CARSON'S STELLAR OIL. This is not the lowest priced, but being much the best in the end by far the cheapest.

THE alarming increase in the number of frightful accidents, resulting in terrible deaths and the destruction of valuable property, caused by the indiscriminate use of oils, known under the name of petroleum, prompts us to call your special attention to an article which will, wherever USED, remove the CAUSE of such accidents.

Carson's Stellar Oil FOR ILLUMINATING PURPOSES.

The proprietor of this Oil has for several years felt the necessity of providing for, and presenting to the public, as a substitute for the dangerous compounds which are sent broadcast over the country, an oil that is SAFE and BRILLIANT, and entirely reliable.

1ST, Because it is safe beyond a question. The primary purpose in the preparation of STELLAR OIL has been to make it PERFECTLY SAFE, thus insuring the lives and property of those who use it.

2D, Because it is the most BRILLIANT liquid illuminator now known.

3D, Because it is more economical. In the long run, than any of the dangerous oils and fluids now in too common use.

4TH, Because it is intensely BRILLIANT, and therefore economical, giving the greatest possible light at the least expenditure to the consumer. Its present standard of SAFETY AND BRILLIANCY will always be maintained.

HUMOROUS ITEMS.

How a Scotchman Lied.

A Scotchman and Irishman, previous to their first battle, agreed that if one was wounded the other was to help his fellow. It so happened that a bullet wounded the poor Scotchman in the thigh, so he called out to his Irish friend for help.

A surgeon, noticing the Irishman carrying his headless burden, asked him where he was going with it. "Why, shure, where should I be going but to the doctor, to have him doctored?" replied Paddy.

"But my friend do you not see that he has had his head knocked off by a shot?" "Oh bedad, so he has!" cried Paddy, when he had lowered the corpse of his friend; "why what a liar the fellow must be! He told me it was only a bullet wound in his leg!"

One dark night, not long ago, a burglar entered a private residence in a country town. On ascending one flight of stairs he observed a light in a chamber and while deliberating what to do, a large woman suddenly descended upon him, seized him by the throat, pushed him down through the hall and forced him into the street before he had time to think.

"Heroic Repulse of a Burglar by a Woman," was the way in which the story appeared in the newspapers the next day. But when friends called and congratulated her upon her courage, she exclaimed—"Good gracious, I didn't know it was a burglar. If I had I should have been frightened to death. I thought it was my husband come home drunk again, and I was determined he shouldn't stay in the house in that condition."

A good story is told of an engineer who runs a locomotive on the western division of the Erie Railway. The track runs through an Indian reservation in Catawagus county. One day a squaw holding a papoose in her arms, was standing on the depot steps at Salamanca. As the engineer was drawing his train up to the station, observing her, he called.

"Hello! have you got a little Injun there?" "No," said she, "its half Injun and the other half Injuner!" When Eve brought woe to all mankind, Old Adam called her wo-man, And when she woo'ed with love so kind, He then pronounced her woo-man. But now with folly, dress and pride, Their husbands' pockets trimming, The ladies are so full of whims The People call them whim-men!

Artemus Ward, was on a slow California train, and he went to the conductor and suggested that the cow ketcher was on the wrong end of the train; for, said he, "You will never overtake a cow, you know, but if you'd put it on the other end, it might be useful, for now there's nothin' on earth to hinder a cow from walkin' right in and bitin' the folks!"

"The penalty for walking on a railroad track in England is ten pounds," said one while discussing the numerous fatal accidents on a railroad. "Pooh!" replied Uncle Jerry, "is that all? The penalty in this country is death."

Sally Ann, I don't see how they send letters on them 'ere telegraph wires without tearin' 'em all to flinders." "Why, Jake, you goose, they don't send the paper, but send the writin' in a fluid state."

An impertinent fellow asked a gentleman at public gathering why he had shaved off his side whiskers, and was answered: "That to meet some men he required more check."

A Milesian born on the last day of the year felicitated himself on the narrow escape of not being born at all. "Be jabbers," said he, "and if it had not been till the next day what would have become of me?"

A reader writes to the Baltimore Sun "that he takes no stock in the "new women's club." He says the "old woman's club" is enough for him, and frequently almost too much."

"I wonder this child don't go to sleep," said an anxious mother to a female friend. "Well I don't," replied the lady. "Its face is so dirty that it can't shut its eyes."

If you like practical joking, just introduce two strangers, previously informing each that the other is deaf; but I wouldn't stand around.

Some one describes a philanthropist as a man who loves all mankind and neglects his own family.
