CARSON'S STELLAR OIL. This is not the lowest priced, but being much the best is in the end by far the cheapest. Do not fail to give it a trial, and you will use no other. THE alarming increase in the number of frightful accidents resulting in terrible deaths and the destruction of valuable property, caused by the indiscriminate use of oils, known under the name of petroleum, prompts us to call your special attention to an article which will, wherever USED, remove the CAUSE of such accidents. We allude to Carson's Stellar Oil.

HUMOROUS.

The Puzzled Dutchman. I'm a broken-hearted Deutscher Vot's villed mit crief and shame; I dells you what der drouble ish—I doesn't know my name. You dinks dis very funny, eh! Ven you der story hear, You vill not vunder den so mooch, It vas so schtraunge and queer. Mein moder had two little twins, Dey was me and mein broder, Ve lookt so mooch alike, No von knew vich vrom toder, Von of der boys was "Yaveup," Und "Hans" dear oder's name, But den it make no different Ve both got called der same. Vell! von of us got tead— Yaw, Mynheer, dat leh so: But vedder Hans or Yaveup, Mine moder she don't know. Und so I am in droubles, I gan't got droo mein head Veldter Pui-Han's vote's living, Or Yaveup sot ish tead!

A good story is told of a Yankee and a certain limb of the law, of whom he sought advice in some difficulty. The Yankee laid down his $5 on the table and proposed his question. The lawyer taking down the Revised Statutes, let drop a remark upon the cheapness of the book, saying, "I gave but two dollars and fifty cents for this large book!" "And does it contain the law applicable to my case?" inquired the Yankee. "Certainly," said the unsuspecting lawyer; "I'll find it presently." "On the whole," said the Yankee coolly pocketing the bank note he had laid out: "On the whole sir, I guess you needn't take the trouble; it will be cheaper for me to buy the book, and hunt it myself."

At a recent trial the counsel for the prosecution, after severely cross-examining a witness, suddenly put on a look of severity and exclaimed "Now, sir, was not an effort made to induce you to tell a different story?" "A different story from what I have told, do you mean?" "That's what I mean." "Yes, sir; several persons have tried to get me to tell a different story from what I have told, but they couldn't." "Now, sir, upon your oath, I wish to know who those persons are." "Well, you've tried about as hard as any of them."

A storekeeper at Quincy, Ill., possessing a pup that habitually upset the paint cans in the rear of the store, rubbed the dog's nose in the spilled paint as a reminder that he must not do so again. Last week the animal spilled the paint, and observing that his master was engaged in waiting on a customer, the docile pup rubbed his own nose in the mixture and ran howling out the back way.

On one of our hottest days a man went into a photograph-saloon to get some pictures taken. "How long will I have to wait?" he at length inquired. "Only a minute, while we prepare the plate," replied the operator. "Plate!" ejaculated the would-be sitter, wiping the perspiration from his face; "if I keep on sweating like this, no plate will hold me; you'll have to take me in a soup-bowl."

An old preacher once took for his text: "Adam, where art thou?" and divided his subject into three parts:— 1st. All men are somewhere. 2d. Some men are where they ought not to be. 3d. Unless they take care, they will very soon find themselves where they would much rather not be.

There is a 4th class, we think. It is those who get behind in the race, and are generally said to be nowhere.

A Connecticut Democrat sent his son to New York to complete his education. After a short time his son wrote to his father that he was studying "Horace." On learning this, the paternal parent replied, "Come home; I don't want Greeley to make a Republican out of my son."

Homer is supposed to have been the first to notice the Grecian bend in the following lines from the tenth book of the Iliad:—"Lo, here the wretched Agamemnon stands, The unhappy general of the Grecian bands, Whom Jove decrees with daily cares to bend."

Smith and Jones were at the menagerie and the conversation turned on Darwin's theory. "Look at the monkey," said Smith; "Think of its being an undeveloped human!" "Human!" said Jones, contemptuously, "it's no more human than I am."

A candidate for medical honors, having thrown himself into a fever from his incapacity to answer the questions, was asked, "How would you sweat a person for the rheumatism?" "I would send him here to be examined."

"A basket of champagne!" excitedly exclaimed a country dame, "Why, I declare, now! I always thought champagne was watery stuff, like; I never knowed you could carry it in a basket."
