CARSON'S STELLAR OIL.
This is not the lowest priced, but being much the best in the end by far the cheapest. Do not fail to give it a trial, and you will use no other.
THE alarming increase in the number of frightful accidents, resulting in terrible deaths and the destruction of valuable property, caused by the indiscriminate use of oils, known under the name of petroleum, prompts us to call your special attention to an article which will, wherever USED, remove the CAUSE of such accidents.—We allude to

FOR
ILLUMINATING PURPOSES.
The proprietor of this Oil has for several years felt the necessity of providing for, and presenting to the public, as a substitute for the dangerous compounds which are sent broadcast over the country, an oil that is SAFE and BRILLIANT, and entirely reliable. After a long series of laborious and costly experiments, he has succeeded in providing, and now offers to the public, such a substitute in "CARSON'S STELLAR OIL." It should be used by every family.—
1ST, Because it is safe beyond a question. The primary purpose in the preparation of STELLAR OIL has been to make it PERFECTLY SAFE, thus insuring the lives and property of those who use it.
2D, Because it is the most BRILLIANT liquid illuminator now known.
3D, Because it is more economical, in the long run, than any of the dangerous oils and fluids now in too common use.
TH, Because it is intensely BRILLIANT, and therefore economical, giving the greatest possible light at the least expenditure to the consumer. Its present standard of SAFETY AND BRILLIANCY will always be maintained,—for upon this the proprietor depends for sustaining the high reputation the STELLAR OIL now enjoys.
To prevent the adulteration of this with the explosive compounds now known under the name of kerosene, &c., &c., it is put up for family use in Five Gallon cans, each can being sealed, and stamped with the trade-mark of the proprietor; it cannot be tampered with between the manufacturer and consumer. None is genuine without the TRADE-MARK.
STELLAR OIL is sold only by weight, each can containing five gallons of six and a half pounds each, thus securing to every purchaser full measure. It is the duty and interest of all dealers and consumers of illuminating oil to use the STELLAR OIL only, because it alone is known to be safe and reliable.
All orders should be addressed to

HUMOROUS.

Get into Your Hole.
During the "late unpleasantness," there was a cool, unquenchable Yankee named Gunn, who ran a stage in Western Virginia over a rout much infested by bushwackers. We frequently told Gunn that he would some day get mashed up and gobbled, and he had better give up his job, but all to no purpose, for he kept on driving stage and pocketing the greenbacks. So three of us concluded we would give him a good scare that he would accept as a warning. In coming from his stables late at night, he always took a short cut across an old burying-ground. To this point we repaired. One of our number wrapped in a sheet, lay down stark and stiff on one of the newly-made graves, while the others dodged behind tombstones, and impatiently awaited Gunn's arrival; soon he came along, when all at once he was confronted by the counterfeiter's spectre. Then he stood a few moments thrashing, bawling out at the same time, "Consume your old picture, what you doin' out here this time of night? Get into your hole." We concluded to let Gunn alone after that.

One Ahead.
Lawyers who badger witnesses upon the stand often get sharply cut, and among the numerous stories told at the expense of the members at the bar, there is none better than one that occurred at the session of a court recently held in a Western city. A prominent lawyer had an old farmer on the stand whom he undertook to browbeat, and for an hour labored hard to confuse and frighten him by his merciless style of cross-questioning. The lawyer has a large bald head that by a stretch of imagination might be thought to resemble a pumpkin, and wore a huge standing shirt collar. During his laborious badgering of the old farmer one side of the collar wilted and lay down on the lawyer's coat. As the witness was released, he stepped toward his tormentor and said, loud enough for the court and jury to hear: "See here Squire, if you dont put up your side boards you'll loose that pumpkin off the top of your load." Smiles were audible about that time, while it was generally thought the witness was "one ahead."

The following anecdote is told of Father Allen, the first pastor of the church in Wolf-borough:
One day, while writing a sermon, he was called out of his study, on some business with a neighbor. A young man, with a large amount of fun and mischief in his head, was living with the pastor. He went into the study and noticed a sermon lying on the desk, which Mr. Allen was writing for the coming Sabbath. Curiosity led him to read the page not quite finished. The last sentence Mr. Allen had left quite incomplete. It read as follows: "The wicked flourish like a green bay—" The boy added "horse." When Mr. Allen returned to the study he did not correct the boy's new interpretation, but from that point went on and finished the sermon. On the next Sabbath the congregation were startled with something new, if not true. The good pastor, reading his sermon, said, "The wicked flourish like a green bay horse. The wicked flourish like a green bay horse." The preacher paused, and then said with emphasis, "Horse! Yes, my brethren, like a green bay horse!" The scene which followed is described as one of uncontrollable merriment on the part of the congregation.

"Is Miss Blinking at home?" asked Mr. Sanders of the Irish girl who answered the ring at the door.
"Yes, I b'love she is, sir."
"Is she engaged?"
"An' is it engaged you say? Faith, an' I can't tell ye, sir; but she kissed Mr. Vincent last evening as if she had not seen the like uv him, an' it's engaged I b'love they are, sir."

"A Raw Irishman, just over, went into a restaurant, and was asked by the waiter what he would have? "Why, wittles to ate, ave coorse," was the reply. A plate of hash was placed before him, "Fot's that?" demanded Mickey "That's wittles," was the answer. Mickey eyed the compound suspiciously for some time, and finally exclaimed "Be jabers, the man that chew'd that can ate it!"
A young lady upon one occasion requested her lover that he should define love. "Well, Sall," said he, "it is to me, an inexpressibility and an outward all-over-ness."
"Children," said a considerate matron to her assembled progeny, "children, you may have everything you want, but you musn't want anything you can't have."
The press, pulpit and petticoat—the three ruling powers of the world. The first spreads knowledge, the second spreads morals, and the last spreads—considerably.
Bill—"Good-morning, Jack. Got anything new?" Jack—"Yes. Got the new-ralgia terribly."
