmers to know that whey and barley meal make excellent fattening food for swine.

Cure for Poison.

Is there, asks a correspondent an easy and simple cure for the poison of oak or of ivy, when a person is really poisoned with it? What is the best cure for poison of bees and spiders? I. A standing antidote for poison by dew, poison by oak, ivy, &c., is to take a handful of quick-line discourse in materials. lime, dissolve in water, let it stand in water half an hour, then paint the parts with it. Three or four applications will never fail to cure the most aggravated cases. II. Poison from bees, hornets, spider bites, &c., is instantly arrested by the application of equal parts of common sait and bicarbonate of soda, well rubbed in on the place bitten or stung.

To remove ink spots, put the arti-cle stained over a warm flat-iron, stretch it well, then squeeze a few drops of lemon juice on it, and the spot will disappear at once. Wash immediately in cold water.

CONSUMPTION. ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. R. SCHERGE, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of care. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless stumber into which, had they calmy adopted they calmy adopted they calmy adopted the medicines in the stumber into which, had they calmy adopted the medicines they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailure. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The best-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the maidy has smaller. Wo directs of the cases of consumption originate in dyspessia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial labes "aympathize" with the stonding. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with fall its distressing symptoms of spond to the morbificaction of the liver. Herethen comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of CONUNETED.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Peolophillum Peliatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but, unlike calomel, they "LEAVE NO STING BEHIND." The work of care is now beginning. The villated and mucous deposits in the howels and in the alimentary canal are efected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It aromes from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last.

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Sea-weed Toulc, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortores. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatuience, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in. Now comes he greatest Blood Pirifler ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schoeck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its effects of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lot in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne limit it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regalined vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure can not be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are hadly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good effectively only do with the patients must keep in good spirits—be determined as presents in the factors of the control of the control of the patients of th

I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh "I was weighted shortly after my recovery." added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their Office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted on the condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted on the condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines need no other accompanients than the ample instructions that accompany them: First create appetite, Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night-awent is abated. In a short time both of these morthd symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families.
