CARSON'S STELLAR OIL. This is not the lowest priced, but being much the best in the end by far the cheapest. Do not fail to give it a trial, and you will use no other. THE alarming increase in the number of frightful accidents, resulting in terrible deaths and the destruction of valuable property, caused by the indiscriminate use of oils, known under the name of petroleum, prompts us to call your special attention to an article which will, wherever USED, remove the CAUSE of such accidents. We allude to Carson's Stellar Oil.

FOR ILLUMINATING PURPOSES. The proprietor of this Oil has for several years felt the necessity of providing for, and presenting to the public, as a substitute for the dangerous compounds which are sent broadcast over the country, an oil that is SAFE and BRILLIANT, and entirely reliable. After a long series of laborious and costly experiments, he has succeeded in providing, and now offers to the public, such a substitute in "CARSON'S STELLAR OIL." It should be used by every family. 1ST, Because it is safe beyond a question. The primary purpose in the preparation of STELLAR OIL has been to make it PERFECTLY SAFE, thus insuring the lives and property of those who use it. 2D, Because it is the most BRILLIANT liquid illuminator now known. 3D, Because it is more economical, in the long run, than any of the dangerous oils and fluids now in too common use. 4TH, Because it is intensely BRILLIANT, and therefore economical, giving the greatest possible light at the least expenditure to the consumer. Its present standard of SAFETY AND BRILLIANCY will always be maintained, - for upon this the proprietor depends for sustaining the high reputation the STELLAR OIL now enjoys. To prevent the adulteration of this with the explosive compounds now known under the name of kerosene, &c., &c., it is put up for family use in Five Gallon cans, each can being sealed, and stamped with the trade-mark of the proprietor; it cannot be tampered with between the manufacturer and consumer. None is genuine without the TRADE-MARK. STELLAR OIL is sold only by weight, each can containing five gallons of oil and a half pound each, thus securing to every purchaser full measure. It is the duty and interest of all dealers and consumers of illuminating oil to use the STELLAR OIL only, because it alone is known to be safe and reliable. 25. All orders should be addressed to JARDEN & CO., WHOLESALE AGENTS, 126 South Front Street, Philadelphia. 1 5 1 y

VALUABLE Farm at Private Sale. THE undersigned offers at private sale, a farm in Rydetownship, Ferry county, Pa., containing 57 ACRES. The land is the best in the neighborhood, with running water in every field, is under good fence, and has thereon erected a new Frame Dwelling House. There is also a thrifty Young ORCHARD on the place. This land lies along two public roads - the Fishing Creek road and the Lantz's Gap road; the last named divides the land in two parts - 30 1/2 on the one side and 26 1/2 on the other; on the 30 1/2 acre piece is a New Frame Dwelling House, and on the other a FRAME 22 x 28, erected for a house with a never failing Spring of water. This land will be sold as a whole, or in two Tracts, to suit purchasers. 25. Persons desiring to purchase a farm will do well to examine this one before investing elsewhere, as it lies within four miles of Marysville, and the Pennsylvania Railroad - one of the best markets in the country. 25. Further information can be had by addressing Dr. JOHN URAN, Corner & Road, Somerset County, Pa. ALL KINDS OF JOB PRINTING Neatly executed at the Bloomfield Times Steam Job Office.

HUMOROUS.

A Missouri Pioneer. When R. S. Stevens, General Manager of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, was pushing that great enterprise southward at the rate of three miles a day, he came across a veteran Missouri farmer, who for fifty years had lived on his frontier plantation undisturbed, even by wars, rumors of wars, pestilence and famine, so far from disease and telegraphs was he. One night the advance men came upon his old farm-house, when the following dialogue ensued: "Then you're going to build a railroad, are ye?" "Yes." "Whar am it comin' from, and whar am it gwine to go?" "From Sedalia, in Missouri, down through Missouri, Kansas, the Indian Territory, and so on through Texas to the city of Mexico." "And you's gwine to run it right through my plantation?" "Yes." "Do you hear that, old woman? We've got to move?" "Not necessarily. All we want is the right of way." "Wall-you can have that are, but who'd a' thought a railroad would ever hit us?" "You have a good farm here?" "Yes-fair to middling." "How many acres?" "About four thousand." "Not many improvements?" "No-it takes me so long to look after the cattle I can't improve much." "Have you a well on the premises?" "Yes-a clippin' good one; only it leaks a little." "You see we dug down forty feet when we come to a rock, but no water. Then I walled it up, and we hant the water from the river, about forty barrels a day, and fill into it. We don't use more'n five barrels a day; all the rest leaks out somehow. I was gwine to dig another well next year, but 'praps I can hire the water hauled on the cars cheaper than to dig a well!" For thirteen years this old planter had hauled forty barrels of water a day to empty into that rock-bottomed hole, rather than dig a new well or bring water in a pipe from a spring only a mile away. When Northern workers of enterprise come to fill up that country and set things to humming how the old fossils will stare, and wonder why they never thought of such things before!

Anecdote of Wigfall. A Texas correspondent sends the following: Mr. Louis T. Wigfall, one of the leading secessionists of the South, felt, after Lee's surrender somewhat embarrassed as to his corporeal safety in a land then in the possession of his enemies. He left Richmond in disguise, and traveled on mule back, alone for Texas. Dick Taylor had also surrendered, and all the ferries and crossings were in the hands of the Federal forces. Wigfall could pursue no other course but to risk himself to be put across the Mississippi by a detachment of Union soldiers. He was well disguised. Observing that no allusion was made to himself, and wishing to know if possible, how the wind blew, he began a general tirade against the leading Confederates, winding up by inquiring what would be done with the scamp Wigfall if they should catch him. The soldiers replied, they supposed they would hang him. "Yes they would do exactly right, and I would pull at one end of the rope!" replied Wigfall, mounting his mule and trotting off westward. Non-Committal. Old Lady-"Can you tell me, my good man, where I can find Mr. Jones?" Pat-"Sure ma'am I expect it would be at his house you would find him." Lady-"Does he live any where in this street?" Pat-"Sure, no indade; it's not for the likes of his to be livin' in the street at all." Lady-"You stupid fellow, I mean what number does his family stop at?" Pat-"Now, ma'am, you have me; he has six boys and four girls already, but whether he means to stop at the number" Lady-"Oh, you blockhead!" Exit old lady in a tremor of indignation. An Irish jockey once selling an old nag to a gentleman, frequently observed with emphatic earnestness that he was an "honest horse. After the purchase the gentleman asked what he meant by an "honest" horse? "Why, sir," replied the seller, "whenever I rode him he threatened to throw me, and he certainly never deceived me." They have a new way of getting up surprise parties in certain parts of Illinois. A resident receives an anonymous letter stating that a surprise party will be with him on a certain evening. He prepares for it. Nobody comes, and the surprise of the party is complete. "Sir, you are a fool!" "Do you call me a fool, sir?" "Yes, sir!" "You do, sir?" "Yes, sir!" I would call any man a fool who behaves as you do." "Oh you call any man a fool. Then I cannot consider it personal. I wish you good morning, sir."
