THE AMERICAN WASHER!

PRICE, $5.50! THE AMERICAN WASHER SAVES MONEY, TIME, AND DRUGGERY.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no Longer Bred, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing, Sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours' practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleaning efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once become the fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and long running advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price, another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper, and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE. By J. E. SCHENCK, M. D.

THE Maudrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts - the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but, unlike calomel, "LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD. The sea-weed Tonic and Maudrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed.

HUMOROUS ITEMS.

A Western editor reports money "close, but not close enough to be reached."

It looks funny to see a young lady with both hands in soft dough and a mosquito on the end of her nose.

Richmond has a society called "The Daughters of the Golden Candlestick." They are probably snuffers.

"I presume you won't charge any thing for just re-membering me?" said a one-legged sailor to a wooden-leg manufacturer.

One of our exchanges praises an egg, which it says "was laid on our table by the Rev. Mr. Smith." Mr. Smith seems to be a lay-man as well as a minister.

Atlanta young ladies lay wagers with their sweethearts thus: If her candidate for Mayor wins, she is to kiss sweetheart, but if sweetheart's candidate wins he is to kiss her.

A married gentleman present at a spirit rapping circle, being informed that the power depended wholly on the will, begged that his wife might try it as he had never seen anything resist her will.

"Mister, give me back my money. Them fire-crackers came all to pieces the first time I used 'em." "Didn't they go off, my lad?" "Yes'm." "Well, let's see you do the same-bite him, Jowler!" Exit, boy in haste.

In one county in Kansas alone there are one hundred and twenty-one acres of castor beans under cultivation, and Greeley thinks it needs no mathematicians to show that the crop will supply castors to every bedstead in the United States.

"See here," said a landlord to a tipsy customer who wanted a pint of whisky, "you can't have any more whisky here. I've told you so twice, in plain English. Will you have it now in Latin or Greek?" "No, thank'e, sir; I want it in a bottle."

Double sentiment—John Q. Smith sends the following pithy toast for the next celebration of the Fourth of July, but it is too good to be laid over: "The two declarations—the Declaration of Independence, whereby we gained our liberty, and the Declaration of Love, whereby we lose it."

The author of "My Summer in a Garden," remarks that "Nothing shows one who his friends are, like prosperity and ripe fruit. I had a good friend in the country, whom I almost never visited except in cherry time—"By their fruits you shall know them."

A minister asked a little boy who had been converted, "Does the devil tell you that you are a Christian?" "Yes, sometimes." "Well, what do you say to him?" "I tell him," replied the boy, with something of Luther's spirit, "that whether I am a Christian or not it is none of his business."

"I don't miss my church as much as you suppose," said a lady to her minister, who had called upon her during her illness, "for I make Betsy sit at the window as soon as the bell begins to chime, and tell me who are going to church, and whether they have anything new."

"What is the matter with you?" inquired a judge who called to see a sick neighbor. "Vell, I don't know chudge—dey say it ish de cout; but vy should I have de cout? I lives blain; I don't eat too much, nor drink too much. "Perhaps," suggested the judge, "it is hereditary?" "I guess it is hereditary; I remember mine wife's uncle had it."

"As my wife at the window one day, stood watching a man with a monkey, A cart came along with 'a broth of a boy,' Who was driving a stout little donkey, To my wife I then spoke, by way of a joke, 'There's a relation of yours in that carriage,' To which she replied, as the donkey she spied, "Ab, yes—a relation by marriage."

At a festival, a pretty Miss waited upon an editor with a pie plate of antique manufacture, in the center of which he espied the following very interesting couplet: "One sweet kiss Is the price of this."

This excited his feelings, and as soon as an opportunity presented itself, he motioned the young lady to his side, and pointing his knife to the line said "Your pay is ready whenever you present your bill."

An Irishman named William, and one Samuel a Jew, were partners in the ownership and management of a large and valuable rancho, not many miles from Virginia City. Samuel was upbraiding his Irish partner for his queer management of some particular business. William could endure it no longer, and retorted: "Now, Sam, you had better dry up about my Irish blunders, for you Jews have nothing to brag of; there you were forty years bringing your folks through the wilderness, when any smart Yankee would have done it in four days." Sam subsided, and peace was restored.
