So thoroughly have they become imbued with the idea that the Judge must come from north of the Blue Mountains that even though one were to come from the dead and preach the truth to them, he would not be believed.

When I arrived at his house, I was met by Mrs. McCracken, the mother-in-law of McGrannahan, who is now on a visit to her children.

When I had briefly stated the object of my visit, she exclaimed, "Obadiah, thou art a man of sin, verily thou art still in the bonds of iniquity. Why dost thou still cleave to the flesh pots of Egypt?"

Heavenly Father, I beseech thee to have mercy on this poor sinner, and to send down Thy Holy Spirit to enlighten his mind, and to give him the grace to forsake his iniquities, and to follow after Thee, O God, our Father, in Heaven.
